PROOF

Must Be Offered By Rathbun Himself

TO CONVINCE RELATIVES

Wife Contends Corpse Is Her Husband's.

CORONER TAKES UP THE CASE.

WILL HOLD AUTOPSY TO LEARN CAUSE OF DEATH.

NO EVIDENCE OF POISON.

Rathbun Makes Clean Breast, But Denies That He Gave Goodman Laudanum.

SAYS HE DIED TOO SOON.

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—The wife and relatives of Newell C. Rathbun claim positively that the body now here is that of Rathbun. The Metropolitan Insurance Company, which is involved for $4,000 of insurance, claims it is not the body of Rathbun. And because of these counter claims, and because of a certificate of death that Newell C. Rathbun died of natural causes, as certified by the Deputy Coroner of Clark county and the health officer of Jeffersonville, Ind., a demand has been made that the Newell C. Rathbun be brought here to prove that he is not the man who lies dead in an undertaker's room here. The relatives refuse to believe that Rathbun is under arrest in Louisville.

One of the attorneys representing Rathbun's relatives makes the following statement:

"The family of Mr. McKown and Mrs. Rathbun only want to be satisfied beyond a doubt that Rathbun is alive and that this body they have here is not the body of Rathbun. So much doubt has been reflected on the case by the insurance company and their detectives that no one can say at this time positively what the outcome will be. The family of McKown and Mrs. Rathbun, and all parties interested, have offered to bear the expense of bringing the person arrested in Louisville, and who is said to be Rathbun and is said to have made a confession, to Little Rock if the person proves not to be Rathbun; otherwise the insurance company is to bear the expense. This is the offer which has been made to the agent of the insurance company. Nothing less than indubitable proof that the man arrested in Louisville is Newell C. Rathbun will settle all the doubt raised in this case."

* * *

Coroner Wants Rathbun.

The authorities here have announced that they will have the supposed Newell C. Rathbun, now in the Louisville jail, brought here to testify in the inquest over the corpse sent here as the body of Rathbun. Coroner J. M. Young said to-day:

"Mayor Duley requested me to take the body in charge and investigate the death, as it is surrounded with a great deal of mystery. I acted upon his suggestion, impaneled a jury and viewed the remains, which I caused afterward to be removed to an undertaking establishment for further examination. This done, I am now in a position to summon as a witness any one who may be able to throw any light upon the cause of death or the identity of this man. I will have the man arrested in Louisville yesterday who claims to be Sergt. Rathbun, brought here at once, also all other parties whose testimony may be important in clearing up the mystery. I shall have Coroner Coots, of Jeffersonville, Ind., furnish me a copy of his inquisition papers for comparison. It is also understood that the Sheriff of the county where the corpse was found will arrive late to-night. There will be enough acquaintances of Rathbun to identify him positively when he is brought back."

Family Contends It Is Rathbun.

The wife and family and friends of Rathbun still contend that it is certainly the dead body of Rathbun, while as many more are equally positive that it is not. His wife is prostrated, and it is said by her physician that her condition is precarious, and all admittance to newspaper men is prohibited.

* * *

No Autopsy Was Held.

Newspaper reports have stated that Coroner F. M. Coots, of Jeffersonville, stated that he had examined the stomach of the dead man, and found traces enough of laudanum to kill two men. This is a mistake, for the examination of the body to-day proved conclusively that no autopsy had been held upon it and also that there were no signs of violence. If murder was committed it must have been by poison, but the body having been embalmed makes it utterly impossible to determine whether other poison had been administered before death or not.

* * *

Certificate of Natural Death.

As a further evidence of the fact that no autopsy was held in Jeffersonville, the death certificate accompanying the body was signed by Deputy Coroner F. M. Coots and Health Officer W. H. Sheets, and stated that death was caused by regurgitation (heart disease).

* * *

Twin Brother Story.

Rathbun claimed to have a twin brother, and it is possible the corpse may be that brother. The trunk of his wife was broken into by officers and a picture found taken in Petoskey, Mich. It was that of six young women and a young man dressed in woman's apparel. All those who have seen this picture declare that the corpse here resembles that of the man in this picture. Though dead for nearly a week, the body is in splendid state of preservation and will be kept there until Rathbun is brought here from Louisville, or until it is sent back to Jeffersonville.

* * *

Body May Be Attached.

Two well-known citizens of Little Rock who raised the money at the Citizens' Bank to defray the expenses of bringing the body to Little Rock are threatening to attach the body unless the authorities in Jeffersonville reimburse them. They assisted Mrs. Rathbun in raising $60 for that purpose.

* * *

How Descriptions Tally.

Rathbun was born in Oswego, N. Y., twenty-eight years ago. He was a printer, and when twenty-three years old, on September 16, 1896, enlisted in Company D, Nineteenth regulars, United States infantry, for three years. He was discharged June 4, 1899, with the recommendation that his services had been honest and faithful. He afterward re-enlisted, and if not dead he is now a deserter. He was five feet eight and one-half inches tall, sallow complexion, blue eyes and light brown hair, and weighed 140 pounds. This answers the description of the corpse here excepting that without shoes the body only measured five feet seven inches and a half. The face is clean shaven and has the appearance of a man only about twenty-four years old.

Rathbun a "Ladies' Man."

Fully 5,000 people looked at the body to-day, yet none identified it as that of Rathbun. Yet the resemblance is so striking that many believe the verdict of the Coroner's jury to-morrow will be that the corpse is that of Rathbun. He was an exceedingly popular man with the ladies, and his acquaintance with men was so limited that many hesitate to express a positive opinion as to his identity.

* * *

Tattoo Marks and Scars Found.

Dr. G. W. Hudspeth, who made an examination of the body this afternoon, said: "The stomach has not been taken out, and statements that laudanum was found in the stomach could not be true. There is no evidence to show that an autopsy had been held nor are there any evidences of violence on the body. We found tattooed on the right forearm clasped hands with the sun behind them. Found two scars on the back of the left arm just above the wrist, about two and four inches above the wrist; also a small scar on the palm of the hand and small scar on the right knee."

* * *

Movements of Rathbun.

Rathbun was for several months employed in the United States recruiting office in the Whipple building in this city, under Capt. Lindsay. Early in September Capt. Lindsay was ordered to rejoin his command in the Philippines, and at the same time Rathbun was given a commission and ordered to Plattsburg, N. Y., to take charge of the recruiting office there. He left here September 12 for that place. During the latter part of last month he was ordered to return to Little Rock and report here November 1 for recruiting duty.

Monday of last week his wife received a letter telling her of this and stating that he would arrive in Little Rock on the Choctaw train at 5:10 o'clock Thursday morning. That was the last she heard of him until about 6 o'clock Wednesday night, when she received a telegram from the Coroner in Jeffersonville, Ind., stating that a man having in his pockets letters from her had been found dead in bed and asking what disposition should be made of the body. Later she received a telegram from a lawyer in Jeffersonville to the same effect. She wired to have the body sent here. Rathbun married Miss Susie Lundy, of Little Rock August 6 last.

Story of Miss Pryor.

The strongest evidence yet found in Little Rock against Rathbun is the following statement made to your correspondent by Miss Corinne Pryor, a stenographer: "I was acquainted with Newell C. Rathbun. Last spring he made an offer of marriage to me, together with the proposition that he would have his life insured in my favor and that after we were settled at housekeeping he would provide a charred body which would be passed off for his remains; that I could then collect the insurance and we could leave the country and live in ease at some remote point, and that he could later have his life insured again with the same result. I declined Mr. Rathbun's proposition entirely, and henceforth he and I were strangers.

"Being called upon by Mr. Powell to him information that would tend to throw light on the case, I consented to tell what I have related about my experience with Mr. Rathbun, not that I desired any notoriety in the case at all, but felt it my duty to tell what I knew in regard to it."

Miss Pryor viewed the body received Sunday and declared it was not that of Rathbun.

Who Rathbun's Wife Is.

Mrs. Rathbun, up to the date of her marriage, was employed in the binding department of a printing office. She was the daughter of George Lundy, a merchant tailor. She says she knows absolutely nothing about a plot to swindle the insurance company, and that if her husband did anything of the kind he did not take her into his confidence.

* * *

Autopsy To Be Held To-day.

The inquest and autopsy will be held to-morrow. In examining the dead body the legs and feet were found to be in a filthy condition, apparently not having been bathed for some time.

* * *

RATHBUN TALKS FURTHER OF HIS DIABOLICAL PLOT.

Says Now That Blanchard Had No Part In the Scheme—Insists Goodman Must Have Been Victim of Alcoholism.

Newell Charles Rathbun, if this own words are to be believed, now stands alone, the all but confessed murderer of Charles Goodman. The prisoner has eliminated the deserting Corporal Blanchard from his confession, and admitted everything but the giving of the drug which the physicians say killed the tramp, Goodman.

"I was going to do it all right, but I never would have been such a sucker as to have used laudanum. I should have tried chloroform, then set fire to the bed, turned in the alarm myself and help fight the flames. If it had gone through all right up to the chloroform stage it could not have failed. That bum's quick shuffling off busted it. He must have died of alcoholism."

"Now you know you killed that man," insisted Chief Sullivan. "Come, now, Rathbun, tell where you bought the dope. It's the best chance."

Rathbun thought a long time.

"What are the laws of Indiana regarding such a case?" he asked at last.

"Death for murder; two to fourteen years for manslaughter," answered Chief Applegate, of Jeffersonville.

"I guess I won't say anything more," declared Rathburn, after a longer pause.

The latest confession was made in the presence of Capt. Sullivan, of the Louisville detective force; Chief Applegate, of Jeffersonville; Coroner Coots, of Clark county, Ind., and Detectives Donohue and Ross, who, with Capt. Sullivan, worked on the case.

Later in the day Rathbun tried to deny his story, but straightway got hopelessly tangled in a mass of contradictions about Blanchard. To the police he admitted that he and Blanchard were together in Buffalo, but that the deserter stayed in Cleveland, O.

* * *

In Indiana Or Kentucky?

There is one point, however, in which the prisoner is firmly decided. He will not return to Indiana without a requisition.

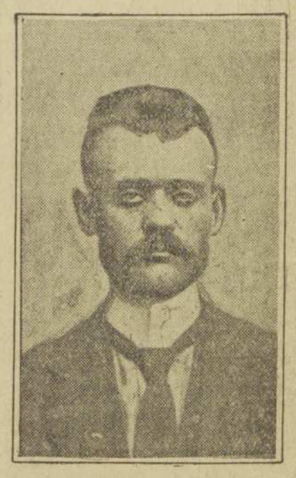

"Maybe the Governor of Kentucky won't surrender me," he said with a shy smile.

Chief Applegate, of Jeffersonville,

TWO PORTRAITS OF NEWELL RATHBUN.

NEW DEAL

Among the Kentucky Pie-Cutters.

BRADLEY FACTION WINS

Craft and Lieberth Given Collectorships.

YERKES IN FOR MORE JOLTS.

STORY THAT HE WILL BE REMOVED AS NATIONAL COMMITTEEMAN.

IRWIN IS ALSO "SPOTTED."

Washington, Nov. 12.—[Special.]—Following the announcement at the conclusion of the conference of the Kentucky Republicans this morning, the President to-day appointed J. A. Craft to be Collector of Internal Revenue of the Fifth Kentucky district, and George W. Lieberth to be Collector of Internal Revenue of the Sixth Kentucky district.

The fight over the Louisville collectorship has been red-hot since the President accepted Sapp's resignation. At no time was the appointment of any one candidate assured, though the fact that the friends of Col. Sam Stone were the first to get to the President gave the impression he was slated for the position. As late as this morning Representative Irwin and Postmaster Baker spent some time with the President urging the appointment of Col.

GEORGE LIEBERTH,
Of Newport, who has been appointed to succeed Collector Comingore.

Stone. They came away from the White House satisfied that Stone would be appointed.

Postmaster Baker even wired it to Louisville. At 1 o'clock, however, Senator Deboe, Representative Boreing, former Gov. Bradley and Internal Revenue Commissioner Yerkes held a conference with the President and Craft was selected.

* * *

Duke's Withdrawal Forced the Issue.

The refusal of Gen. Basil Duke to accept the collectorship brought the fight squarely between Craft and Stone. Edward Green therefore withdrew and Senator Deboe indorsed Craft. The President said to the delegation he would like to have retained Sapp on Senator Deboe's recommendation, but as that was impossible he would appoint Craft, since the Senator had joined Boreing and Bradley in urging his nomination.

* * *

Surprised In Covington Case.

President Roosevelt's sudden action in the Covington collectorship was something in the nature of a surprise in that it had not been the intention of the delegation to mention the matter to him. Mr. Richard P. Ernst, of Covington, who has been here leading the fight against Comingore, was not at the White House when the matter was settled, as he had expected to call later regarding it. The President, however, asked the delegation about the Covington office and Messrs. Deboe, Boreing and Bradley asked for Comingore's removal.

* * *

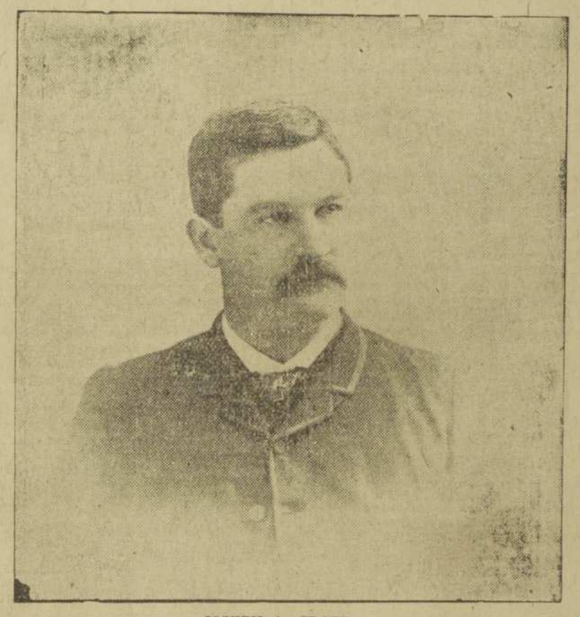

Victory For Bradley Faction.

To-day's appointments are a pronounced victory for the anti-Yerkes-Combs faction, the appointment of Mr. Lieberth for the Covington collectorship even more so than the appointment of Craft at Louisville. The two factions split wide open on both places and remained with their candidates to the end. There is accordingly a delighted crowd of Kentucky Republicans at the Raleigh Hotel to-night. Craft and Lieberth were the original candidates of both former Gov. Bradley and Representative Boreing, and for the first time in many years Bradley finds himself a winner at the White House. He still says he is out of politics, but it is plain to be seen that the ex-Gover-

(Concluded On Third Page.)

BRINGS A NEW FIGURE INTO POLITICAL PROMINENCE

J. A. Craft's Persistence Won Him the Collectorship—Not Considered At First.

JOSEPH A. CRAFT.

It is the consensus of opinion that Mr. Joseph Craft's persistence won the collectorship for him over Samuel H. Stone, E. B. Green, Theophilus Stern and John A. Stratton and Capt. Sam Brown, dark horses in the fight. His appointment suddenly lifts into prominence a brand-new figure on the local political field. The name of J. A. Craft has never been on the list of local workers, manipulators, committeemen or active Republicans, either in the open or otherwise.

Nearly a year ago Mr. Craft made up his mind that he wanted to succeed Charles E. Sapp as Collector in this district. He said little to any one about his ambition, but about six months ago he slipped away to Washington, where he held numerous interviews with President McKinley and Secretary Gage. Mr. Craft had never been known in Louisville politics, and his candidacy for the office was not taken seriously by many politicians. It developed that while Messrs. Yerkes, Combs and Roberts were not for Sapp, they were not for Mr. Craft. Senator Deboe and Congressman Irwin wanted Sapp to be retained. This combination left Mr. Craft with but one congressional supporter, Mr. Boreing. This did not discourage Mr. Craft, however, and he bided his time. Until a few weeks ago Mr. Craft pressed on, with Mr. Boreing as his only supporter. Then former Gov. Bradley came out for him. When Mr. Sapp resigned it was practically conceded that the former State Auditor, Samuel H. Stone, would be appointed Collector. Still Mr. Craft never lost heart, and through Mr. Boreing pushed his claims for the office. Then he and Mr. Bradley went to Washington to see the fight out. Mr. Craft remained on the ground, although it was said that Mr. Stone was a sure winner.

Besides the indorsements of Messrs. Boreing and Bradley, Mr. Craft had recommendations from a number of business men in Louisville and elsewhere in the State.

* * *

About the New Collector.

Mr. Craft is forty-five years old and a lawyer. He formerly lived in London, Laurel county, but he has been a resident of Louisville for about seven years. He married Miss Julia Tapp, of Louisville, and resides at 1208 Fourth avenue. Mr. Craft has a good law practice, the bulk of which is in the mountain courts. He is also interested in coal lands in the mountains, and is a man of considerable wealth.

Mr. Craft is a member of the Pendennis Club and an affable gentleman. He is a forcible speaker, and stumped the State for Bradley in his race for Governor and for Taylor in the Goebel-Taylor fight for the governorship in 1899.

A Former Democrat.

Mr. Craft was formerly an ardent Democrat, and voted the straight Democratic ticket in all elections until 1895, when he "bolted" the Democratic State ticket headed by P. Wat Hardin, and espoused the cause of W. O. Bradley, the Republican nominee. In 1896 Mr. Craft opposed the election of W. J. Bryan, and spoke against the Democratic nominee for President throughout Kentucky.

After that time Mr. Craft became an out-and-out Republican, and has been such, he says, ever since. He voted for Taylor and Yerkes for Governor and for McKinley for President in 1900.

To a Courier-Journal reporter some weeks ago Mr. Craft said that he was a "Republican from the word go. He had been a Democrat, but he had seen the error of his way."

* * *

Changes In Collector's Office.

It is the general belief that all the deputies who served under Mr. Sapp will be removed by Mr. Craft, and the Sappites in the Collector's office are preparing to move out. They stood by the Collector in his fight and they know there is no chance for them to hold on under the new regime. This internal revenue district is the largest in the State, being composed of eighteen counties, two of which are in the mountains. Consequently Mr. Craft will have considerable patronage at his disposal.

* * *

Tips For Chief Deputy.

It is understood that either State Senator John J. Barret or D. R. Collier will be appointed chief deputy to Mr. Craft, to succeed R. L. Gwathmey. Capt. Sam Brown is also being mentioned as a good man for the place. Both are close friends of former Gov. W. O. Bradley. Mr. Barret is said to have the best chance for the appointment, but if Mr. Bradley should find that he will not be able to land Collier as Surveyor of the Port, to succeed Cicero M. Barnett, it is not improbable that Mr. Collier will get the chief deputyship. The office pays $2,000 a year and there is little work attached to it. It is said that Mr. Craft will take charge of the Collector's office immediately after his arrival from Washington.

Bad Day For Triumvirate.

Republicans here say that when the President appointed Mr. Craft Collector here and Mr. Lieberth Collector at Covington, he dealt a hard blow to the political triumvirate composed of Messrs. Yerkes, Combs and Roberts. They not only favored the appointment of Mr. Stone, but also the retention of Mr. Comingore at Covington. However, the President yesterday appointed Henry Clay McDowell Federal Judge of the Western District of Virginia on the recommendation of Messrs. Yerkes and Combs.

* * *

Victory For Bradley.

The appointment of Mr. Craft is regarded by Louisville Republicans as a big victory for former Gov. Bradley and again places him at the head of the party in the State. It shows that he has the ear of the President, and this was something he did not have during the administration of Mr. McKinley. In Kentucky Mr. Bradley has always been regarded as the leading Republican, but at Washington there were numerous others who could always get more than he could.

* * *

Stone's Friends Disappointed.

The friends of former Auditor Stone are sorely disappointed on his failure to secure the appointment as Collector. They had felt there was no doubt about Mr. Stone winning, and the information that Mr. Craft has been appointed was a complete surprise to them.

* * *

Accounts Balance To a Cent.

When Revenue Agent Thrasher completed his verifications of the accounts in the Collector's office yesterday morning he reported everything balanced to a cent. The liability of Mr. R. L. Gwathmey, who is Acting Collector until Appointee Craft formally succeeds Mr. Sapp, was found to be about $7,000,000. Mr. Gwathmey, under the law, is responsible to the retiring Collector under his bond, while the Collector in turn, becomes responsible for the acts of the acting Collector until the new Collector qualifies.

Besides the nineteen deputy collectors, with salaries ranging from $800 to $2,000, who are not under civil service law, there is a stenographer in the office, Miss Nellie Mansfield. She gives a bond as Deputy Collector and draws $900 a year.

* * *

Mr. Craft Eighth Collector.

Mr. Craft will be the eighth Collector for the Fifth Internal Revenue district. The two Buckners—James F. and Lewis—served from the formation of the district until President Garfield appointed George Wilson. President Arthur removed Wilson and put Louis Buckner back into the office. Under Mr. Cleveland's first administration Attilla Cox was the Collector. Mr. Albert Scott succeeded him under President Harrison and when Mr. Cleveland again came into office he put Ben Johnson in the Collector's chair. Mr. Sapp was the next lucky man and now Mr. Craft's picture goes on the wall of the office at the southeast corner of the customhouse, third floor.

The Council also granted to the proposed Paducah, Cairo and Northwestern Railroad Company a right of way over certain streets. MYSTERY Surrounds Murder of Two Evansville Women.

BODIES FOUND IN DITCHES.

Deaths Occurred Under Similar Circumstances.

A STRANGE MAN IN THE CASE.

LIKE MARY STARK AND NORA KIEFER, THEY WERE OUT DRIVING WHEN THEY MET THEIR FATE.

NO CLEW TO THE MURDERER.

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—Mysterious murders have been numerous in Evansville in the past three years. Including two murders to-day, four women have been victims. In April, 1898 Mrs. Mary Stark went driving in a buggy with a stranger. The next morning her dead body was found in a ditch. The man who took her life was never discovered. Mrs. Stark was a prominent woman, and a great sensation followed her death.

In April the following year Miss Nora Kifer, of Elberfield, Ind., was here visiting. She suddenly disapepared. Her body was found weighted down in a creek the following month. Two weeks later Joseph D. Keith, a wealthy farmer, was arrested for the crime. He was tried, convicted and sentenced to death. He fought the case to the Supreme Court, got a stay of execution, but was finally beaten. He will be hanged Friday morning of this week.

* * *

Widow Found Dead.

Early this morning the body of Mrs. Georgia Railey, a well-known widow, was found in a ditch by a public highway a mile from town by a farmer who was on his way to the city in a wagon. He summoned help, and then, leaving the corpse in the charge of another man, hastened to the city and informed Coroner Walker and the police department. The officials at once visited the scene and made an examination of the body and the surroundings. There were strong evidences of a struggle on the roadside, as it rained last night and the soft earth left the imprint of feet.

The body was brought to town and an autopsy was held. Finger prints were found on the woman's throat and her neck was broken. She was seen on the street last night in company with a young man, but he was not recognized and there is no clew to her murderer.

* * *

Another Murder Discovered.

This evening a mile from the city, on another public highway, the body of Miss Lena Renners was found. She, too, was lying in a ditch. Like two of the other murdered women, she went driving in a buggy with a man no one seems to know. The young woman did not return home and to-day her friends were alarmed and searched for her. The body was found late this evening by some children. The coroner was notified and had the body removed to a morgue and ordered a post mortem.

In the meantime, John Kifer, a young railroad employe, was arrested as a suspect. He was with Miss Renners last evening, but Kifers succeeded during the evening in convincing the police that he was innocent of the crime. He visited the house where the girl was stopping this morning and left her pocketbook, and this led to his arrest. Kifer was given the pocketbook last night to carry for Miss Renners, and he forgot to return it. When he called this morning he did not know she was missing.

* * *

No Clew To Murderer.

There was stormy weather last night, and the girl was urged not to leave the house, but she said a friend had made an engagement with her, and she did not care to break it. She was not questioned as to the name of her friend, consequently there is no clew at this time upon which to base an investigation.

At 11:30 o'clock it was announced that the post-mortem showed that death was caused by strangulation. There were evidences of finger-prints about the neck.

The entire police department is investigating the case.

Carnegie Library Chartered.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—In order to remove all danger of legal difficulties a charter was taken out to-day for the Carnegie library by members of the Executive Committee of the Howard Library Association. This was done also that the matter of appropriating money to sustain the library, when erected, may be properly considered by the City Council this week.

A DEMOCRAT

Will Represent the Sixth Senatorial District.

EDWARDS DEFEATS FELAND.

OFFICIAL RETURNS GIVE HIM MAJORITY OF FOUR.

OTHER CANDIDATES' VOTES.

Madisonville, Ky., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—The Sixth senatorial district will again be represented by a Democrat. The Board of County Election Commissioners, which adjourned Saturday on account of the enforced absence of George A. Stewart, the Republican member, met this morning and completed the canvass of the vote. Edwards has a majority of four on the face of the returns, having received a majority of 449 in Hopkins county, while Feland's majority in Christian county is 445. The total vote polled in this county is: Edwards, 3,331; Feland, 2,892. For Representative, R. B. Bradley, Democrat, 3,359; Latt McLaughlin, Republican, 2,931; Bradley's majority 428. C. C. Givens, County Judge; John B. Brasher, Clerk; Ruby Laffoon, County Attorney; Miss Sallie Brown, School Superintendent; W. E. Ashby, Sheriff; Jerrold A. Johnson, Surveyor; S. W. Offutt, Jailer, and Lute Rogers, Coroner, all Democrats, are elected by majorities ranging from 416 to 547. The Democrats also succeeded in electing five out of the six Magistrates and the municipal ticket in every town in the county outside of Earlington, where the Citizens' ticket was elected.

OFFICIALS TO BE RE-ELECTED.

Democrats In Danville City Council Select Their Nominees.

Danville, Ky., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—The Democrats of the City Council held a caucus yesterday afternoon to choose candidates for the various city offices, which will be filled the first Tuesday in December, when the new board qualifies. As the Council is Democratic the nominations are equivalent to election. All the old officers were renominated and the city administration will be as follows: Mayor, J. B. Fisher; Judge of the Police Court, C. R. McDowell; City Attorney, Henry Jackson; City Clerk, F. N. Lee; Treasurer, B. J. Durham; Assessor, Harold Fox; Chief of Police, G. T. Helm.

A curious instance of neglect on the part of the voters is recorded election day. In the Second and Fourth wards, both Democratic, only one and eleven votes were cast, respectively, for City Councilmen. If the Republicans had chosen to do so they could have run in sufficient voters just before the polls closed to have elected independent Republicans, and in this way could have reconstructed the entire city administration.

WANT INJUNCTION DISSOLVED.

Breckinridge County Republicans Appeal To O'Rear.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—Judge O'Rear, of the Court of Appeals, will to-morrow hear a motion and argument to set aside an injunction granted the Democratic nominees for county offices in Breckinridge county by Circuit Judge McBeath restraining the County Election Commission of that county from issuing certificates of election until the returns from Glendeane precinct have been certified to by the election officers. In this precinct, the returns from which give majorities for and elect several of the Democratic nominees, the election officers preserved all the ballots and made no certificate of the vote to the County Commission. The Democratic nominees were represented by Judge W. S. Pryor.

REPUBLICAN SHERIFF CHOSEN.

Breckinridge Democrats Elect All of Their Candidates Except One.

Hardinsburg, Ky., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—The Election Commission of this county completed the count to-day and issued certificates of election to all Democratic candidates except Sheriff, the Republicans electing the Sheriff. There has been a legal battle over some of the precincts where the election officers had locked the poll books in the ballot-boxes, and the Glendeane precinct had no certificates made out and signed by election officers. The court issued a mandamus to compel the Election Commission to open the Glendeane ballot-box and recanvass the vote. The Republicans fought this, as it gave over one hundred Democratic majority. The Democrats won on every proposition and secured certificates of election.

WILL APPEAL THE SUITS.

Contests Growing Out of Lexington Election Not Yet Settled.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 12.—George Denny, Jr., counsel for the Republican ticket at the late election, will appeal the suit of the Republicans to restrain the Election Commissioners from removing election officers. Circuit Judge Watts Parker decided that his court had no jurisdiction over the Election Commissioners as to the removal of election officers.

Judge Parker this morning granted J. T. Farmer, Republican candidate for Magistrate in the Fourth district, a temporary injunction restraining the Election Commissioners from counting ballots voted both for the Republican and independent ticket for County Clerk. The Democrats will appeal.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR MEET.

Questions of National Importance To Be Discussed.

Indianapolis, Nov. 12.—The twenty-fifth annual general assembly of the Knights of Labor opened to-day in Masonic Temple. Delegates were present from nearly every State in the Union and Canada. At the first session the report of the Credentials Committee, consisting of Arthur McConnell, Pensacola; I. D. Sanderson, Toronto, and Mr. Yulick, of Pittsburg, was read and adopted. John W. Hays, of Washington, read the minutes of the last meeting. The meetings are closed to all but members of the order.

At the afternoon session general committees were appointed by General Master Workman Simon Burns, and the reports of the officers were read. The assembly will continue through the remainder of the week, and it is promised by the members that several questions of national importance will not be handled with stuffed gloves. The Chinese exclusion act and trusts will be considered, and it is announced that the frequency with which courts grant injunctions against organized labor during strikes will receive attention. The election of officers will take place the latter part of the week.

WIFE THE SOLE BENEFICIARY OF W. C. CRUGER'S WILL.

Relatives of the Dead Millionaire Will Contest the Instrument.

New York, Nov. 12.—The will of William C. Cruger, who left an estate of $2,000,000 to his wife, Mary Fambrough Cruger, to the exclusion of his relatives, was admitted to probate to-day. The will was contested by James Pendleton Cruger, the surviving brother of the testator, and a number of nephews and nieces, who alleged that Mr. Cruger was incompetent to make a will, and that he was unduly influenced by his wife. Mr. Cruger met his wife in Australia fifteen years ago. He was very ill, and she acted as his nurse until he was restored to health. He married her and they came to this country. After a short residence here they went abroad to live. Mr. Cruger brought an action for divorce in France, but it was never tried, and the couple some time after became reconciled.

Mr. Cruger left $10 to his brother, James Pendleton Cruger, to each of his brother's six children and to each of the children of his deceased brother, Eugene Guido Cruger, whose will was also contested.

THE NEW CONSTITUTION RATIFIED BY 30,000 VOTES.

Opposition, However, Is Still Claiming That the Measure Has Been Defeated,

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 12.—Incomplete returns from every county in Alabama indicate that the new Constitution has been ratified by nearly 30,000 votes. The Black Belt counties, where the largest majorities for ratification are expected, have been slow to send in returns, and when the official count is made the majority may go as high as 32,000. All of the white counties have practically completed the count, and they voted for the new Constitution by a small majority.

Gen. C. M. Shelley, leader of the opposition, claims that the State will cast a majority of at least 20,000 against ratification. He bases that estimate on the returns from North Alabama, which show increased majorities against the new Constitution.

KENTUCKY CASES ARGUED BEFORE SUPREME COURT.

Appeal of the McChord Law Empowering the Making of Rates Comes Up.

Washington, Nov. 12.—The United States Supreme Court to-day heard argument in a number of cases, consolidated as one, which involves the constitutionality of the State law of Kentucky giving the Railroad Commission of that State authority to fix rates in the State. The cases were argued during the last term of the court, but a re-argument was ordered by the court. The law has been passed upon by the United States Circuit Court of Kentucky, which held it to be unconstitutional.

ANARCHIST MEETING PROHIBITED BY POLICE.

British Authorities Refuse To Allow Session In Memory of Execution of Chicago Anarchists.

London, Nov. 12.—An anarchist meeting "to commemorate the legal murder of the Chicago anarchists," which had been called for to-night, was prohibited by the police, who were stationed at the various entrances to the hall, in Clerkenwell, London, and sent away hundreds who came to attend the proceedings.

Prince Krapotkin, Malesta and Louise Michel were among the promoters.

AMERICAN MINISTER FIRED ON BY SENTRY.

Credentials of Mr. Hart Not Recognized By a Colombian Guard.

New York, Nov. 12.—A Bogota, Colombia, correspondent of the Herald cables as follows: A sentinel at Tequindama Falls on October 25 declined to honor the passport of United States Minister Charles Burdett Hart, and fired one shot at the diplomat. The Minister was not hit by the bullet.

The Government has severely punished the sentinel, and is seeing that the Minister is fully protected.

DARING POST-OFFICE RAID.

Six Robbers Secure $1,500 In Bristol, Ind., After a Fight.

Elkhart, Ind., Nov. 12.—The post-office at Bristol was robbed of $500 in stamps and $1,000 in money at 1 o'clock this morning. The safe was blown open with dynamite and the noise of the explosion awoke a number of citizens, some of whom opened fire on the burglars. The robbers returned the fire, and during the fight Mrs. C. E. Bickel was shot in the arm and Roy Shoner was shot in the nose. The thieves escaped.

Before breaking into the post-office the burglars secured tools from a blacksmith shop. Four men guarded the building and two worked with drill and fuse on the inside.

A DIVORCE IMPENDING IN THE ROYAL FAMILY

Grand Duke and Grand Duchess of Hesse Are Expected To Separate At An Early Date.

GRAND DUKE AND GRAND DUCHESS OF HESSE.

Berlin, Nov. 12.—There appears to be foundation for the renewed report that a divorce of the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess of Hesse is impending. Incompatibility of temper, long existing, appears to have reached the point where a separation is inevitable. They are both grandchildren of the late Queen Victoria, who, with the Czar and an extraordinary assemblage of other sovereigns, were present at the wedding, which took place at Coburg, April 19, 1894.

The Grand Duchess is regarded as one of the most beautiful Princesses of Europe. She and the Grand Duke were estranged the first year of their marrigae. She left him and went to stay with her elder sister, the Crown Princess of Roumania. Queen Victoria invited her and her husband to visit England and managed to restore a semblance of peace, but that soon disappeared.

The Grand Duke is reported to be a man of sullen temper, while the Grand Duchess is high spirited.

LEFT ALL HIS POSSESSIONS TO A LOUISVILLE WOMAN

Miss Rosa A. Hardin the Beneficiary of the Will of the Late Prof. Alexander De Czeke, Who Died In Montgomery.

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—The sale of the violins of the late Prof. Alexander De Czeke did not take place yesterday as advertised. The proposed sale by Mr. Julius Sternfeld was stopped by an order issued by Probate Judge J. B. Gaston. Judge Gaston issued the order by reason of filing of Prof. De Czeke's will by Col. Charles P. Jones. In this will the old musician bequeathed all his possessions to Miss Rosa A. Hardin, of Louisville, a member of the famous Hardin family of Kentucky.

Prof. De Czeke's pathetically beautiful death is familiar to Montgomery people. The old musician breathed his last at a musical recital, surrounded by loved and loving friends and with the strains of one of his own musical compositions in his ears. He fell into the last eternal sleep in the parlors of the Ellenberg Studio of Music on South Perry street last winter.

The aged and stately musician was a belonged to the nobility of Hungary. Those who knew him well could easily believe it. He came well could easily believe it. to Montgomery seven years ago from Georgia. He was about seventy-seven years of age. He had relatives in the fatherland. One of them is said to be a blind sister.

He left five violins, all valuable. One of them is said to be worth a fabulous price. This violin is said to have been made in 1517 by a great master, a man who ante-dated Cremona by 200 years. It is a handsome instrument with a splendid tone.

The filing of the will yesterday was a surprise. It was a simple instrument. In a few words he gave his possessions to Miss Hardin. The will has already been filed in Kentucky. A legal fight will no doubt take place, for the violins are now in a vault in the Merchants' and Planters' Bank. Col. Jones will look after Miss Hardin's interest.

LETTER FROM CAPT. KIDD WRITTEN AFTER HIS CAPTURE

It States That the Treasure Is Located On An Island In Boston Harbor, But the Information Ends There.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 12.—A letter 200 years old, from Capt. Kidd, the notorious pirate chief, to John Bailey, Esq., of New York, which, from evidence contained in it, is believed to be genuine by those to whom it has become an heirloom, has been deposited for safe keeping, with other papers, in the office of the Record Commissioners of this city.

The letter is the property of Edward Field, Clerk of the Municipal Court of Providence and historian, a descendant of the Warner family, which was among the first to settle in what is now the town of Warwick. It was found among family papers.

* * *

Written After His Capture.

Apparently the communication was written after the capture of Capt. Kidd. It is dated in Boston, 1700, and it says in part:

I fear we are in a bad situation. We are taken for pirates and you must come to Boston as soon as you get this; there is no one I can depend upon. If I do not see you, I will tell you where my money is. It is x x x, buried on x x x island in Boston harbor on the x x x island in two chests, containing from 15,000 pounds sterling to 20,000 pounds sterling in money, jewels and diamonds. They are buried about four feet deep, with a flat stone on them and a pile of stone nearby. There is no one that knows where it is but me, now living.

It is about x x x up the hillside. Don't fail to come to me as soon as you get this. If I am gone to England be there as soon as possible. Secure the money and diamonds before you come, as money will do a great deal for us.

All Important Words Omitted.

The letter contains much more matter and refers to many incidents which have been found to be historically correct. The words which would tell exactly where the treasure was buried are omitted and their places are taken by crosses. It is considered likely that along with the letter went another writing in which was given the key to the omitted portions.

CARNEGIE WILL INCREASE HIS LARGE DONATIONS

Pittsburg, Nov. 12.—Just before the close of an all afternoon meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Carnegie Institute to-day Mr. Andrew Carnegie announced that he had decided to increase by $2,000,000 his already large donations. Mr. Carnegie said he would increase his original offer to endow a polytechnic school from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000, provided the city of Pittsburg would donate a site. The rapid growth of the Carnegie Institute, which comprises art, music and literary departments, has prompted Mr. Carnegie to double its endowment of $1,000,000.

The Board of Trustees adopted plans for the new polytechnic school and selected a site for the buildings. The buildings will be modeled after the Worcester Technical School, the site comprising eleven acres just west of the Carnegie Library building.

TWO HUNDRED PERSONS MAY DEMAND NEW TRIALS

Huntington, W. Va., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—There has not been a legal jury in the Criminal Court of Cabell county in its existence. This is the ruling of Judge D. E. Matthews late this afternoon, when he had quashed the jury summoned to hear the case of John S. Farr for the killing of Owen Ross last summer. The juries have always been made up by the Jury Commissioners of the Circuit Court, and the law states expressly that the Criminal Court shall have separate juries.

The discovery has caused a sensation, as it is predicted that probably two hundred persons have been sentenced from Cabell county to the State penitentiary in the last eight years, and all these will be entitled to a new trial. Criminal Court adjourned until January so as to give time to get a legal jury.

ON AN INSPECTION TOUR.

Officials of Window Glass Trust Making Trip Through Indiana.

Elwood, Ind., Nov. 12.—President Chambers and other officials of the Window Glass Trust are inspecting the Indiana factories operated by the trust. The same condition of affairs was found here that exist in all of the Indiana factories operated by the trust. There is a shortage of skilled men.

Every one of the numerous American Window Glass Company's plants in the United States will be visited before the return of the party to Pittsburg. They are traveling on a special train.

Agricultural Society Meets.

Corydon, Ind., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—The Harrison County Agricultural Society held its annual meeting in this city to-day and elected the following officers: President, Oscar Uscon; Vice President, S. P. Wolf; Treasurer, John Freemont Sea.

ARMED MEN

Make a Demonstration At Reinecke Mines.

TWO HUNDRED STRIKERS

MARCH FROM THE UNION CAMP TO CORNFIELD

TO FRIGHTEN LABORERS.

Madisonville, Ky., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—The management of the Reinecke Coal Company, while it professes to believe there will be no trouble, is, nevertheless, preparing for it, and expects it to break out at any time. A demonstration was made by the union strikers this afternoon. Between one and two hundred union miners marched from the union camp to an old cornfield directly opposite the Reinecke mines. They remained there some time, until the non-union miners came out of the mines. Most of the union men were armed, but not a shot was fired or a word exchanged. After the last nonunion miner had departed from the mines the union miners quietly dispersed. Most of them returned to their camp, which is located some distance beyond the Reinecke works, while a number returned to their homes in this city.

Action a Surprise.

The action of the union strikers came as a surprise to the residents of Madisonville, as it was not known that there were half that number of men in camp.

Adjt. Gen. David R. Murray arrived here this afternoon, having been sent here by Gov. Beckham to look over the situation. The news of Gen. Murray's arrival spread rapidly, and he was besieged by callers all evening, who were explaining to him the situation. After supper Gen. Murray was in conference with the authorities and several operators. What was done at this conference is not known.

Thorough Investigation.

Gen. Murray will remain here several days and will investigate the situation thoroughly, and will then make his report to the Governor. The presence of the General, it is thought, will prevent any demonstrations to-morrow.

When seen to-night, Gen. Murray declined to say anything for publication until he had made a thorough investigation.

Everything is quiet at Providence to-day. The Providence mines were at work this morning, but with badly crippled forces. Most of the employes of this company are negroes, and they are badly frightened by the demonstrations of the union men yesterday. The men who went to work this morning were allowed to do so without interference. The union miners who had left the mine surrounded last night withdrew this morning, and when the whistle blew for work not a union man was in sight.

William Jenkins, the negro merchant who was accidentally shot by one of the mine guards, while carelessly handling a gun, and William Childers, the non-union miner shot in yesterday afternoon's fight, are in a dangerous condition. The physicians say Jenkins cannot possibly recover. Wallace, the guard who did the shooting, has been arrested. The names of ten of the union miners implicated in yesterday's shooting are known, and warrants have been issued for their arrest. The warrants will be served as soon as the men can be found.

SOUTHERN PHYSICIANS MEET IN RICHMOND.

Dr. McMurtry, of This City, Reads a Paper Before the Convention.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 12.—The Southern Surgical and Gynecological Association convened here to-day. The address of welcome was delivered by the Hon. Eppa Hunter, of Fauquier county.

Dr. Simons, of Charleston, S. C., president of the association, and about fifty members were in the hall at the opening. A paper was read by Dr. Joseph Price, of Philadelphia, and discussed by Dr. Watkins, of Montgomery; Dr. Reamy, of Cincinnati; Dr. McMurtry, of Louisville; Dr. Noble, of Atlanta; Dr. Hall, of Cincinnati; Dr. Haggard, of Nashville, and Dr. Ricketts, of Cincinnati.

This afternoon a reception was tendered the members at the home of Dr. Hugh M. Taylor.

The Southern Medical College Association met to-day in this city. President Christopher Thompkins, of the Medical College of Virginia, called the meeting to order.

The University College of Medicine of this city and the University of Dallas, Tex., were elected members of the association, and their representatives given seats in the convention. The association concluded its work this evening.

SENTENCE IN JAIL FOR NEWSPAPER MEN.

Held Guilty of Contempt By Chicago Judge Because of a Publication.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—On a charge of contempt of court Judge Haney today sentenced Andrew M. Lawrence, managing editor of Hearst's Chicago American, to forty days in the county jail. The sentence of H. S. Canfield, who wrote the article objected to by the court, was fixed at thirty days in jail. The cases against S. S. Carvalho, financial manager of the paper, and John C. Hammond, assistant city editor, were dismissed. Judge Haney declared that the case against W. R. Hearst, majority stockholder of the paper; Homer Davenport, cartoonist, and Clare Briggs, also a cartoonist, would pend until such time as these respondents could be brought into court by the Sheriff.

When Messrs. Canfield and Lawrence appeared before Haney this afternoon ready for commitment to the county jail, the court announced that inasmuch as he understood Judge Dunne had issued a writ of habeas corpus before the men were sentenced he would take no action in the matter until that writ had been vacated. It was decided, however, to hold the writ in abeyance until commitment papers have been made out and the men delivered into the custody of the Sheriff. This will probably be done on Friday.

Saloonkeeper Mortally Wounded.

Paducah, Ky., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—Ike Daniel, a saloon-keeper of Metropolis, Ill., a few miles below here, was stabbed in the back of the neck by his bartender, John Hunt, last night and was mortally wounded. Daniel is completely paralyzed. The blade entered the spinal column and broke off at the handle. It had to be pulled out with pliers.

WEST POINT ACADEMY SHOULD BE REBUILT.

Members of the Board of Visitors Make Important Recommendations.

Washington, Nov. 12.—The most important features of the report of the Board of Visitors to the West Point Military Academy is a recommendation that the academy be rebuilt. The report says:

It has been nearly one hundred years since West Point was founded, and from the birth of the institutions nearly all the improvements have been on the patchwork plan. There is but one building constructed by the Government at the post that is in harmony with this day and generation. All the others are old, uncomfortable and entirely inadequate for present conditions. Few of them are equipped with any of the conveniences to be found in the average public building in the country districts of many of the States. It can be truthfully said that there is a pressing necessity for a complete tearing down and a new building up.

The report says the board is satisfied that hazing has been eradicated. Full credit is given to Col. Mills for this. The board recommends that the pay of the cadets which is now $540 a year be increased to $609 a year, to be equal to that of naval cadets.

NARROW ESCAPES.

MANY PERSONS IN DANGER OF DEATH

IN A CLEVELAND FIRE.

Three Women Jump From a Fifth-Story Window Into a Net and Are Uninjured.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 12.—A fire that started in the shoe store of N. O. Stone & Co., 46 and 48 Euclid avenue, this afternoon, caused a loss of $75,000 to that firm, of which $50,000 is on stock and $25,000 on the building. The insurance is about 80 per cent. of that sum. The jewelry firm of Arnstein Brothers & Mier, on the second floor of the Stone block, lost $40,000. The upper stories were occupied by physicians, photographers and other tenants.

A corset factory owned by Mrs. Graham, employing about twenty girls, was on the fifth floor. When the fire broke out all the girls made a rush for the fire escapes and ladders. The fire spread so rapidly, however, that they could not use the fire escapes, and a number of the girls were rescued by firemen on ladders, while three of the women, including Mrs. Graham, jumped from the fifth floor into a net held by the firemen below.

They escaped without injury. Dr. Dowd, dentist, and Chestnutt Brothers, photographers, were other tenants, and their loss is total, the entire building being a mass of wreckage. Lieut. Granger, of Fire Company 27; Farrel English, of Company 2, and Superintendent of Machinery Reickert, were incapacitated by reason of injuries received. Reickert was cut by flying glass and English overcome by smoke.

The stores of Fueldheim Brothers, shoe dealers, and Goodhart & Co., furniture dealers, adjoining the Stone store, were considerably damaged by smoke and water.

WILL GO TO ROME TO GET INSTRUCTIONS.

Bishop Sbarretti Will Not Proceed At Once To the Philippines.

New York, Nov. 12.—Bishop Sbarretti, of Havana, who has been appointed special apostolic delegate to the Philippines, arrived here to-day on the Ward liner Mexico. It was expected that Mgr. Sbarretti would go to Manila via San Francisco, but that plan has been changed and he is going to Rome before proceeding to the Philippines. The Bishop while in this city will be the guest of Archbishop Corrigan.

"I am going to Rome to get instructions as to my new post," said Bishop Sbarretti, "and until then will not know what my duties are to be. I have read in the newspapers that the Vatican is sending me to the Philippines to endeavor to arrange an agreement between the Filipinos and the American Government. Other papers speak about the settlement of the friar question, whatever that may mean."

The Bishop of Havana was formerly auditor of the papal delegation at Washington. He is an Italian.

NO GROUND FOR CONVICTION.

Missouri Woman Charged With Murder Saved From the Gallows.

Jefferson City, Mo., Nov. 12.—Alice Nesenbauer, tried in 1900 for murdering her husband, was to-day saved from the gallows by a decision of the Supreme Court, which held that there was no ground for conviction. She had been convicted and sentenced to death for poisoning her husband, a Burlington roundhouse employe, at Hannibal, in July, 1900. Two of Mrs. Nesenbauer's children had also died suddenly, and the fact that all three had been insured, that Mrs. Nesenbauer objected to a post-mortem examination and the finding of powder in the vault, were strong factors in her conviction.

Through her trial and imprisonment the prisoner had her baby constantly with her.

FLAMES IN WEST VIRGINIA.

Sixty-two Buildings Destroyed and Over 100 Families Homeless.

Parsons, W. Va., Nov. 12.—Fire at Thomas, in this county, to-day, destroyed sixty-two buildings and left over one hundred families homeless. The post-office, many stores and thirty houses are in ruins, and the loss is estimated at from $150,000 to $200,000. One life is reported lost. The high wind made the successful fighting of the fire impossible, and all the destruction was wrought in three hours' time.

The fire started from the explosion of a lamp in the Giesberger Hotel.

Cement Plants In Indiana.

Richmond, Ind., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—The cement manufacturing business is getting to be one of the chief industries of this State. The big mill at Syracuse is turning out 600 barrels a day and even with a double shift cannot supply the demand. Its capacity is to be doubled. The plant at Sarah, which has a capacity of 600 barrels a day, is also being doubled. At Bristol a $500,000 plant is going up, and in the spring one will be built at Milford.

IS WAITING.

Maclay Will Revise His Alleged History

IF SCHLEY IS EXONERATED.

COURT OF INQUIRY BUSY BEHIND CLOSED DOORS.

SESSIONS STRICTLY SECRET.

New York, Nov. 12.—Edgar Stanton Maclay, the author of "A History of the United States Navy," who is still working as a clerk in the Brooklyn navy yard, is preparing to make changes in his history if Admiral Schley is exonerated. He said in an interview:

"I am awaiting the decision of the court before putting out the revised edition of the history. If the court exonerates Admiral Schley and clears him of all discredit I will at once cut out that portion of the third volume which is detrimental to him."

ABSOLUTE SECRECY PRESERVED.

Court of Inquiry Will Continue Its Labors Behind Closed Doors.

Washington, Nov. 12.—The Schley court of inquiry resumed its work at 10 o'clock to-day and adjourned shortly after 12:30. It was stated most positively after the session that not the slightest inkling of the nature of the court's verdict would be obtainable before it is rendered formally, and that no statement whatever, not even regarding the progress of the work, would be given to the public. It is the purpose of the court to have Secretary Long's announcement of the finding news in the strictest sense of the word.

EXPANSION

OF THE RURAL FREE MAIL DELIVERY SERVICE.

Annual Report of Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Regarding Post-offices In Kentucky.

Washington, Nov. 12.—[Special.]—The annual report of the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General issued to-day contains the following information relative to post-offices in the State of Kentucky:

The number of presidential Postmasters whose commissions expired during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1900, was two, number removed one, deceased one, offices becoming presidential one.

The number of resignations of fourth-class Postmasters was 439, removals at expiration of four years fifty-three, removals twenty-four, deaths thirty-four, established 212, discontinued fifty-seven.

The number of first-class post-offices in the State is four, second-class twelve, third-class fifty-two.

The number of fourth-class money order offices in the State is 514, non-money order 2,596. The total number of fourth-class offices is 3,110, an increase over 1900 of 154.

The State of Kentucky with sixty-eight presidential offices ranks nineteenth among the States in this respect, while the State ranks twelfth in population. The State ranks fourth in the number of fourth-class post-offices. The rank in compensation of Postmasters is forty-sixth, the average compensation being $103.13. The gross receipts of post-offices in Kentucky for the fiscal year were $1,502,483.90. The average amount expended per capita was seventy cents. The rank of the State in the expenditure per capita is forty-second.

The report of the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General shows that there have been 1,125 more post-offices discontinued in the United States this year than in the one preceding. The principal cause for the large increase in the number of post-offices discontinued has been the extension of the rural free delivery service.

BREAD.

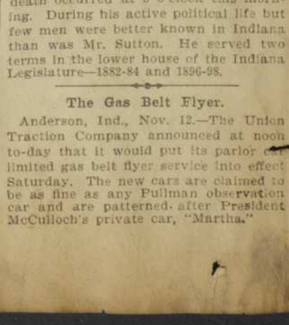

Not the Biggest Loaf.

Whiteside's MOTHER'S BREAD

is not puffed up by sour gas into a big, flabby loaf. It is made up with pure, sweet milk; and kept at an even temperature from the time it is mixed until it is baked; thus keeping the dough always sweet. Almost Drowned While Being Baptized In Thorntown, Ind.

Thorntown, Ind., Nov. 12.—Miss Minnie Coddington, near this place, while being baptized by a minister of the Christian church, in some way slipped from his grasp and narrowly escaped drowning. She was rescued by the bystanders, aided by the minister, and physicians restored her to consciousness after two hours of hard work.

however, intends settling that matter very quickly. He will see that requisition papers go to Gov. Beckham tomorrow or the day after at the latest. Gov. Beckham, it is expected, will honor the papers immediately, in which case the trial will be held in Jeffersonville. However, this may not be done, for the poison from which Goodman died is supposed to have been given to him in Louisville. The actions of the men on the boat going over all confirm this. If such is the case, then Rathbun may be tried for murder either in Kentucky or Indiana. In any event, according to the police and lawyers who have been consulted, there seems no chance for Rathbun to escape.

He was asked by a reporter yesterday if he would be willing to compromise now on a life sentence, and Rathbun replied that he would think such a proposition over. However he declares that he will do nothing in his case without the advice of his lawyer. None has been employed as yet.

* * *

Who Is Rathbun?

"Who is Rathbun really?" This is another question confronting the police. The prisoner will say absolutely nothing about himself before the time of his being detailed at Little Rock on recruiting service.

The detectives all think that Rathbun is an assumed name. He says that he has been a "bum" printer and tramped the country for several years. Originally he claims to have been enlisted at Detroit, where he says he gave a "phony" nearest friend, as the enlistment blank demands the name of some one. He says the name given at the local station as the name of his nearest friend was also a "phony."

Question of the Laudanum.

Exactly where the laudanum in the case was purchased is still a mystery. Rathbun will admit nothing about it. Capt. Sullivan inclines to the belief that the drug was purchased in Jeffersonville. Others think that Rathbun brought it with him. Detectives are searching for the drug store where the laudanum was sold.

* * *

Why He Didn't Fire the Hotel.

The prisoner gives quite a fanciful and airy excuse for not carrying out his plan to burn the body in the bed. "The stiff had been dead too long," he says. "He was quite cold when I went in that morning. There would have been no use in starting a fire about such a cold proposition as that. Everyone would have known there was something wrong.

Rathbun, in an unguarded moment, acknowledged to the officers yesterday that last Thursday morning, on his way through the hall of the Falls City Hotel to the office, he went into Goodman's room and placed in his coat pocket the letters received from Mrs. Sue Rathbun, his wife, at Plattsburg Barracks, N. Y.

"I was greatly surprised to find Goodman dead," he said to them. "I fully intended to make a 'stiff' out of him, but, finding him lifeless, I hastily decided to 'plant' the letters in his pocket.

"I was in the room only a brief time, I was startled by discovering that he had died, although I had it all figured out how I would end his life. I intended to keep him drunk two or three days and then chloroform him. I had not bought the chloroform.

That Thursday Morning.

"After tucking the cover closely around Goodman, putting his hand under his head and fixing him so that he would look as if asleep if any one opened the door, I slipped out, pulled the door to, walked down stairs, ate my breakfast, and told Landlord Ogden that Rathbun, whom I said had gone to bed very drunk, desired to sleep late, and if he wanted to see me to tell him to come to the same place in Louisville that he met me the previous day.

"I hurried to the river. I felt a little nervous. I did not give Goodman any laudanum. I did not see him drink anything but whisky."

Now and then Rathbun would suddenly enter upon a discussion of the laudanum theory. He could not long remain away from the subject. The laudanum feature is worrying him a great deal.

* * *

Wasn't It Funny?

At times Rathbun seemed to revel in the details of his crime. He said:

"Wasn't it funny that after I planned to make a 'stiff' of Goodman he laid down and died himself?

"Say, do you know how I conceived the plan to turn this 'trick?' Last April a man died in Little Rock. His life was insured for $29,000. When I heard of it I said to a young woman:

"'We could get married, and it would be mighty easy to get hold of a lot of money by putting a 'stiff' in a house, burn the house, cremate the dead man, and represent him as a man carrying a big life insurance.' From that time I had it in mind to do what I planned to take place in the Falls City Hotel, in Jeffersonville."

Deputy Coroner Coots asked Rathbun if Goodman was able to walk up the steps at the Falls City Hotel last Wednesday night. He answered:

"Yes. He walked in front. He stepped into his room and I proceeded to mine. I did not stop. I was not quite ready to kill him."

* * *

John Steigers' Escape.

Rathbun took Goodman as the easy mark, but the unfortunate tramp was not the first choice. One of the strong witnesses against the prisoner will be one John Steigers, a guest at the St. Cloud Hotel. On Tuesday Rathbun attempted to get friendly with Steigers, but the young man was suspicious and would have nothing to do with the stranger who carried nothing but a hang-dog look to recommend him. Rathbun asked Steigers to play pool, then go out for a "time" and offered to buy the drinks.

Now Steigers does not think kindly of those invitations.

WHERE DID HE GET THE POISON

Important Clew Which Search of All Drug Stores Fails To Develop.

"Where did he get the poison?" is the question which everybody connected with Rathbun's insurance swindle is now asking.

And unless Rathbun should change his mind and confess or accident should reveal it, it is likely that the question will never be answered.

Those interested consider this an important clew. Every drug store in Louisville was visited, but no record of a sale of more than one-half of an ounce of laudanum was found.

The detectives want to find the man who purchased the drug. If they could prove that Rathbun bought it their case against him would be complete.

If another purchased it, then a clew would be theirs which could easily be followed and the murderer caught. All the Louisville police engaged in the search for the man who bought the poison. The patrolmen visited the drug stores on their beats and they were instructed to search the records for the present month. And only one sale was reported. The purchaser was Jerry Lewis, colored, of 125 East Market street. He bought one-half of an ounce of laudanum at Knox's drug store, Second and Market streets, on November 5.

* * *

Jeffersonville Druggists Questioned.

In Jeffersonville a Courier-Journal reporter made the rounds of the drug stores.

No druggist recalled having had such a customer as Rathbun.

M. F. Doherty said: "In Indiana there is no law against the sale of poisons. We are careful, however, in selling poisons to strangers. I am certain Rathbun did not visit my store."

Charles Schwaninger, partner of T. W. Perry, did not recollect such a man as Rathbun buying laudanum. Mr. Schwaninger was on duty last Wednes evening, when it is supposed the poison was purchased.

Lyman Parks, of Parks' drug store, said: "We sell a great deal of poison. I cannot recall selling anything to a man of Rathbun's description."

The answer was the same at Pfau's, Graham's and Doolittle's.

SURE OF THE POISON.

Coots and Others Show Why They Scout Rathbun's Suggestion of "Alcoholism."

Notwithstanding the declaration made by Rathbun that he did not administer laudanum to Goodman and did not see him swallow any of the drug, Deputy Coroner Frohman Coots, of Jeffersonville, positively stated last night to a reporter for the Courier-Journal that Goodman's stomach contained laudanum in a sufficient quantity to have caused the death of two men.

"I made this statement in the Courier-Journal soon after the body was found in the Falls City Hotel," said Mr. Coots, "and I know what I am talking about."

"How did you ascertain that there was laudanum in the man's stomach?" was asked.

How He Detected Poison.

"In embalming the corpse I made the discovery. I had been experimenting for some time on a theory, and I have demonstrated beyond question that I am right. I do not care just now to divulge my secret, but if it becomes necessary I can explain it in a few words. Since I made the discovery that Goodman died from laudanum poisoning, I have discussed the method employed in the case of Goodman, and two prominent physicians agree with me that the plan is a success, insuring certainty in determining the contents of a stomach containing poison.

"After the autopsy is held on Goodman's body in Little Rock, if the authorities insist that I explain how I found laudanum I may do so.

"When I found the poison the odor was so strong it was stupefying. I had to step into the yard. The smell was unmistakable. To satisfy myself and my brother, I made a test, and found that no mistake had been made."

* * *

That Death Certificate.

Coroner Coots made a statement last night regarding the death certificate sent with the corpse, at the time supposed to be Rathbun, to Little Rock. He said:

"I wrote on the certificate that the person came to his death from regurgitation. This means a flowing back. In this case I took it that an overstimulant had produced death; that laudanum, whisky or chloroform had been used excessively, with the result that the blood was made to flow into the heart more rapidly than the arteries could carry it out.

"I also had in mind the bereaved widow, and did not want to say her husband had committed suicide, thus causing further grief. Hence, I got around the difficulty by using the word 'regurgitation.'"

Analysis Too Costly.

Prosecutor Frank M. Mayfield wanted Goodman's stomach analyzed before the body was sent to Little Rock, and requested Coroner Coots to have it done, but the Coroner did not do it for the reason that the Indiana law does not provide for payment in such a case. The cost of having a stomach analyzed is at least $200.

* * *

"Alcoholism Impossible."

Dr. W. M. Busey, superintendent of the Salvation Army Hotel, is positive that Goodman did not die from alcoholism.

"A man who had lived on the booze doped with Indian fishberries, would not be likely to die so suddenly of alcoholism. Goodman was robust, strong and apparently in splendid health. He was always very quiet when drinking and, though a booze-grafter, never gave any trouble. Several of the men about the place saw him after he came back from Jeffersonville where he had been to supper. The 'mark' as Goodman called the fellow who paid, had bought it for him. Also the 'mark' wanted Goodman to go to Frankfort with him.

"Goodman complained to several of the men that he could not get onto the lay of the 'mark.' Something was going to be pulled off, but he did not exactly understand why the 'mark' was so good to him.

"There are plenty of men here who could identify Goodman or his clothes."

Bottle In the Room.

A whisky bottle bearing a Lexington label and almost empty was discovered in the room at the Falls City Hotel. The theory is that after Rathbun had got the man to the room he poured him out a night cap stiff enough to hide the taste of the laudanum. The liquor did not have to be choice for Goodman. A man who has lived for years on the "Indian fishberry" whisky is not apt to be particular.

OPINION IS DIVIDED.

Though Generally Believed That Rathbun Will Be Tried In Jeffersonville.

Little doubt remains that Rathbun will be taken to Jeffersonville and there tried for the crime of which he is charged. Before he can be surrendered to the Indiana authorities, the United

JUDGE J. K. MARSH,
Who will preside in Clark county if Rathbun is tried in Jeffersonville.

States Government must first relinquish its hold on him as being a deserter from the army. Col. J. D. Rodman, in charge of the recruiting station, cannot do this until he secures the consent of the Secretary of War. The securing of this consent will be only a question of time. Following this a requisition must be secured and honored; also only a matter of time, as Rathbun refused to go without these papers.

The question arose yesterday as to the possibilities of Rathbun's being indicted in Jefferson county. This necessarily raised the point whether a man administering poison with malice aforethought to a person, who died from its effects in another State, should be tried in the State where the poison was administered or in the State where the victim died.

* * *

Either State Could Try.

"Either State would have jurisdiction in such a case," said Mr. Aaron Kohn yesterday. "The giver of poison could be indicted as an accessory before the fact in the State where he administered the poison, or he could be indicted and tried for murder in the State where his victim died. The State first securing and indicting the accused would have jurisdiction, but, of course, it could subordinate its claim to the other State, if the ends of justice were best subserved in this way.

"Take the case of a man who should stand on the Kentucky bank of the Ohio river and shoot and kill a man on the Indiana side—he could be indicted and tried in either State.

"The Court of Appeals in the Parker case held that a man who had plotted a crime in one county, which was committed in another county, could be tried in either county."

Mr. Joseph M. Huffaker, who will today enter upon the duties of Commonwealth's Attorney, entirely agreed with Mr. Kohn, and when asked as to the probability of his referring Rathbun's case to the grand jury, said:

"I have not watched the case very closely, but if there is any evidence to warrant the belief that Rathbun administered poison to the dead man in Louisville, I shall submit it to the grand jury and endeavor to secure an indictment charging him as an accessory before the fact. But from what I have learned this seems to be one of the great hitches in the case, and the evidence is far more conclusive from the Indiana standpoint. I shall investigate the case to-day."

The following opinions of lawyers in Jeffersonville present somewhat divergent views on the question of jurisdiction:

* * *

Will Have To Be Tried In Kentucky.

Mr. Voigt thinks that if the poison was administefred in Kentucky Rathbun will have to be tried in Kentucky. He said:

The offense consists in giving the poison, and there the jurisdiction rests. The fact that the man died in Jeffersonville does not change the legal aspect.

"If the facts and circumstances as disclosed in Jeffersonville lead a jury to conclude that the man died from the effects of the poison in Jeffersonville, it would have the right to convict, even though there be no direct evidence as to where the poison was administered. The circumstantial evidence may be so strong as to authorize a conviction even though there be no positive evidence the poison was administered in Indiana.

"As to the penalty, it is either a case of murder in the first degree or nothing. If it is such Rathbun may be executed or sent to the Indiana State Prison at Michigan City for life."

* * *

Life Imprisonment Or Death.

The Hon. M. Z. Stannard said:

"If it is shown that the poison was administered in Kentucky Rathbun must be tried in the State of Kentucky. If Rathbun gave no poison, but intended to kill the man no offense has been committed. He cannot be punished for his intentions.

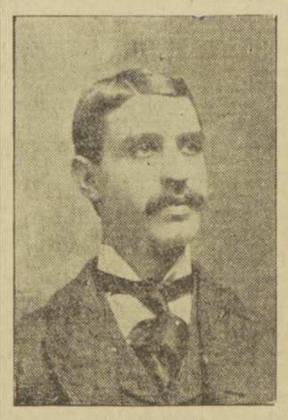

"Suppose that some one else poisoned the man in Jeffersonville and Rathbun counseled, encouraged, hired or otherwise provide it be done, he is guilty of murder and may be convicted as a principal either before or after the principal offender is indicted. This, because we do not have accessories before the fact in Indiana. What is in some States an accessory before the fact is made a principal in Indiana. Rathbun, if guilty at all, must suffer life imprisonment or the death penalty."

Where He Shall Be Tried.

Attorneys Montgomery and McKee said:

"The rule in the United States is well settled as regards the jurisdiction of courts for violation of the criminal laws of any State, as follows: Each State has exclusive jurisdiction over the offenses committed within its borders and has no jurisdiction whatever over the acts done outside of its territorial limits.

GLOVER COOTS,
The Coroner.

"As regards whether Indiana or Kentucky is the proper State in which to try Rathbun and his accomplices, if any, the above rule must be applied. If the poison was administered in Kentucky, the courts of Kentucky have jurisdiction to try Rathbun for the offense, and the fact that the victim died in Indiana does not affect the rule. If, however, the poison was administered in Indiana, the courts of Indiana alone have jurisdiction, it matters not where the person dies. If it should develop that the poison was administered on the Ohio river, between Indiana and Kentucky, either State has jurisdiction to try the case.

"If the facts should show that the act of administering the poison was done in Kentucky, but that the drug was procured by another person in Indiana, for such purpose, or that such person gave other assistance to accomplish the death of the deceased and before the poison was administered, such other person is guilty of an offense against the laws of Indiana, and his punishment is the same as though the poison had been administered by him in Indiana. It matters not in the last named case whether the poison was administered by the principal in Kentucky or in Indiana, the punishment of the accessory can only be inflicted by the Indiana courts, as it is an offense only against the last named State, the acts being all committed in Indiana."

If Rathbun is taken to Jeffersonville he will be arraigned in a Magistrate's court and remanded to jail to await the action of the grand jury. He cannot be tried on an information filed by the Prosecuting Attorney or any one else. The law says:

"All public offenses, except treason and murder, may be prosecuted in the Circuit and Criminal Courts on information based on affidavit."

Judge James K. Marsh, of the Clark Circuit Court, will call a special grand jury to indict Rathbun. Court will convene next Monday. The regular grand jury will not convene until February, but the law authorizes the court to impanel a grand jury whenever it sees fit.

STICKS TO THEORY.

Landlord of Falls City Hotel Does Not Believe Rathbun's Latest Statement.

Frank Ogden, landlord of the Falls City Hotel, is firmly convinced that a third man is implicated in the case. He says the more he thinks about it his belief grows stronger that the man with "Ten Eyke" (Rathbun) last Wednesday evening in the hotel office was not the man found dead in room No. 50. He says he was impressed with the healthy look of the supposed tramp. His cheeks were red; his face was plump. When the "tramp" looked at "Ten Eyke" he was forced to look up. The man found lifeless was taller. He was emaciated and had an altogether different appearance. The instant he looked into the room and beheld the man lying in bed, his face toward the door, eyes half-open and hand under his head, he instantly thought that it was not the man who had come in with "Ten Eyke."

Mr. Ogden says when he threw back the covering from the man and his legs and arms were exposed he was convinced it was a different man. He says positively he is not and cannot be mistaken.

Others about the hotel, however, are not as positive on this point.

Capt. Applegate does not think a third man figures in the mystery. Neither does Deputy Coroner Coots believe Rathbun had a confederate in Jeffersonville. Capt. Applegate accepts as true the assertion of Rathbun that Blanchard does not figure and that he acted alone. Rathbun has repeatedly contradicted himself. His demeanor indicates that he is holding something in reserve, and it is expected he will disclose every feature of this remarkable case within a few hours.

THERE WAS A TEN EYCK.

Is In Prison and Had No Connection With the Crime.

Plattsburg, N. Y., Nov. 12.—The only Ten Eyck in the Twenty-seventh infantry was Jesse V. Ten Eyck, who was born at Glen, N. Y., twenty-seven years ago. He enlisted at Johnstown, N. Y., May 15, 1901; deserted July 17, 1901, was recaptured July 31, 1901, and sentenced September 26 last to one year's imprisonment at Fort Columbus, N. Y., where he now is. There are three men named Ellis in the regiment—David R., aged nineteen, and Thomas A., aged twenty-three, brothers; both from Carter county, Tenn., and John G., aged twenty-three, born at Greenville, S. C., and enlisted at Fort McPherson, Ga. These three men are now here, but say they know nothing of Rathbun or Blanchard.

Newell C. Rathbun enlisted in the United States army at Detroit, Mich., February 1, 1901, and joined Company K, Twenty-seventh infantry, here September 17, 1901, and deserted October 7. He was born in Oswego, N. Y., is twenty-eight years old and is a printer.

Frederick B. Blanchard enlisted at Fort McPherson, Ga., May 9, 1901, and joined his regiment here in September. He deserted September 24. He was born at Dover, N. J., is twenty-five years old and is a bookkeeper. His comrades here say he has a wife at Trenton, N. J. He gave the name of Joel Caluman, of Trenton, N. J., as that of his nearest relative.

Mr. Louis Spencer Daniel, the elocutionist, will give an entertainment at Music Hall next Tuesday for the benefit of the George B. Eastin Camp, United Confederate Veterans. Owing to a misunderstanding a number of persons went to Music Hall last night for the entertainment.

HOW THE MYSTERY WAS SOLVED FROM A CLEW THAT SEEMED HOPELESS

It was by digging persistently and energetically for clews and facts and the building of circumstance upon circumstance that the identity of Rathbun's mysterious corpse was established. In entering upon the solution of so unpromising a case these seemingly insignificant words casually spoken by Rathbun Monday afternoon were used as the starting point:

"I met the man in front of the Salvation Army headquarters."

The words were spoken while he was being subjected to the sweating process. The prisoner was doing his utmost to confuse the officers. He apparently had no intention of giving a clew to the station in life of his alleged victim.

But the words furnished the first clew. Detective Martin Donahue heard him. So did a Courier-Journal man.

Capt. Sullivan was questioning Rathbun. "But who was he?" persisted the Chief of Detectives. "What did he do?"

"I don't know," was the prisoner's reply.

The detectives and the Courier-Journal man thought deeply for a moment. When Rathbun's victim first appeared in Jeffersonville his appearance was that of a tramp. And since the two met in front of the Salvation Army's cheap lodging house, what was more logical than the thought that the

FROHMAN COOTS,
Deputy Coroner, of Clark county, Ind., who declares he found poison in Goodman's stomach.

"bum" may have been a lodger there? It was worth looking into. So the Courier-Journal man and the detective made a visit to the Salvation Army.

The first person whom they met was Jesse Pelton, an employe.

"Have any of your lodgers disappeared within the last five or six days?" they asked.

And here the first obstacle presented itself. The guests at the lodging-house might be termed transients. When they leave in the morning it may be with the intention of returning at night, but darkness may find them 100 miles from Louisville curled upon the bumpers of a freight car.

* * *

A Discouraging Response.

Pelton thought for several minutes.

"I don't know of any," he finally answered. Numerous questions were asked without any satisfactory results. Finally the Courier-Journal man and the detective turned away. They were disappointed, for their first effort was a failure.

"But, wait a minute," called Pelton, as they reached the door. "Charles Goodman has not been here since Wednesday evening. He was a tramp, and before he left he said that he was going to Indiana."

That was not especially encouraging. Tramps are likely to disappear at any minute.

"We'l, we'll take a description of him," said the newspaper man, as he took his pencil and note paper from his pocket.

"Light brown hair," began Pelton. "About twenty-three years of age; about five feet seven inches tall, and slim."

"And how was he dressed?" queried the detective.

* * *

A Glimmer of Light.

"Old brown check coat and vest, and soft hat."

The investigators started.

"Resembles the corpse somewhat," thought both detective and Courier-Journal man. And so was obtained the first clew.

Now began the work of tracking Goodman.

"When was he last seen?" was the natural question.

"On Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, when he went to keep an appointment with a man whom he termed a 'good thing.'"

"Where was he from?" was the next question.

"Here's a letter that may explain something," and Pelton drew an envelope from the mail box.

Evansville Now Figures.

It was from Evansville. Thus Evansville was brought into the case as a possible place for information. The Courier-Journal correspondent there was directed accordingly to telegraph to this paper all the information he could get concerning Goodman, including a minute description.

And while waiting for this description a Courier-Journal reporter made the rounds of the saloons from First to Third street and from Jefferson to the river.

Rathbun claimed that he and his victim visited several of them before they boarded the boat, and the reporter attempted to find some one who knew Goodman and had seen him with the man who was suspected of being his murderer.

Butterweck's saloon, at Second and Market, which the prisoner described as the "White Front," was visited, "No, I don't remember them," said the barkeeper. At many others the reporter received the same answer.

Then he went to the Daisy Place on Eighteenth street, near the river, and

F. M. MAYFIELD,
Prosecutor of Clark county, Ind.

learned that two men, one answering Rathbun's description and the other Goodman's, were there at 11 o'clock on Wednesday night.

Showers, the barkeeper, said: "One wore a little soft hat, and was drunk."

* * *

The Little Soft Hat.

It was Goodman's hat.

At the ferry dock the ticket agent was asked for a description of the two men.

"One was drunk, and had on a little hat."

It was always the little hat—Goodman's hat—that attracted attention.

And so the Courier-Journal reporter tracked the two men. And every clew strengthened the theory that the victim was Goodman, for every description obtained of the intoxicated man tallied with the tramp's description.

At last when it seemed that the identity was fairly established and that Goodman was the victim, came the following telegram from Plattsburg, N. Y.:

"Blanchard is twenty-five years of age, has dark brown hair and is five feet seven inches in height." Blanchard is the Corporal who Rathbun said was to furnish the corpse. Immediately all calculations were upset, for the description of Blanchard was the description of the dead man. Then a new theory was presented and the question, "Did Rathbun murder his partner?" was the one that must be answered.

The identity of the victim was again complicated. It seemed impossible to solve the mystery, when a telegram to the Courier-Journal from Evansville arrived.

"May have small scar on right cheek below the eye. He wore a brown suit."

And that settled it. The small scar on right cheek below the eye clinched it, for the corpse had just such a scar.

INDIANA LAW ON MURDER.

"Whoever purposely and with premeditated malice, or in the perpetration of or attempt to perpetrate by administering poison, or causing the same to be done, kills any human being, is guilty of murder in the first degree, and upon conviction thereof shall suffer death or be imprisoned in the State prison during life, in the discretion of the jury."

COCHRAN AGAIN.

OLD SCHOOL TRUSTEE ONCE MORE BOARD'S PRESIDENT.

Only Two New Faces and They Have Been There Before—Committees Thursday Night.

Two School Board meetings were held last night in just twenty-one minutes.

The old board was called to order at 8:10 o'clock by President Chatterson. The only absentees were Messrs. Lentz and Rietze. The minutes of the called meeting, November 7, were read and approved. Secretary Ramsey then prepared the minutes of the meeting then in session, and these were approved. Mr. Chatterson made a graceful little talk in retiring from the chair, and at 8:19 o'clock the old board died.

Clerk Ramsey called upon Judge Gregory to swear in the new members, as follows: J. W. Galvin, succeeding President Chatterson; J. B. Atkinson, G. H. Cochran, R. E. Galvin, C. A. Lang and S. Snodgrass, succeeding themselves; Sam Morningstar, succeeding G. C. Rietze. Both Dr. Galvin and Mr. Morningstar had been members before. The hold-overs are John Hoertz, A. H. Bracher, A. A. Chickering, John C. Day, William Hewitt, Bruce Lentz and James Norton.

Mr. Lang nominated Mr. Cochran for president, and he was elected unanimously. In taking the chair once more this venerable trustee spoke feelingly of how he appreciated the honor and how he hoped to give satisfaction.

Mr. Atkinson nominated Mr. Day for vice president and the election was unanimous. Mr. Day said he was thankful for the honor.

President Cochran said a meeting would probably be held Thursday night, at which time he would announce his committees for the ensuing year.

This makes Mr. Cochran's twenty-eighth year in the School Board.

The Drs. Galvin received large bouquets during the evening from admiring friends.

nor is very much tickled over the way things have gone.

President Roosevelt evidently believes Bradley was not given the consideration due him by the last Administration, and it is understood will consult him hereafter about all matters pertaining to the State.

Boreing Has a Lucky Stone.

Representative Boreing seems to have obtained more out of the appointments than any other particular State leader. Mr. Craft was his original selection for the position, and his fight has been well managed from start to finish. Mr. Craft has affiliated with the Republicans since 1895.

Politics aside the appointment of Craft to the collectorship cannot be but satisfactory to the interests of the people of the Fifth district. Mr. Craft is a lawyer and business man of ability. He was born in Whitesburg, Letcher county, about forty-five years ago. In 1875 he removed to London, remaining there until 1889 when he removed to Louisville, where he has since resided.

Craft a Civil Service Man.

To the Courier-Journal correspondent Mr. Craft said to-night: "It is my purpose to conduct the office on business principles and absolutely free from politics. I am a civil service man and believe if we had more of it the country would not suffer."

Mr. George W. Lieberth, who succeeds Mr. Comingore, has been a leader of Campbell county politics for a number of years. He has been a member of the State Central Committee for four or five years, and has also been secretary of the Campaign Committee. Two years ago he accepted a position under Judge Holt in Porto Rico, but shortly afterward resigned to re-enter State politics. He has had considerable experience in internal revenue matters.

Collier Now Has Good Chance.

There is much speculation to-night among Kentucky Republicans as to the effect of to-day's appointments upon the future status of Republican politics in the State. From what can be learned former Gov. Bradley made no reference to the President about the Louisville surveyorship, but it is taken for granted that he will make a fight for Dan Collier, though with what result it is too early to state. Another report going the rounds is that National Committeeman Yerkes will have opposition for re-election to the National Committee, and also that Representative Irwin will not get the nomination for Congress next summer without a fight. Several prominent figures in Kentucky Republican politics said to-night that they would oppose both Irwin and Yerkes for re-election to the respective positions they now hold.

Warriors Are Homeward Bound.

With the exception of Representative Boreing and Collector J. A. Craft, of Louisville, the Kentucky Republicans started homeward to-night. Among the number was Pension Agent Leslie Combs, who met with an accident, breaking his knee cap yesterday. It will probably be necessary to have an operation performed when he arrives in Louisville to-morrow. Collector Craft will remain here until to-morrow night to make arrangements for his bond. He will probably be sworn in early next week.

EXAMINING ZINC LANDS.

H. Clay Evans and Other Capitalists Make Investigations In Tennessee.

Knoxville, Tenn., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—Pension Commissioner H. Clay Evans of Washington; C. W. Adams, of Chattanooga, and C. T. Baldwin, of Cleveland, O., formed a party to examine a large tract of zinc lands near here to-morrow. They, with others, have options on the property, and Mr. Evans says if it proves what they expect operations will begin very soon and much will be expended.

Regarding his office, Mr. Evans said he had every reason to expect his reappointment, notwithstanding the fight on him. He said he had lost but two days from his office in several months, while other officials were away resting. He seems to stand in favor with the new Administration.

ADMITTED TO THE BAR.

Former President Harrison's Son Is Now a Lawyer.

Indianapolis, Nov. 12.—Col. Russell B. Harrison, son of former President Benjamin Harrison, was to-day admitted to practice law in the County, State, Supreme and Federal courts, on the motion of former United States Attorney General W. H. H. Miller, former law partner of former President Harrison, and State Attorney General Taylor.

Col. Harrison will open a law office in Indianapolis, and it is rumored that his associate will be Prof. Ingler, dean of the Indianapolis College of Law.

WEDNESDAY........NOV. 13, 1901

"Business."

Tuesday Evening, Nov. 12.—Heavy realizing for profits caused sharp recessions in the stock market this afternoon, bringing it back to about the level of Saturday's close. The opening was strong, and with great activity the market was worked up to a high level, especially in Union Pacific, the traction and coal stocks. Later there was an advance in call money to 5 per cent. and rumors of gold exports, which caused traders to sell the market, making an active and weak closing. Money was 3¼@5 per cent. on call, closing at 4½. Sterling exchange was firmer. Government bonds were steady, and railroad issues irregular.

The grain markets were all easier. Receipts of wheat were heavy, and the price closed at a loss of 1⅛@1¼c. Corn declined 1½@1⅝c, and oats ¼@⅜c. Provisions were easier, 2½@5c down. Cotton showed a better undertone, and futures made an advance, while the spot markets were steady.

Cattle in Chicago were steady. Hogs were 10@15c lower. Sheep were 30@40c depressed, and lambs dropped 40@50c.

Britain's Unrelenting Determination.

The speech of Lord Salisbury last Saturday in its allusions to the South African war was thoroughly British. The unyielding Anglo-Saxon character was reflected in every word he uttered. The following quotation from the cabled report of his speech well illustrates this national characteristic:

"The effect which the British empire will exercise over the destinies of the world, and the position it will occupy in the commonwealth of nations, will not be decided merely by passion or enthusiasm. A far more precious and more effective quality was that of dogged determination that no discouragement, no passing inconvenience, should deter them for a moment from carrying out steadily, lengthily and doggedly the policy which they believed to be the policy of the empire."

Mr. Taine, author of the famous history of English literature, would have found no better example of that unyielding British determination he so much admired than in this address of England's Prime Minister. No matter what the difficulty in the way, Great Britain is not to be severed from her settled policy in South Africa, as Lord Salisbury plainly gives the English malcontents to understand. He believes, and the nation believes, that to abandon the Transvaal would be fatal to England's prestige, not only in South Africa, but everyhere, and so the war is to be pushed, at no matter what cost of blood and treasure. The Prime Minister argues that steady progress has been made in the war, and as full reports are not given his statement cannot be disproved. The word of such a man, too, ought to be accepted against the rumors of the opposition. He called attention to the fact that the character of the war had not been properly taken into consideration when alluding to its duration. A guerrilla warfare in such a country and waged by such a people as the Boers must naturally be a long and bitter one. There have been any number of precedents in such struggles, and all have been long and bloody, though few or none have succeeded.

A recent contributor to the New York Sun referred to the attempts made by several of Gen. Lee's subordinates to induce him to wage a guerrilla warfare after it had become evident the struggle was hopeless. Gen. Lee, according to this writer, promptly rejected the suggestion, saying the South was inhabited by Christian people and should submit like Christians to overwhelming power. The wisdom of such a decision no one will question, and it would have been far better had Mr. Kruger and Mr. Steyn recognized the inevitable end as did this greater American. When the end does come Lord Salisbury promises all that can be asked, as the following from his speech clearly says:

"The position of the Government had not changed. It desired nothing better than bringing back these territories to the blessings of the British empire that they should enjoy immediately peace, freedom and civil rights, and, within the earliest opportunity which circumstances and time might permit, they should enjoy the other blessings of self-government, which are enjoyed by all the British self-governing colonies."

If there were any good in keeping up the terrible struggle Gen. Botha is making, his determination might be applauded, but bravery without discretion is a curse to the unhappy Boers. A guerrilla warfare may be kept up for months and years, but that Lord Salisbury voices the feeling of the British people in his declaration that it will be pushed to the end, there can be no doubt. It is a sad and pitiful story, but no outside nation can interfere, and the slow process of extermination must go on until, in Gen. Kitchener's terribly expressive phrase, the "rebellion is burned out."

The Cost of Living.

Dun's Review gives some interesting comparisons between the present cost of the necessaries of life and that of a year ago and also that on July 1, 1897. The figures, of course, show a continual increase of the cost of living, for it requires no calculation to tell us that. The details, however, are such as can only be reached by elaborate research. This table gives the result, with allowance for the relative importance of the different articles that make up the several classes:

	Nov. 1, 1091.	Nov. 1, 1900.	July 1, 1897.
Meats	8,929	8,669	7,329
Dairy and garden	13,622	12,383	8,714
Other food	9,157	9,640	7,887
Clothing	15,342	16,012	13,868
Metals	15,876	15,077	11,642
Miscellaneous	16,977	15,663	12,288
Total	$97,743	$91,297	$72,455

Translating these figures into the language of every-day life and omitting fractions, they mean that the necessaries of life that could have been had July 1, 1897, for 72 cents cost 91 cents on November 1, 1900, and 97 cents November 1, 1901. Differently stated, the cost of living is one-third higher than in 1897 and about 7 per cent. higher than a year ago.

It will be seen from an examination of the table that the advance in price has been by no means uniform in the different classes of commodities which go to make up the necessaries of life. Much the largest positive advance has been on breadstuffs, though the relative advance on the products of the garden and dairy is not so much less. These articles are much affected as to price by the state of the crops at home as modifying the supply and abroad as regulating the demands. The advance in meats for the last twelve months is small, but for the five years very considerable. Clothing is somewhat cheaper than it was a year ago, but much higher than in 1897. In metals the advance has been continuous, though the greater part of it was prior to November 1, 1900. It is known that some metals are cheaper than they were a year ago, but the table professes to give the average of those in general use in the degree of their importance. The footings show the average for all commodities at the three periods mentioned. The general deduction is that a dollar at present buys the same objects of common human desire that could have been had for seventy-five cents in July 1, 1897.

People who are making a great deal more money than they were four years ago may find the increase in the cost of living of no moment to them. Those who work for wages and whose compensation has been increased one-third have quite held their own, and if they save a fixed percentage of their wages, are saving more now than then. But those whose wages have been increased but 10 or 20 per cent. are not getting as much in real wages as they did in 1897. It is well known, too, that a great many persons are receiving precisely the same pay now that they did in 1897, with the result that the purchasing power of their wages has shrunk one-fourth.

Very few persons, comparatively speaking, are getting a third more wages than they were four years ago. Why then is it said that times are prosperous? The basis of the claim is that the number of the unemployed has been greatly reduced, employment is more regular and continuous, many advances have been made in wages, the aggregate of the earnings of labor is greater, which swells the volume of business; to which must be added that the producers of the necessaries of life are getting more money and have more money to expend for whatever they desire to buy. All this contributes to general business activity, but by no means militates against the position that the wage-earner who has had continuous employment in good times and bad is not so well off now, as a rule, as he was four years ago, for the reason that his wages do not buy so much.

A Critic Off the Track.

El Tiempo, a newspaper of the City of Mexico, thinks it has discovered that the American Union is the thing signified by that image which Nebuchadnezzar saw in a vision and which Daniel recalled and interpreted for him. Our Mexican contemporary does not follow literally the description in the second chapter of Daniel, but the resemblance is too great to suppose the reference is to any other "monster."

If the editor of the esteemed Tiempo had overhauled the Book of Daniel and made a note of it, he would have found that the different parts of the image referred to different kingdoms. The head of gold was that of Nebuchadnezzar himself. The breast and arms of silver represented a second and inferior kingdom, and so on down to the feet of iron and clay, mixed, which referred to a kingdom divided, partly strong and partly broken. This prophecy has been variously interpreted, but it is manifest that the whole image will not apply to any one country. The iron and clay, denoting elements of both strength and weakness, might be applied to a good many countries, if not to all.

But El Tiempo, dropping the imagery, proceeds to attack the United States for the alleged race hatred which prevails here. It is evident that the writer does not understand the subject at all, but infers race hatred from the irregular punishment of crime, which, however reprehensible, is not confined to any race, and from the drawing of a color line. Now race hatred often exists without any difference of color, or serious divergence in blood. The history of the world is full of examples of that.

But touching the color line, it is clear that the people of the United States have dealt with the race question far more wisely than have the Spanish-American countries. The mixing of the races there has gone on to a degree never approached in the United States, with the result that a large proportion of the population is of mixed Caucasian and negro blood, or mixed Caucasian and Indian, or of all three. The deterioration that has resulted from this intermixture of blood cannot be denied, and, indeed, it is often frankly confessed. Nor is pride of blood extinct among the people of those countries. Those of pure Spanish blood are proud of their extraction, and in many countries contrive to maintain themselves as the ruling caste. The experience of Spanish-American countries is a perpetual argument against the indiscriminate mixture of races essentially distinct, and demonstrates that what is called the color line is based on something else than mere prejudice.

The Hopkins County Situation.

The situation in the mining district of Hopkins and Webster counties is of the gravest possible nature. The spectacle of camps of armed men locating near the mines and making periodic attacks is a threat to the general peace, and it is not surprising that it has led to the removal from those counties of many of their best citizens and property-holders. If a constant war is to be waged upon the miners who prefer to work outside of the union organization, there is danger to the life and property of all and no one can tell the extent to which it may go.

One of the ugliest features of the whole ugly matter is the fact that such large bodies of armed men can be maintained in the camps. If these men were simply strikers their means would have long ago been exhausted and they would have been forced to give up the fight to unionize the mines. The fact that they have carried on so long a campaign suggests that outside money is being furnished to keep up the fight. The charge has been made that Indiana coal operators have been contributing to the camps in order to cripple the competition of the Kentucky mines. Obviously this has added to the strained feeling existing between the Kentucky operators and the strikers.

The law ought to be enforced in Hopkins county. The presence of armed bodies of men who are not regularly enrolled in the service of the State or county authorities is of such a threatening nature that it cannot be ignored with safety to the public peace. In the meantime the whole State is suffering from the obloquy.

A State Bar Association.

The proposition for the organization of a State Bar Association in this city on November 19 is one which deserves encouragement.

The effort to effect such an organization is being made by the Covington Bar Association and the Louisville Bar Association, with promises of co-operation by the lawyers of Paducah and other cities of Kentucky. There is every indication that the meeting on the 19th will be well attended, and that the interest will be such as to insure the success of the movement.

Both the bar and the bench of Kentucky would certainly be benefitted by an organization which had for its object the raising of the standard of admission to the bar, the elevation of the practice and the reform of our laws. Such organizations have flourished for more than twenty years in Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, New York, Massachusetts and elsewhere in the United States, and there is no reason why Kentucky should prove an exception.

The Judiciary Committee of the Georgia House of Delegates, it is said, has decided to report favorably a bill providing that it shall be a misdemeanor to charge more than 25 per cent. on any loan. The trouble with such a law is that people who are willing to pay such a rate of interest have neither collateral nor security to offer, and the usurer who advances money to them does so at a risk for which he makes his extortionate charges. It is not necessary to go to the South to find such oppressed borrowers. The Duke of Manchester was forced to pay £75 for a copy of the Bible in negotiating a £200 loan. The usurer is to be found wherever there is improvidence, and no legislation can suppress him.

Evidence continues to accumulate pointing to the probability that about the only material reduction of taxation on the "necessaries of life" which the Republicans of the incoming Congress will make will be on beer.

A New Orleans contemporary says the Republican party of Mississippi is badly split. Is this a case of hair-splitting?

BOLD THIEVES

NITRO-GLYCERINE IS USED.

VAULT DOOR BLOWN OFF AND $300 SECURED.

SAFE WITHSTANDS EXPLOSION

Robbers Then Steal a Handcar and Make Their Escape, Leaving No Clew.

MINERS ARE ON TRIAL.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—Robbers at 1 o'clock this morning blew open the doors of the vault in the Bank of Trenton, at Trenton, Todd county, twenty miles south of this city, and stole $300 of Government money in the deposit box of Postmaster Martin. They made an unsuccessful effort to force the safe. The thieves escaped on a hand car on the Louisville and Nashville railroad. About 7 o'clock this morning while officials of the bank and several citizens were examining the work of the thieves, a charge of nitro-glycerine which had been left in a hole in the safe door exploded. Six men were knocked down and severely shocked, and two were badly injured.

* * *

Heard a Noise.

At 1 o'clock three young men who room in a building opposite the bank, which is on Main street, heard three muffled explosions. They did not think it worth while to investigate the source of the noise.

About 6 o'clock when Wright & Martin's blacksmith shop was opened and various tools were missing and when it was reported that a hand car and several crowbars were gone from the Louisville and Nashville sheds, it was feared there had been a big robbery, and in a short time it was discovered that the bank had been entered. The lock on the front door had been prized off.

Door of Vault Yields.

Three holes were bored in the door of the vault and it readily yielded to the nitro-glycerine. The deposit box of the post-office was broken open and its cash contents, $300, were appropriated. Stamps worth several hundred dollars were left in the box. The thieves bored six holes in the door of the safe, which contained several thousand dollars of the bank's money, but while heavy charges of nitro-glycerine were used it could not be blown open. It is not known what direction the robbers took when they rode out of town on the hand car.

SIX WITNESSES TESTIFY.

Examining Trial of Miners Charged With Murder May Consume Several Days.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—The examining trial of the five Empire strikers charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriff Coffey will probably consume the entire week. The prosecution has twenty witnesses and the defense over thirty. Only six have been examined, though court did not adjourn until 5 o'clock this afternoon. The session to-morrow morning will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

Deputy Sheriff Barnes was the first witness to-day. He said he had, shortly after the first shooting on October 26, arrested Will Goldsworthy, whom he found armed and going toward Mannington. Goldsworthy had denied being in the attacking party, but said he knew all about it. Barnes told of Jim Will Anderson's arrest. He had compared the latter's shoes with tracks in a corn field between the scene of murder and Anderson's home and found they fit exactly. Tracks were made by a man who was running.

John Fields testified he heard the firing near the tipple on the morning of the murder. He said two men armed with guns were standing behind trees one hundred yards away. One was Anderson. The men fired at him and Charles Johnson. He returned the fire. On cross-examination Fields stated he fired the first shot at the two men. Charles Johnson corroborated Fields' testimony. He also recognized Anderson. On cross-examination Johnson said he thought Anderson, not Fields, fired first.

Deputy George Lander told of finding Anderson near his home, a half or three-quarters of an hour after the shooting. He seemed hot and excited and wore no coat, though it was a cold morning. He heard Fields accuse Anderson of shooting at Fields, and when cross-examined the witness said that when Fields first saw Anderson he said to Lander: "If that's the man he's changed up," referring to the one who did the shooting near the tipple.

Dr. G. J. Gooch testified in reference to the nature of Mr. Coffey's wounds. The defense claims it will establish alibis for the prisoners.

SHOOTING IN LETCHER.

Fugitive When Pursued By a Posse Surrenders To Whitesburg Jailer.

Whitesburg, Ky., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—On Smoot creek, in the southern part of Letcher county, ten miles from Whitesburg, "Hade" Whittaker, a young man, shot and instantly killed Preston Banks, aged twenty-two years. The murder occurred at Banks' home and was caused by a trivial matter. Whittaker then fled to the hills. A posse soon started in pursuit, and early last night Whittaker was found on Big Branch creek, ten miles west of this city. Several shots were exchanged, and in the melee Whittaker received dangerous wounds. In spite of his wounds, Whittaker started on a run for Whitesburg, and at 2 o'clock this morning Jailer Adams was awakened, the key to the county jail was demanded, and Whittaker was placed therein.

FUGITIVE IS CAPTURED.

Hiram McCurry, Who Escaped From Pineville Jail, Run To Earth.

Pineville, Ky., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—Hiram McCurry, who escaped from the jail last night, was caught this morning about fifteen miles from Pineville by John Watkins and Robert Vanbevers. Some one saw him on the track of the Log Mountain railroad and the men got a railroad bicycle and pursued him, nearly running over him as they rounded a curve. He started to run, but was quickly overtaken by his pursuers. He was shackled and brought to town and lodged in jail. A reward of $125 was placed in the hands of the Deputy United States Marshal for his capture not two hours after his escape by friends of Manning, whom he is charged with killing about the middle of last July.

KILLED ON THE STREET.

Williamsburg Man Shot Down From the Rear.

Williamsburg, Ky., Nov. 12.—Lee Smith, a young man about thirty years of age, was shot and killed near the Louisville and Nashville depot here last night about 7:30 o'clock. He lived about an hour after being shot. Giles Carroll is under arrest and in jail charged with the murder. The shots which caused Smith's death were fired from behind the victim.

Carroll was seen running from the scene when the shooting occurred. After going a short distance he turned and ran back the other way, entering a store very warm and appeared to be very much excited. He and Smith had had a quarrel in the afternoon.

MYSTERIOUS MAN DISAPPEARS.

Suspected of Being Implicated In Montana Train Robbery.

Scottsville, Ky., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—An intelligent looking man with a scar on his face and two gunshot wounds on his person spent four nights with J. H. Johnson, in the eastern part of this county. Last night he mysteriously disappeared. He had a heavy grip full of tools, supposed to be a burglar's outfit. He claimed to be a detective. He exhibited two checks, one was drawn by Warren Neely & Co., in Nashville, on the Allen County Bank. The bank officials pronounced him a fraud and officers are on the lookout for him. He answers the description of one of the Montana train robbers.

Sterling last week to prevent a mob from hanging him, was brought back to-night and will be given a hearing to-morrow. A SUICIDE CIRCLE IN SECOND INFANTRY?

Two Attempts Made By Men At Fort Thomas Give Rise To This Belief.

Cincinnati, Nov. 12.—[Special.]—George Atkins, a soldier at Ft. Thomas, Ky., member of Company B, Second infantry, attempted to commit suicide last night in a Cincinnati resort. To-night at the fort Michael Seymour, a member of the same company, attempted to kill himself. Each man slashed his throat badly and both are in a bad way. Seymour may not live, but Atkins is likely to recover. Seymour enlisted two years ago in Louisville.

The two would-be suicides left the fort together last Saturday morning with a goodly supply of money, as Friday was pay day. Nothing was heard of the men at the fort until the hospital in Cincinnati notified the officers in charge that Atkins had tried to end his life. Yesterday morning Seymour appeared at the fort, but gave no explanation of his absence, and showed no surprise when told of his companion's act. To-night he was found with his throat cut from ear to ear. The belief is that the men had entered into a pact to commit suicide, and when Seymour learned of Atkins' attempt he set about to abide by his agreement. There may be others in the suicide circle, if such a circle there is. At any rate that is the prevailing opinion.

The stomach and other organs were taken from the body and after an investigation of several days Dr. Krauss reported to the grand jury to-night that enough ground glass and arsenic were found in the organs to cause death. The Coroner's jury returned a verdict that deceased had come to his death at the hands of a person or persons unknown. The affair has created a local sensation.

FOR ASSAULTING WOMAN.

Negro On Trial In Criminal Court In Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—The trial of Logan Reams, colored, charged with criminal assault on Mrs. Jennie Sampson, wife of Constable Sampson, of Williamson county, was taken up in the Criminal Court to-day on a change of venue. The crime with which the negro is charged was committed on September 5, 1900. He was arrested soon after the alarm was given by Mrs. Sampson, but a mob took him away from the officer and shot him almost to death. In fact, he was left for dead in a cornfield.

After the mob left him he crawled away, but was discovered by members of the mob, and they were preparing to finish him, when officers came upon the scene, took the negro in charge and brought him to Nashville.

"Man's Enemy" is being well received at the Avenue. The coming of Ward and Vokes has been announced for next week.

Valuable Discovery At Lytle, Ga., Near Chattanooga.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 12.—At Lytle, Ga., twelve miles from this city, in the vicinity of Chickamauga National Park, and 150 feet from Chickamauga river, a rich salt mine has been discovered. While J. A. Benshaw, working under the supervision of B. B. Wood, was boring for water, at a depth of 210 feet, water strongly impregnated with salt came rushing out of the well. One-half gallon of the water was boiled and the result was one and one-half pounds of fine salt.

The find is on the farm of Richard Hagwell, the Postmaster and merchant at Lytle. Several offers have already been made for the property, but Mr. Bagwell declines to sell. Steps have already been taken to develop the property, which is considered as good as a gold mine.

In addition to the construction and maintenance of the Mobile and New Orleans plants, the Gulf Coast Company has the power, under its charter, to establish and operate wharves for commercial purposes, and to construct and operate furnaces, mills and manufactories, to charter, buy and sell and operate ships; to establish, equip and operate coal depots and coaling stations, and to buy and sell coal and other minerals. The securing of a large portion of the ship repairing and docking business in New Orleans is aimed at, and it is pointed out that the construction of an Isthmian canal is reckoned upon as a probability.

At the present time the nearest shipbuilding or docking plant to the Gulf is at Newport News.

COMPLETED

Arrangements Made For Grainger's Inauguration.

NEXT TUESDAY AT NOON

JUDGE FIELD WILL ADMINISTER THE OATH.

THE RACE FOR PATRONAGE.

William Kaye Will Be the Secretary of Board of Public Works.

DYLER PICKED AS A WINNER.

Mayor-elect Charles F. Grainger will be inaugurated at 12 o'clock next Tuesday in the Council chamber at the City Hall. Judge Emmet Field, of the Circuit Court, will administer the oath of office. It is expected that a big assemblage will be present to witness the inaugural ceremonies.

To-morrow Mr. Grainger will leave for a hunting trip in the country, near Worthington, on the Henderson route. He will be accompanied by Mr. Harry Weissinger and a party of other friends, and they will go in the special car of President Attilla Cox.

To a Courier-Journal reporter last night Mr. Grainger said:

"I had made up my mind to announce the names of the members of the Executive Boards on Thursday before I left the city, but I do not know that I will do so. It is very probable however, that I will."

* * *

Tips Still Go.

While efforts are being made by some persons to prevent the appointment of one man mentioned as a probable member of one of the boards, it is still the belief that Messrs. John H. Weller, John W. Vreeland and John or Laban Phelps will compose the Board of Public Works, and Harry M. Brennan, Ed Tierney and R. Lee Suter the Board of Public Safety. There is said to be some doubt as to whether Mr. John Phelps would accept a place on either of the boards. If he should decide not to take the place it is the belief that Mr. Laban Phelps, another brother of the late Zach Phelps, will be appointed.

* * *

The Mayor's Secretary.

It is learned from a trustworthy source that Mr. Thomas Craig, now Secretary of the Board of Public Works, will be Mr. Grainger's private secretary. Mr. William Kaye, a brother-in-law of the late Zach Phelps, will be the Secretary of the Board of Public Works to succeed Mr. Craig.

* * *

Dyler Gains Ground.

It is the general belief among politicians that John Dyler will be appointed Superintendent of the Workhouse to succeed I. N. Vetter. Mr. Dyler's friends are active and they are leaving nothing undone that will be of benefit to their favorite. Numerous men are said to be after the Controllership, and the fight for the office is as interesting as any that has developed. Both John H. Hancock and Charles Meriwether are applicants for the place, but it is said that they are not the only ones by any means.

* * *

After Dad Price's Scalp.

The Mose Green Club is after the scalp of W. H. Price, Secretary of the Police Department, because Mr. Price left the club. John Buechel, secretary of the club, is being indorsed for Mr. Price's place. Mr. Price has been a painstaking and competent official, and it is not believed he is in danger.

ALL THE DIRECTORS HAVE BEEN SELECTED.

Hill and Harriman Interests Reach An Agreement Regarding the Burlington.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—The Tribune will say to-morrow regarding the meeting of the stockholders of the Burlington road on Thursday:

It is understood that all the eleven directors have been agreed upon by the Hill and Harriman interests. It can be stated that three of the new directors will represent the Harriman interests, one the Rockefellers, one the Vanderbilts and the rest will be on the Hill side. It is also stated that there will be no change in the management of the Burlington for the present, except that Darius Miller will be elected second vice president to fill a vacancy, and he will be the traffic director of the Hill roads, with headquarters at Chicago. The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Company, the Missouri lines of the Burlington, and the Burlington and Missouri river railroad in Nebraska will be leased to the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Company, which will operate all the Burlington lines.

Callahan and Lenny Draw.

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 12.—Tim Callahan, of Philadelphia, and Ed Lenny, of Chester, Pa., under the auspices of the Savannah Athletic Club, to-night fought to a draw in twenty fast and clever rounds. The men were to go on at 125 pounds. Lenny weighed in promptly, but Callahan refused to weigh in at the hour named. Lenny waived his right to claim forfeit and went on with the understanding that if both men were on their feet at the end of twenty rounds it should be a draw; in other words, Callahan must knock him out to win. Lenny lasted through in good shape, and the purse was split even.

NEW ONE IN.

The Democratic General Council Organizes.

CAUCUS NOMINEES ELECTED

MAYOR WEAVER SENDS A CONGRATULATORY MESSAGE.

FIRST ORDINANCE IS UP.

Restores Salaries That Were Cut Under the Retiring Republican Council.

ASSESSOR MURPHY AGAIN.

Louisville's new Democratic Council was inducted into office at the City Hall last night under circumstances which will be long remembered by the thirty-six men who swore to uphold the laws of the city and State, and by the five hundred men, friends, who occupied the galleries and aisles. It was an inspiring scene and one which caused every visitor present to congratulate himself that he by his vote had assisted in placing such a representative body of men in charge of the legislative department of the city.

The two chambers of the big building were crowded with admiring friends who came to watch the ceremonies, but many who were unable to be present sent congratulations in the shape of pretty floral designs, potted plants and bushels of roses. When the new boards were called to order nearly every member found a handsome bouquet on his desk, and there were numerous large and handsome designs made of American beauties and chrysanthemums scattered about the rooms. Councilman Greer received one of the prettiest designs. It was a large wire chair covered entirely with roses, ferns and lilies. Council Schwartz received the most unique present of all. It was a large rooster, and no sooner had it been set on his desk than it emitted a loud Democratic yell which set the house in an uproar.

The Board of Aldermen was organized by the election of Mr. Harry Weissinger as President, and Mr. David W. Parkhill as clerk. Mr. Upton W. Muir was elected President of the Board of Councilmen and Mr. Charles C. Martin clerk. Mr. Parkhill was presented with a handsome writing outfit by Capt. W. F. Norton. It was made of cut glass and buck's horn.

A number of speeches were made by various members in nominating officers, and the successful candidates also made speeches of acceptance. Each man who spoke promised to serve the city to the best of his ability, and the crowd gave them encouragement by repeated cheers. Mayor Weaver greeted the new boards with a short message, in which he extended congratulations. Mr. Weaver said:

Permit me to extend to you and through your honorable body to the entire ticket elected with you on Tuesday, November 5 last, as well as the citizens of Louisville generally, my sincere congratulations upon your overwhelming victory at the polls.

I am fortunate in enjoying the acquaintance and friendship of a large majority of your members, and from my personal knowledge of their business capacity, public spirit and probity, coupled with the splendid reputation borne by others of you, with whom circumstances have denied me the opportunity for such aggreeable association, I do not hesitate to predict and bespeak a successful two years' service for the city at the hands of its General Council.

In my last annual message, the manuscript of which is now with the printer and which I hope to have upon your desks by the time of your next meeting, are a number of suggestions regarding matters of municipal importance, begotten of my experience as Mayor and prompted by motives of public good, to which your attention is especially invited and urged.

With sentiments of the highest appreciation, I am, very respectfully,

CHARLES P. WEAVER, Mayor.

The first actual business of the boards after they organized was to go into joint session and elect a City Assessor. The name of Mr. D. F. Murphy was the only one presented, and he was unanimously chosen.

Mr. Samuel Blitz introduced the first ordinance, which restores to their original figures the salaries of those city officials which were reduced by the Republican Council. There will be a meeting to-night, when this ordinance will come up for consideration, but no business will be transacted until after the standing committees are named, which will be next week.

The Republican Council did nothing last night before retiring except to assemble and "jolly" each other about the good work that had been done by them while in office. Mayor Weaver sent back to them the prize fight ordinance which was passed at the last meeting with his veto attached, but they were in such a hurry to adjourn that it was not even called up, and as the ordinance was not passed over his head, the veto stands.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Mr. Weissinger Makes Speech On Taking President's Chair.

The Board of Aldermen was called to order at 8 o'clock by President Reed with seven members present. The minutes of the previous meeting were read, approved and signed. Mr. Reed made a short speech in which he said that as president he had endeavored to treat each member in a fair and impartial manner; had filled the office of president to the best of his ability and had tried to serve the best interests of the city. He told the retiring members that he would always be glad to meet them and shake their hands as a friend. Mr. Colston moved to adjourn, but before the motion was put the certificates of election of the new members were filed. The board then adjourned.

Clerk Davis called the new board to order. All members were not present, and on motion a recess was taken to allow them to assemble. When the board was again called to order all answered present.

Judge Shackelford Miller administered the oath of office to the members while they stood with raised hands. The clerk called for nominations for President. Mr. Paul C. Barth nominated Mr. Harry Weissinger. He praised Mr. Weissinger highly, saying that he was eminently fitted to occupy the position, was fair and honest in his dealings and no man could serve the board better. Mr. James J. Fitzgerald seconded the nomination, also making a short speech, in which he praised Mr. Weissinger, and said the board would be honored by having such a man to preside over its destinies. Mr. Weissinger was unanimously elected and Messrs. Barth and Fitzgerald were appointed a committee to escort him to the chair.

In taking the gavel, Mr. Weissinger said that he appreciated the honor that had been conferred on him by his colleagues and would endeavor to show his appreciation of it by doing his duty as he saw it. He said that he and the entire board would seek to serve the best interests of the city, and when they retired from office he wanted each man to feel that he had done his whole duty.

Mr. Weissinger then declared nominations for clerk in order. Mr. Abner Harris nominated Mr. David W. Parkhill in a short speech. Col. H. S. Cohn moved the nominations be closed, and Mr. Parkhill was unanimously elected. In the absence of Judge Miller from the room, Mr. John H. Page, the Circuit Clerk, administered the oath of office to Mr. Parkhill. Dr. Gilbert nominated Gilbert Coder and John Thwaits for pages of the board, and they were elected without opposition.

Messrs. Barth and Harris were appointed a committee to wait on the lower board that the upper board was organized and ready for business. On motion of Col. Cohn the rules governing the retiring board were adopted until new ones can be prepared.

Dr. Gilbert stated that a sergeant-at-arms had not been elected. Mr. Barth said it was not customary for a Democratic Council to have a sergeant-at-arms, and if the services of such a man became necessary they could call upon the Chief of Police for an officer. None was elected.

A resolution calling for a joint session to elect a City Assessor was adopted. Mr. Weissinger called Mr. Fitzgerald to the chair, and the board took a recess for a few minutes.

The question of selecting a permanent meeting night was brought up by Mr. Fitzgerald. Mr. Cohn offered a resolution to adjourn until next Tuesday night, but he later withdrew it when it was learned that the lower board wanted to adjourn until to-night. The selection of a permanent meeting night caused considerable discussion, as d'd the adjournment until to-night, both Messrs. Url and Cohn speaking against to-night's meeting, saying that they did not believe in rushing matters. Besides no business should be transacted until the standing committees were named. However, the resolution to adjourn until to-night prevailed by a vote of eight to four.

The board then took a recess for the joint session, and immediately on reconvening it adjourned until to-night.

OLD OUT—NEW IN.

Board of Councilmen Organize and Elects Caucus Nominees.

The retiring Board of Councilmen was called to order at 8 o'clock last night by President Stern with twelve members present. Mr. Meriwether offered prayer. He asked for divine blessing on the retiring and incoming boards; asked that all the newly elected officers of the city and county be guided in their duties by the kind hand of Providence and that all do that which was best for the city's interests.

A resolution of thanks to President Stern was offered and adopted by the entire membership present. Mr. Stern made a short speech, in which he thanked the members for the many courtesies extended him during the two years as president. He said the Republican Council had made a record of which it might, indeed, feel proud; that it had passed more ordinances than any previous council and had looked after the city's interests to the best of its ability.

The minutes of the previous meeting were then read, but on account of a quorum not being present they were not approved and signed. Messrs. Meriwether and Shepard made a few remarks with reference to the work of the board, and on motion of Mr. Blakey the board adjourned without date. The old council then filed out and the new came in.

At 8:30 o'clock Clerk Harlan called the new board to order, with all members present except Mr. Alvah L. Terry, who is in New York. Judge Shackelford Miller administered the oath of office to the members, who remained standing during the ceremonies with their right hands raised.

Mr. Harlan called for nominations for president of the board. Mr. Samuel Blitz nominated Mr. Upton W. Muir. There were no other nominations and he was unanimously chosen for the first year. Messrs. Blitz and Cook were appointed a committee to escort him to the chair. On taking the gavel Mr. Muir thanked the board for the honor it had conferred on him. He said that he would endeavor to discharge his duties in a fair and impartial manner and hoped that all would work together for the best interests of the city. He said that the Democratic newspapers had characterized the present General Council as being composed of the best men ever nominated for these offices and it now remained for them to "make good." He was warmly applauded when he concluded.

Mr. Muir's first official act was to appoint Mr. Harlan temporary clerk until an election for clerk was held.

Messrs. Paul C. Barth and Abner Harris, a committee from the Aldermen, were recognized and reported that the board had organized and was ready for business.

Mr. Muir called for nominations for clerk. Mr. Augustus J. Bizot nominated Mr. Charles C. Martin. The nomination was seconded by Mr. Blitz. There being no other nominations Mr. Martin was unanimously elected. Judge Miller administered the oath of office and Mr. Martin thanked the board for his election.

Mr. Madison B. Beville nominated Robert Baldwin and Bernard Brunleve for pages, and they were elected without opposition. Messrs. C. C. Early and Frank Cook were appointed a committee to notify the Aldermen that the lower board had organized and was ready for business. Messrs. Samuel Blitz and Arthur Board were appointed a committee to notify the Mayor that the Council was ready for business.

A communication was received from the Mayor congratulating the members on their election, and stating that it was necessary to elect a City Assessor at this meeting.

On motion, the rules of the old board were adopted until new ones can be prepared. A resolution was adopted calling for a joint session of the two boards at 9:15 o'clock to elect a City Assessor.

Mr. Samuel Blitz offered the first ordinance of the meeting. It was an ordinance fixing the salaries of city employes for the ensuing two years. Mr. Blitz stated that the purpose of the ordinance was merely to restore the salaries of the officials to the original figures as they stood before the Republican Council made a reduction. He asked that it be referred to a special committee of three, Messrs. Blitz, Hummel and Miller were appointed on the committee, but after a short conference they asked for further time, which was extended them.

The new ordinance fixes the salaries as follows:

Mayor	$5,000

A resolution adjourning until 8 o'clock to-night was introduced and adopted. The board then took a recess for the joint session.

Mr. Weissinger, of the Board of Aldermen, called the joint session to order with thirty-five members present. He stated that the object of the session was to elect a City Assessor for the ensuing term of four years. Nominations were called for. Dr. Gilbert nominated Mr. D. F. Murphy. Nominations were closed and the vote was taken. Mr. Murphy was unanimously elected.

The joint session then adjourned. The Board of Councilman was called to order again and immediately thereafter adjourned until to-night.

RECIPROCITY WITH CANADA URGED BY BUSINESS MEN.

Boston, Nov. 12.—An important interview with President Roosevelt is to be held in Washington to-morrow by representatives of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and business men from various sections of the country in behalf of more intimate relations with Canada. The movement for reciprocal relations with Canada begun by the Chamber of Commerce has resulted in definite plans whereby the representatives shall give the Executive their views on the merits of the question. Secretary Long arranged the interview, and it is understood that the question is thus to be considered before President Roosevelt writes his message to Congress.

TO DEMONSTRATE THAT TEXAS LAWS DO NOT ANTAGONIZE CAPITAL

Houston, Tex., Nov. 12.—Under the auspices of the city of Houston and the commercial and industrial organizations of the city, a banquet was to-night tendered the Hon. William Kirby, who returned to Houston last night, after successfully financing the Houston Oil Company with a capital of $10,000,000 and the Kirby Lumber Company with a capital of $300,000. The banquet was to give evidence to the world that the laws of Texas are not antagonistic to large corporations when they are properly organized in conformity with the statutes. Both of the corporations named are chartered under the laws of Texas, which has had a reputation of hostility to organized capital. The lumber, oil and rice interests of the State and United States were represented largely among the guests, who included prominent growers, manufacturers, handlers and editors of trade journals devoted to the interests named. It was purely an industrial event, with no political tinge.

SECRET SESSION IS HELD.

MINE ORGANIZERS PRESENT.

THE FIGHT IN HOPKINS TO BE DISCUSSED.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—The Kentucky Federation of Labor began here to-day its annual State convention. The sessions will continue probably till Thursday. The meetings are held at Merrick Lodge building, and were to-day of a private nature for the purpose of organizing.

The presence of J. D. Wood, vice president of the association and the organizer in the Western Kentucky coal fields, where the mine operators have so tenaciously held the union men in check, has given rise to matters of importance to the coal mining interests of the State.

President Wood said: "We are satisfied with what we have done in the district. It will take time, but that we will win there is no shadow of doubt. Yes, I shall address the convention on to-morrow, stating to the members the situation in Hopkins county and vicinity. The fight there is costing us money and it is costing the mine operators money. They are bound to yield sooner or later, and I am convinced that it will not take long to get the mines into the union. I do not know whether the association will advise keeping up the fight, but I believe it will."

With President Wood from the vicinity of the mining troubles are the following delegates: W. J. Campbell, C. Barnaby, C. T. Wilson, E. T. Render, John Peters, George Baker, B. F. Green, J. H. Kennedy, Cam Smith, Ed Austin, G. B. Buckner, John Woody, W. M. Blakely, W. B. Kissinger, Dave Duncan and W. M. McKee. There is a large delegation here from Louisville, which it is expected will be increased to-morrow. President James McGill, of Louisville, is here and called the convention to order. Among the other Louisville delegates are James E. Roberts, L. J. Keiffer and Herman Christen.

DEMOCRATIC MEMBERS ADJOURNED QUICKLY.

Sinking Fund Commissioners Hold Formal Meeting—Will Try To Elect Wharfmaster To-day.

Mayor Weaver and Mr. F. Joseph Herrmann, the Democratic members of the Board of Sinking Fund Commissioners, met yesterday afternoon and immediately adjourned until to-day. The Republican members did not attend the meeting yesterday.

To-day the board will be Democratic by the election of Mr. Harry Weissinger as President of the Board of Aldermen.

An effort will be made at the meeting to-day to elect Mr. Harry Weaver Wharfmaster. His election is a matter of considerable doubt. If a Wharfmaster is not selected to-day none will be until after Mr. Grainger is a member of the board by virtue of his office as Mayor.

OPEN MEETING

WILL BE HELD BY COMMERCIAL CLUB DECEMBER 12.

Efforts To Be Made To Have the U. S. Engineer's Office Retained In Louisville.

The Board of Directors of the Commercial Club, at the meeting yesterday, appointed ten delegates to attend the Congress of Manufacturers, which convenes in Washington November 19 and continues for two days. The delegates are W. C. Nones, C. F. Huhlein, Louis H. Wymond, Frank A. Menne, George A. Newman, Owen Gathright, C. L. Hughes, Frank Querbacker, George A. Robinson and W. H. May. As many matters of importance to Louisville manufacturers will be discussed at this meeting, the club requests as many manufacturers as possible to attend as accredited representatives of the club. It wants to send a representative delegation from Louisville, and urges all manufacturers who wish to extend their trade to foreign shores to attend.

The directors also arranged to have a big open meeting at the Louisville Hotel on Tuesday, December 12. The programme for the occasion has not been arranged yet, but it will be an elaborate one. Matters of importance to the city's interests will come up for discussion and steps will doubtless be taken to bring to the attention of the Legislature, or rather the city's representatives, the class of legislation needed here. The club is interested in having needed changes made in the corporation laws and an abolition of the double liability clause, as well as other matters of considerable importance to the city. A number of good business addresses will be made by prominent business men at the meeting.

Mr. W. R. Belknap, former President of the club, addressed a letter to the directors urging them to take some action to have the United States Engineers' office retained here. Mr. Belknap impressed upon the directors the importance of this office to Louisville, and said that it should not be removed. The letter was referred to the City Ordinance and Resolutions Committee, and it will take immediate steps to see what can be done to retain the office.

A letter was received from the secretary of the Council of National Civil Service Reform stating that it had decided to ask all organized bodies interested in the improvement of the service and consular reform to send delegates to the annual convention in Boston, December 12 and 13, that all questions pertaining to these subjects might be freely and fully discussed. The club was asked to send two delegates, and the request will probably be complied with, though the letter was referred to the Committee on Public Policy.

The following new members were elected to the club: H. Besten, Austin Kimple, Robert W. Otter, E. L. Denhard, C. F. Snyder, Dr. J. W. Galvin, Wallace A. McKay, J. J. Reilly, C. V. Edmunds, A. Boldt, Jr., George C. Patton, L. M. Harris, W. P. Semple, J. T. Moore, Rev. Wilbur F. Sherdan, Herman V. Newcomb, Jas. F. Fairleigh, J. W. Reccius, Dr. George F. Simpson, W. M. Acuff, Graddy Cary, F. P. Struss, O. W. Pickrell, L. J. Irwin, Henry C. Walbeck, Eugene Adler, Rabbi H. G. Enelow, Jos. D. Felix, R. Y. Hardin, Thos. Syers, Theo. Weisenberger, J. J. Hettermann, Arthur M. Rutledge, Chas. DANGERS OF A COUGH.

Bronchitis.

A slight cough neglected for a few days generally results in Bronchitis, and in nine cases out of ten the sufferer continues to attend to his or her duties without a thought of danger. They are, however, daily breathing into these raw and inflamed air passages, the disease germs of consumption, and sooner or later some of these germs will find lodgement on the raw spots and begin to multiply. It requires but a few days for these germs to become firmly fixed in the lungs and then that dread disease, consumption, begins.

Thousands of lives are sacrificed yearly in this way, a little negligence and the deed is done.

Now that Government statistics and United States Health Reports have shown that consumption can be cured and prevented with Hyomei, every father and mother should see that this protection is given to their family.

Consumption.

One thing is certain, coughs and croup cannot exist where Hyomei is used, and if breathed daily it destroys the germs of catarrh, bronchitis and consumption completely.

Hyomei is sold by all druggists or sent by mail for the following prices: Hyomei Outfits, complete, $1.00. Trial Outfits 25c. Hyomei Balm 25c. Send for our book on Hyomei and five days' treatment free. It may save your life.

BOTH ARE READY FOR THE BATTLE

Jeffries and Ruhlin Doing Only Light Work For Their Mill.

THE FINISHING TOUCHES.

What the Sparring Partners of the Principals Have To Say of Their Chances.

RUHLIN GROWS IN FAVOR.

THE MEASUREMENTS.

Jeffries.		Ruhlin.

17½ in.	Neck	17 in.
49 in.	Chest	43¾ in.
36 in.	Waist	34 in.
24½ in.	Thigh	23¾ in.

Jeffries' fighting weight is about 210 pounds, and Ruhlin's about 190 pounds.

RULES FOR THE FIGHT.

It has been agreed that the men in a clinch shall break away at the order of the referee, and that they shall protect themselves in getting away. The referee, however, will interpret the rules so that the contest will not develop into a hugging match.

WITH but one more day remaining ere the call of time, Jeffries and Ruhlin are relaxing the strenuousness of their training, and taking life more easily. It is not good for heavy fellows to be worked hard during the last few hours, and both burlies will now put in their time exercising lightly, receiving friends and running or boxing just enough to keep the muscles right and the fat from creeping on. Both men will be in first-class shape, barring some unexpected accident, and two finer specimens of physical perfection will be hard to find in many a day's journey.

Betting on the mill is waking up a little. Ruhlin is getting a few admirers, and these are taking short bits of Jeffries money here and there. Not much wagering will be done, at that. When Billy Meyer and Jack McAuliffe fought at North Judson so many years ago they carried five times as much money as will be risked on the chances of the giant Gus and bulky James. There is something about the two heavy lads which stagnates enthusiasm, and a fight fan cannot bet freely unless he is enthusiastic one way or the other.

Thinks Ruhlin Will Win.

Here is what "Denver" Ed Martin, Ruhlin's sparring partner, says of Gus' chances: "If anyone can lick Jeffries it will be Ruhlin. I say this because of a knowledge of his last fight with the champion as compared with the way that I have seen him improve since I first sparred with him. I have been with Gus a year now, and I know that he is faster, stronger and more clever by far than I have ever seen him. I saw the fight that Gus put up against Maher last December in Philadelphia, and can stake my life that he is now twice as good at all-around work as he was at that time. Not only is he improved in the way that I have mentioned, but he has also become a better general, and understands more about the fine points of the game. It is because of these facts that I think Gus, who is at present in absolutely perfect condition, will prove a sure winner over Jeffries Friday night at Mechanics' Pavilion. There is one thing I am certain of, however, and that is, should Jeffries lick Gus he can then go down the line among the other big fellows like breaking sticks."

Jeffries a Better Man.

Bob Armstrong, Jeffries' sparring partner, says: "What do I think of Jeffries' chances? Why, say, I don't think there is anything to it. Jeff is big and strong, besides being fast, and he is in better condition than I ever saw him in before. I don't know of a fighter who has improved more than Jeffries has since he has been in the business. He has the best defense of any heavyweight I know, and, barring accidents, I don't see how he can lose. I boxed with the champion for all his previous fights, and it's dead right when I tell you he's 50 per cent. better than he ever was before. He is every way so different you would hardly know him. He eats and sleeps better, his eyes are brighter and his skin clearer than at any time since I knew him. One thing we all appreciate is that instead of answering you with a grunt he now has a smile, a joking remark, for everyone. Yes, sir, it is my honest opinion that after Friday night Mr. Ruhlin, of Ohio, will have to go way back and take a seat."

The Odds Shorten At 'Frisco.

San Francisco, Nov. 12.—James J. Jeffries did little or no gymnasium work to-day in anticipation of his fight with Gus Ruhlin on Friday night, but confined his exertions to a brief walk about Lake Merritt at Oakland, where he is in training, and a long flounder in the baths of the Reliance Club. In contrast to this, Ruhlin, who is at Blanken's Six-mile House, enjoyed a run along the river and through Golden Gate Park this afternoon and then punched the bag for a short time.

Betting on the big fight slackened to-day for the reason that there is little or no Jeffries money in sight. Ruhlin has been a short-ender at 2 to 1 for a day, and the Jeffries people assert that the odds will be longer before fight comes off. They are waiting to get better odds for their money.

Referee Harry Corbett visited the managers of both men to-day and had another controversy about the conduct of the fighters in the ring. If they do not break at the word Corbett threatens all sorts of trouble, and both boxers are being admonished to-day to follow the dictates of the referee to the letter.

To-morrow there will be little or nothing doing in either camp. The men are on a strict diet, and their sole aim now is not to get stale.

Prominent Mares Bring Small Prices.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—To-day thirty mares went the way of Silk Gown, the dam of Garry Herrmann, and Patroness, dam of the Kentucky Derby winner, His Eminence, and were bought by the Breeders' Protective Association to be sold South without their pedigrees. The association secured several Longfellow mares during the day's sales, and Silk Gown is by that sire. For forty-one mares purchased during the two days' sale the association paid $1,125. The object of the association is to rid the breeding world of worthless mares that may continue to produce inferior animals.

The average was not nearly so good as yesterday, as a number of the offerings went to the Breeders' Protective Association at low prices. The total of the day's sales was $12,955, or an average of $164. The total number of horses offered during the two days' sale was 149, and the average price obtained was $217.

The feature of the day's sale was the offering of the good race horse and sire St. Maxim, which was disposed of, together with nine mares, by the Fleischmann estate. The chestnut son of imp. St. Blaise was led into the ring as the first offering of the day's sale. The contending bidders for him were H. P. Headley, of Beaumont Stud; J. C. Yeager, of Cincinnati, and George H. Whitney, of Melrose Stud. The latter stayed the longest and got the horse at the low price of $2,425. St. Maxim is the sire of Dixieline, Francesco, Dark Secret and other good ones in the two-year-old division this year.

Free Knight, the half-brother of Freeland, and the head of the Faustiana Stud, which was dispersed at the day's sale, was led out of the ring, there being no bid obtainable. Another incident of interest was the fact that Belle Broeck, the grand dam of the 50,000 Heno, was sold to the Breeders' Association for $15, and the association likewise secured a number of Longfellow mares.

Parkland and K. M. I. To-day.

The Parkland football team will line-up against the K. M. I. eleven on the latter's grounds, at Bashaw's Station, this afternoon, and a corking good game is anticipated. Maj. Terry, of the K. M. I. team, says he has been trying all season to arrange a game with the local High School boys, but to date has not been able to do so. Portland beat High School 6 to 5, and Parkland beat Portland by the same score, and this will give somewhat of a line on the strength of the two teams. Parkland also has a defeat of the second Y. M. C. A. team to its credit, and they have a fast, hard-playing eleven.

The teams will line-up as follows:

Parkland.	Positions.	K. M. I.
Wright	Left tackle	Herron
Bunger	Center	Freeman
Schuler	Right guard	Nelson

Chicago, Nov. 12. — A consignment of horses from the Caton Stock Farm at Joliet was the feature of the second day's sale of trotting stock at Dexter Park Pavilion to-day. International Bicycle Race.

New York, Nov. 12.—The first pair of bicycle riders who have teamed up and entered for the international six days' race, which will begin at Madison Square Garden December 9, are Archie McEachern, the Canadian champion, and Bobby Walthour, of Atlanta, Ga. They will be known as the Pan-American team, and have already begun training. Two years ago Walthour won the individual prize in a similar contest, after his mate, Jay Eaton, let up and quit. Last year the Georgian had Miller for a partner, but the latter was not in good physical condition and had to retire.

Walthour is very confident that his Canadian mate and himself will be able to make it more than interesting for the other American as well as European teams who will take part in the contest.

Bike Racing At Memphis.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 12.—Bobbie Walthour won the second night's racing of the six-day one-hour-a-night race now being run in this city. He gained the decision over Jimmy Bowler in a hard-fought finish. Leander was a close third and Jimmy Hunter fourth. Walthour did not sacrifice his chances to-night in fighting for the special prize to the leader at the finish of the ten miles, but held himself well in hand for the finish. Bowler led at the ten-mile finish and gained the special prize.

REPORT ON ISTHMIAN CANAL TO BE READY NEXT WEEK.

Commission Begins Its Session For the Discussion of Final Committee Report.

Washington, Nov. 12.—For the first time in several months the Isthmian Canal Commission had a full meeting to-day, Rear Admiral Walker presiding. They heard reports of committees, and it is expected that nearly all of the week will be consumed in a discussion of these reports. They comprise investigation of the following subjects: The Nicaragua route; Panama route, other possible routes; the industrial, commercial and value of an interoceanic canal; and rights, privileges and franchises.

When this work is concluded the commission will take up the report to the President, which will embody the committee reports on these several subjects and the conclusions of the committee, which, beyond question, will favor the Nicaragua route. The commission is anxious to get its report into the hands of the President as soon as possible and, therefore, it is not unlikely that it will be ready for presentation early next week.

WELL PLANNED COUP PULLED OFF

Bad Penny Shows Extraordinary Reversal of Form and Wins At a Long Price.

JOCKEY, TRAINER AND HORSE SENT FROM TRACK

It Was Thought At First That the Gelding Was a "Ringer."

BUT HE WAS IDENTIFIED.

Alea and Lady Curzon Run a Dead Heat In the Third Event.

FORMER WINS IN RUN-OFF.

Selections For To-day.

First Race—Mandamus, Ellis, Quaver.

Second Race—Carat, Buccleuth, Lillian M.

Third Race—Jim Gore II., Cantadas, Incandescent.

Fourth Race—Guide Rock, Jordan, Huntressa.

Fifth Race — Rose Bird, Banquo II., Omelia.

A DEAD heat, a well-planned coup and several other interesting things transpired at Douglas Park yesterday. After showing himself to be one of the rankest "muts" at the track, by running badly heretofore, Bad Penny, a three-year-old gelding, ran all over a fairly good field yesterday and romped home an easy winner, with the fancy price of 30 to 1 chalked up against his chances. That is, the price started at that figure, but the gelding was backed down to 4 to 1 at post time, and there is every indication that much money was placed on him in the poolrooms throughout the country.

To say the least, Bad Penny's race yesterday showed a shocking reversal of form. It was rumored at first that he was a "ringer" which had been brought here from the East, but as several people identified the gelding the race was allowed to stand. But because of the extraordinary form reversal Bad Penny, his trainer and his jockey were all ordered off the track and were told to stay away.

Before bets were paid on the race Judge Morrow and other track officials communicated with the owner of Tenny, in New York, and other people in a position to know, in the East, and satisfied themselves that he was not a ringer. After several telegraphic communications had been exchanged between Douglas Park and New York the official result was announced, and those having tickets on Bad Penny were allowed to cash them. One of the officials of the track, in speaking of the affair said:

"I thought at first that there was 'something doing,' but now I am satisfied that everything was all right. It is just a case of a couple of young fellows who have a good horse and came down here from the East to make a 'killing' with him. The horse was a maiden. He had never started before he came to Douglas Park, as far as I can learn, but his owners knew what he could do on account of his work. He was evidently 'short' when he ran at the local track last week. From what I can learn not much money was bet on Bad Penny in the poolrooms."

The dead heat occurred in the third race, when Alea and Lady Curzon raced nose to nose through the stretch. They were on the same stride and were nodding their noses together, and when the wire was reached the judges were unable to separate them. In the run-off Lady Curzon bled badly at the half-mile pole and Alea came on and won all alone, Howell pulling up Lady Curzon when he saw his mount was beaten.

Yesterday was another pretty day at the track, and another good betting crowd was on hand. Favorites fared badly, only one decided first choice landing the money, but every horse which won was well played, and the public and books broke about even. The rain of the night before did not do any particular harm to the track, and it was considerably faster than might have been expected.

An extraordinary reversal of form was witnessed in the first race, a dash at seven-eighths of a mile, for three-year-olds. Assessment was made the favorite at 6 to 5, while Miss Aubrey was a decided second choice. The real play, however, was on Bad Penny. This youngster was carded as a bay gelding, 3, by Tenney—Lizzie Flynn, the property of Charles F. Schleith. One book posted odds of 20 to 1 against his chances, and it is said that these odds were telegraphed all over the country. But at that, the price was legitimate, for Bad Penny in his other starts at Douglas Park had run shockingly bad races, and no player of form could have figured him in the money. At any rate, Bad Penny's price receded from 20 to 1 to 6 to 1, and it is almost needless to state that he came home all alone, winning easily by four lengths, with Dynasty second and Ducana third. There was some talk to the effect that Bad Penny was a ringer, and the judges called Jockey Patton and others to identify him as Bad Penny, which they did. However, because of the startling reversal of form, if for no other reason, Bad Penny, Jockey C. Murphy and Trainer Sperling were ordered from the track and told to stay away. It is thought that many thousands were wagered on this colt in poolrooms throughout the country, and as the price was big the killing must have been immense.

Chanterelle was easily the best of the two-year-old fillies which faced the flag in the second race. She was the odds-on favorite, never being better than 3 to 5, and it was only an exercise gallop for her. Lillian M. had no trouble in beating the others, with Fugurtha third.

The dead heat between Alea and Lady Curzon took place in the third race on the card. This was at three-quarters of a mile for three-year-olds and upward. Alea and Lady Curzon were equal first choices around 7 to 5, while Mandamus was well played at 4 to 1. The start was good, and Alea should have won easily, but she was badly messed about during the entire journey and got up in the last few strides, finishing nose to nose with Lady Curzon, Cantadas finishing third. Lady Curzon and Alea ran off the dead heat, and Alea won all alone, passing Lady Curzon in the back stretch. The latter bled badly, and Jockey Howell pulled her up.

Taxman was the "good thing" in the fourth race. This was a selling affair at five and one-half furlongs, and Saale was favorite at 1 to 2. Hattie Davis and Little Hindoo were fairly well played around 3 to 1, while a select few got on Taxman at 7 to 1. Taxman got away well and raced Saale into the ground, winning easily by two lengths. Saale was ridden hard all the way, and had nothing left in the stretch. Harrison F. might have been a contender, but he stumbled soon after they got away, losing a lot of ground.

The last race of the afternoon was at one mile. Salve was always the short-priced favorite at 4 to 5, but Salve was never in it with Pharaoh. The latter was held at 3 to 1. Troxler got her off running, and she spread-eagled her field, winning under a pull by three lengths, while Salve had a hard time beating Nettle Regent for the place. Skillman was well backed, but he weakened in the stretch turn and finished fourth.

The Card For This Afternoon.

The best race on the card for this afternoon and, in fact, one of the best of the meeting, is the fourth on the programme. This is at seven-eighths of a mile, and in it are Jordan, Huntressa, Miss Aubrey, Kindred, Guide Rock and Robert Jr. It is for all ages, and both Jordan and Huntressa, with their light imposts, should give a splendid account of themselves.

There is also a race at a mile and an eighth for three-year-olds and upward, in which twelve of the best platers at the track are entered. Ten good two-year-olds are carded to start in the second race. The indexed entries follow:

Gossip of the Home Stretch.

Bad Penny, the medium of yesterday's coup, is a fine bay gelding of striking conformation. His two races at Douglas Park do not indicate his true capability.

To the many who played the favorite, Assessment, and to those who didn't and are regretting the chance of "unloading" on a real good thing, something of Bad Penny's history will be interesting. Dave (Tenny) Pulsifer, the owner of the great little sway-back Tenny, bred and raised Bad Penny. Bad Penny was sired by Tenny, dam Lizzie Flynn. He is to-day a three-year-old, and Charles F. Schleith, of Asbury Park, N. J., has had him for two years. The colt was not raced as a two-year-old, and yesterday's race was the first he had won.

According to Trainer Sperling, Bad Penny has been ailing more or less since April last, and has come on through a long careful preparation with the intention of starting him at Aqueduct. Deciding to race South this winter the shift to easier game at Douglas Park was determined upon, he says. The five-days' trip from New York sent the colt back, which fact is put forward as an explanation of Bad Penny's commonplace effort in his first start last week.

Ladies' Day Friday.

The Douglas Park Racing Association will again extend the courtesies of the track to the women patrons of the turf next Friday. The enthusiasm with which ladies' day of last week was observed betokens a large attendance on Friday. A specially arranged racing programme will be put on.

Kinley Mack, the only horse in America that ever won the Brooklyn and Suburban Handicaps in succession—he won both in 1900—has run his last race. With his stable mate, High Order, he is quartered at Elmendorf, the Kentucky farm of his owner, J. B. Haggin. Besides Kinley Mack, High Order, Commando, Voter and Ethelbert, Imp, the most famous mare in the United States and the greatest thoroughbred of her sex that ever looked through a bridle in this country, will be retired to the ease of the farm paddocks. This is her last season on the turf. In a week or two she will be shipped to her home in Chillicothe, O.

Imp is practically sound. She is not being retired on account of any ailment, but because she has richly earned a rest. She is now seven years old. During her five years on the turf she has been raced almost constantly for four seasons. Trainer Brossman, who has had her up this season, was severe in his methods. Stanch as she was, this hard usage sapped her vitality and she showed only flashes of her old vigor and speed this year.

Peter Wimmer, who trained some of the horses owned by J. B. Haggin, will train for H. T. Oxnard, the sugar king. George Odom, who rode for Clarence Mackay this summer, will probably ride for Mr. Wimmer next year.

Bid Too High.

The Board of Public Works will receive proposals on November 25 for the construction of Von Borries, Hepburn and Castlewood avenues with asphalt for a distance of 5,900 feet. The bids heretofore received for this work were considered too high. The successful bidder was the Ohio and Kentucky Asphalt Company, of Cincinnati. All the property owners favor the improvement.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Pitted against only three ordinary two-year-olds, Lennep found a soft spot in the fourth race at Lakeside this afternoon, and, after being pounded from even money to 9 to 10, she made a show of her field and won in a common gallop with eight lengths to spare.

ALL FAVORITES BEATEN.

Players of Form Have a Disastrous Day At Bennings.

Washington, Nov. 12.—All the favorites were beaten to-day at Bennings. The track was fast, despite a heavy rain that fell during the day. Jockey Martin, who rode in the fourth event, was suspended a week for having four and one-half pounds over weight, but his horse, the winner of the race, was not disqualified under a recent ruling of the Jockey Club. Lux Casta, who ran second in the Futurity at Sheepshead Bay, was heavily played on the score of that performance, but was beaten in a hard drive by half a length by Barouche, who also was well backed. Summaries:

First Race—Five and one-half furlongs: Aratoma, 112 (Doggett), 15 to 1, won; Corder, 112 (Phelan), 20 to 1, second; Tour, 100 (Wonderly), 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:09 3-5. THE RESULTS AT 'FRISCO.

Outsiders In Evidence At Oakland—Sea Lion Wins Handicap.

San Francisco, Nov. 12.—Outsiders were again in evidence at Oakland to-day, the heavy track being responsible for several upsets in form. The Blue and Gold Handicap went to Sea Lion, but his victory was due to the carelessness of Hoar, who went to sleep at the finish on Diderot, and was beaten a head. DR. DIXON BEGINS MEETINGS BEFORE GREAT CROWDS.

Preaches On the Word Blessed, Taking As His Theme the Sermon On the Mount.

Dr. A. C. Dixon, who is to conduct services all week at Second and College streets, arrived in Louisville yesterday and spoke to a big congregation last night on the word "Blessed," the theme of the sermon on the mount.

He spoke of several respects in which believers are blessed. The sermon abounded in striking and brilliant points. Dr. Dixon is an orator of the highest type, and he is a great master of assemblies. His sermon was mainly directed to professing Christians and it was close cutting and heart searching. He emphasized especially the savoriness of the tone of a Christian life. A man's religion must taste well to his wife, his children and his business associates. A woman's religion must taste well to her husband and children and friends. There is too little difference between church members and outsiders and that mars the influence of Christians.

"You hate to talk to your friends about religion," said Dr. Dixon, "because they know you too well and you know it. Go to them and tell them how you have fallen short of your duty, tell them you are resolved to live nearer to God and then tell them to turn to God."

He spoke of the narrowness of truth. Men must not be broad about the Ten Commandments, though they should be broad in their sympathies.

The after meeting was very large and there were two professions of faith.

Dr. Dixon preaches at 3 p. m. and at 7:30 p. m. to-day. He will address the students at Norton Hall at 10:30 this morning on "Bible and How to Study It."

BEER.

THE Making OF Good Beer

It all depends on two essential conditions: First, the kind of material used, and, second, the time and care taken in ripening the product.

You can't make pure, wholesome beer out of corn and rice, nor can you ripen beer in two or three weeks.

In the Frank Fehr Brewing Company nothing but the highest grade of Malt and Hops is used in making beer, and from four to six months is devoted to ripening and maturing the product. Our Bottled Beer for family use, in which we take special pride, is never allowed to go out of the vaults under six months.

The result is you have in our Bottled Beer the purest and ripest product that can be turned out of a brewery. It contains all the essential elements for building up the human system. For nursing mothers and weak children, it is the finest tonic in the world, and your physician will tell you so.

Have a case of this beer sent to your house.

TIME NOT YET

POLITICS IN WEST VIRGINIA.

THREE MILLIONAIRES IN THE FIGHT FOR SENATOR.

GAGE MAY ASK LOWER TEA TAX

Washington, Nov. 12.—[Special.]—Last night was selected by Joseph Jefferson for a contradiction of certain reports that he intended to retire from the stage. Instead of music by the orchestra after the first act, there was a speech by Mr. Jefferson, a very graceful speech, and one which the audience had insisted upon. Drifting on from the customary thanks for so much appreciation, the comedian referred to the fact that he had played in this city thirty-three or thirty-four years ago; very likely, to the parents and grandparents of some of those now before him. He said that so long as he was greeted by such assemblages as that before him he had no idea of retiring. He referred to Dr. Johnson's remark: "Superfluous lags the veteran on the stage," and deprecated the vanity which might lead an actor to afflict himself upon audience after his usefulness was past; he realized that the time would come when he must retire, which he hoped to do with proper grace. He spoke in good-natured satire of an interviewer who had seized upon his failure to recollect the town he had played in at a certain date as an evidence of failing intellect, and whose article next morning was an intimation to the effect that "you had better see him now."

Millionaires Battle In West Virginia.

A dispatch from Wheeling, W. Va., says: "Nathan Bay Scott, junior Senator from West Virginia, member of the Republican National Committee and during the last presidential campaign in charge of the Speakers' Bureau, received a political blow to-day, when Henry Schmulbach, the millionaire brewer of this city, announced his candidacy for the United States Senate to succeed Mr. Scott.

"With this comes the news that the Hon. J. L. Caldwell, of Huntington, also a millionaire, is in the field to stay. As Scott is reputed to be very wealthy, it promises to be a millionaires' battle, in which money will play a conspicuous part.

"The most interesting feature of the contest, however, is the entrance of President Roosevelt into West Virginia politics. It will be remembered that the late President McKinley consulted Scott on all State appointments, much to the displeasure of Senator Elkins. Under the new Administration Senator Elkins has been received with open arms, and Scott has been forced to take a back seat."

May Reduce Tax On Tea.

Secretary Gage will probably recommend in his annual report that the duty on tea imported into this country be cut in half. The duty is ten cents a pound. In 1900 the importations of tea amounted to 83,303,077 pounds, valued at $10,325,987. This tea paid duty of $8,330,307. The importations in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1901, were 89,806,452 pounds, at a value of $11,017,876, on which the duty was $8,980,645.

The Secretary will argue that the import tax results in an inferior grade of tea being sent to the United States, and that the revenues can very well afford to lose $4,000,000, or half the duty now collected.

BIG APPROPRIATION FOR RURAL FREE DELIVERY.

Postmaster General Smith Will Ask For An Increase of $2,500,000 In the Fund.

Washington, Nov. 12.—In his annual report, which will be completed soon, Postmaster General Smith will ask for an increase of the appropriation for the rural free delivery service from the present sum of $3,500,000 to $6,000,000, and will advocate the extension of the service as far as practicable. He will express the opinion that this branch of the work of the department is of the greatest utility and will plead for most liberal condition on the part of Congress.

JUDGMENT FOR CALDWELL.

The Veteran Starter Wins a Suit For $2,546

New York, Nov. 12.—James F. Caldwell, the veteran starter, well known on the American turf, obtained in the Supreme Court before Judge Freedman a judgment for $2,546 against Mrs. Lillian Ash Campbell, widow of William Campbell, a wealthy wall paper manufacturer, and the executors of the estate. His action was based on a claim for $5,884, being a portion of the money which he spent on Estelle Campbell, at the request of her father. The young woman is the wife of Sidney H. Salomon, of London. At the outset the case promised to be of a sensational character, but Judge Freedman eliminated everything that had a bearing on the domestic life of Mrs. Campbell or that tended to sensationalism.

Political Celebration Proved Costly.

Decatur, Ala., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—A business block in Hartselle, a small town in this county, was burned last night, involving a loss of about $30,000. The flames started from a bonfire built by citizens who were rejoicing over the supposed defeat of the new Constitution. The Cooper Hotel, post-office and telephone exchange were destroyed.

Given the Nitro-Glycerine Wagon In Wayne.

JOE HARE'S PERILOUS RIDE.

ENOUGH TO WRECK A CITY.

Monticello, Ky., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—Native interest in projected nitro-glycerine experiments in the Sunnybrook wells has never been surpassed, not even by the interest in a local election. Nothing could make more talk and the prospect of a riot could not cause more apprehension.

Everybody knew about nitro-glycerine and its uses, but it was chiefly associated with newspaper reports of explosions that opened the earth, tumbled buildings and annihilated nitro-glycerine men.

All Wayne county knew that the glycerine wagon was coming and rather expected something to happen. This is what happened: A tall, slender and rather good looking young man arrived at the Hotel Ramsey about two hours after supper time and asked to have a pair of mules looked after and meals served for himself and driver. He was well dressed after the fashion of his region, wearing a blue flannel shirt, a rich necktie, a gold chain with a diamond locket and tan boots, laced to the knees.

Took Desperate Chances.

Here was the typical character that the residents of the new oil fields of Kentucky had been talking of for weeks. Here was a man that faced a danger worse than San Juan every day, almost every hour, even every moment of his working life. Here was a man that chose for his calling a business that offered more chances of death than war.

"I would not drive that glycerine wagon to Sunnybrook for a million dollars."

It is probable that expression was repeated a hundred times in the last week or ten days in the crowds assembled about Ramsey's along about stage time in the evening, and it was unchallenged by veteran oil operators in the groups.

On the contrary, Capt. Armstrong, one of the oldest men and one of the longest in the business, answered:

"No, of course you would not. You would not do it at all, no more than you would cut off your hand. Neither would I."

"I have had hundred of wells shot," put in Major Hawkins, of Bradford, "and I never got within gunshot of a torpedo, and I never will if I can help it. That is a part of the business I leave exclusively to the men in it."

A Distinctive Laborer.

So it is that the oil well shooter is a distinctive laborer in the oil fields. All men give deference to him as a man of superior nerve, but none prays for nerve enough to take his place. There is no envy of his position.

"Where is your wagon?" said Mr. I. C. Ramsey, the proprietor, to the young man with the tan-laced boots when the hostler reported the mules unattached.

It was clear that the dreaded arrival had come and he looked like other men at ease and happy. The register told that he was not Joseph, but Joe Hare.

An Uneasy Seat.

Young Mr. Hare had been sitting over a load of three hundred quarts of nitro-glycerine for five days. Glycerine weighs about three pounds to the quart—nine hundred pounds of the most treacherous explosive known, ten times the explosive force of dynamite. Nine hundred pounds of glycerine, equaling nine thousand pounds of dynamite! The crack of a revolver might explode it all. Five careless drops on the outside of one of the eight-quart cans touched by the spark of a pipe would wreck any village through which this wagon passed. Five drops of glycerine on the outside of any one of the eight-quart cans carried by Joe Hare, subjected to continued friction, or a hard jar, would loose a volcano. These thoughts did not disturb Joe Hare on his ride from Flat Lick, Knox county, Kentucky. It was there that the glycerine was prepared under the direction of Frank French, the most famous of all well shooters, often referred to as the man with a hundred lives.

Mr. French is now of the Milliken and French Torpedo Company, of Marietta, O., and Sistersville, W. Va., and he does not shoot any more, but he did the work for twenty-five years.

The glycerine was put in eight-quart cans. The cans were packed in padded nitro-glycerine boxes, securely closed and locked. In old oil countries glycerine wagons, especially made for the purpose, are used. Here the best had to be made of what the country offered. In settled oil regions the glycerine is manufactured under a thousand precautionary conditions. Over in Knox county in an improvised factory French and his men had to manufacture as safely as they could, but they manufactured far away from everybody and without any danger to anybody except themselves.

Perilous Ride.

It was not a nitro-glycerine wagon, but an ordinary rumbling, tumbling, old lumber wagon. He did not come over a turnpike road, but over mountain roads and trails, over loose cobble stones, rocks and bowlders all the way from Flat Lick to Somerset. The worst of his journey was to come when he left Monticello for Sunnybrook on Sunday morning. The road between here and there often frightens men who go over it in buggies for the first time.

* * *

The Farewell.

It was not on the turnpike that he left the wagon, but in an adjacent field, and after breakfast all the men of Monticello were assembled in front of the hotel and all the guests of the hotel were keen-eyed for it to pass. An unusual and thrilling spectacle was looked for, and a little flutter of excitement might have forbode a coming tragedy.

Slowly down the hill a team of mules came hauling a noisy and rumbling wagon. On the seat with his legs crossed and a corn cob pipe in his mouth was a roughly-dressed man driving. Going by the hotel the driver appeared unconscious of the interest in himself and the people that had been watching for him. They were just as unconscious as he was going by. When the young man with the tan-laced boots drove up in a light wagon bearing torpedo shells and reels, a division of the load, to help the mules over the Sunnybrook hills, it was discovered that that was the terrible nitro-glycerine wagon that had gone ahead, with the cross-legged driver pulling on a corn cob pipe. This driver had been Joe Hare's guide and driver from Flat Lick.

All the farmers between here and Sunnybrook have been wondering when this wagon would come so that could arrange not to be on the road that day. Joe Hare and the driver are now safely housed at a farm house in Sunnybrook and his wagon and load are resting far out in the fields. Will Geary's, the Somerset and Flanagan's small wells will be shot in a day or two. Joe Hare will do the work. There is where hundreds of his kind have met their end, where most of his kind are said to meet it some day.

FOREST FIRES PLAY HAVOC IN SOUTHWEST.

Farmers Fighting To Save Their Property and Much Damage Has Already Been Done.

St. Louis, Nov. 12.—According to dispatches received here forest fires are raging in the vicinity of Red Bud and Alto Pass, Ill., Poplar Bluff, Mo., and Sedgwick, Ark. North of the first named place the woods along the Black Creek and Richland Creek bottoms are on fire and the farmers are fighting hard to save their homes.

Farm property in the vicinity of Alto Pass, Ill., is in great danger from forest fires, which are raging in the timber west and south of that place. Dense smoke envelopes the whole territory. The townspeople turned out last night in response to the country people's call for help and are strenuously fighting the encroaching flames. The fire is within half a mile of town and coming before a terrific gale. Much fencing and several fruit orchards have already been destroyed.

Forest fires have broken out south of Poplar Bluff, Mo. The sky is covered with dense volumes of smoke and great damage to property is feared. Hunters who have been driven in on account of the intense heat and smoke report deer, wolves and other game fleeing north to escape the fierce flames. A telegram from Sedgwick, Ark., stated that the plant of the Culver Lumber and Manufacturing Company was burning, with several hundred thousand feet of lumber.

LLOYD OSBOURNE DIES IN APIA, SAMOA.

Consul General Who Took Prominent Part In Settling Troubles In the Islands Expires.

Washington, Nov. 12.—A cablegram received at the State Department today from Auckland, New Zealand, announces the death at Apia, Samoa, on October 27, of Lloyd W. Osbourne, United States Consul General, at Apia. Mr. Osbourne was born in New York and appointed to his present post from Nebraska July 26, 1897. Thus he was the principal representative of the authorities of the United States in the Samoan group in the troublesome days before the partition, and it appeared that he, alone, of all the foreign representatives at Apia, aroused no opposition. He obtained the confidence of the natives and the other representatives of the foreign Powers. In addition to his post at Apia, Mr. Osbourne was also Consul General at Mukualosa, the capital of the Congo group of islands.

THREW VITRIOL IN HER FACE.

An Iowa Woman the Victim of Another's Malice.

Fort Dodge, Ia., Nov. 12.—A strange woman who signs her name as Julia Morehouse threw vitriol at the face of Mrs. George Wadsley, a respectable woman of this city, last night, but Mrs. Wadsley threw her hands in front of her face and escaped with slight burns. The motive of the attack is a mystery.

Mrs. Wadsley is the attendant at the office of Dr. Bishop, where the assault, which was the culmination of a persecution to which Mrs. Wadsley has been subjected at intervals since last August, was committed.

The woman has escaped and the police have no clew to her identity.

BOATS LEAVING THIS DAY.

Bonanza, Capt. Bryant, for Cincinnati at 5 p. m....Big Kanawha, Capt. Dugan, for Carrollton at 4 p. m....John W. Thomas, Capt. Lovell, for Tell City, Rockport, Owensboro, Evansville and all way landings at 4 p. m.

RIVER, BUSINESS AND WEATHER.

The river was on a stand last evening, with 2 feet 8 inches in the canal, 7 inches on the falls, and 3 feet 6 inches at the foot of the locks. Business good. Weather clear and pleasant.

DRIFTWOOD.

The clouds come, the rain falls, but the river riseth not....The Henry Harley left for Evansville last evening with a fine trip....Reader: No! The Talleyrand was not the last steamboat of any size built on the Point this side of the river. The last steamboat built on the Point was the Saline, built by the late Capt. "Natural" Miller. He did all the hull and cabin work himself, had to be pulled into the river when ready to be launched, and, when completed, he commanded her in person until his wife assumed command. She ran in the New Orleans and Teche trade, and made money while she was captain. Capt. Miller and wife lived in this city....Capt. R. W. Wise has the Memphis packets and New Orleans boats in No. 1 condition for business, and is anxiously awaiting a good substantial rise in the river to turn them loose in their respective trades....The safe of the towboat Pacific, that sunk at Davis Island dam December 13, 1899, has never been recovered. The big, strong box does not contain money, but there are several valuable diamonds in it. A pair of diamond cuff buttons, a gift to Capt. D. A. Woodward, who was in command of the boat at the time of her collision with the Charlie Clarke, were in the safe. A. R. Budd also has a diamond pin in it. Efforts were made to locate the safe, but to no avail....The John W. Thomas leaves for Evansville this afternoon....The upper Ohio is so low between Cincinnati and Wheeling that horses, cattle and teams are crossing it at many places....The New Orleans Picayune of Sunday says: "The edict issued by Chief of Police Journee that all the idle negroes would have to leave town, go to work or go to jail, had the desired effect in settling the labor question on the river. Over two hundred of the negroes left town yesterday, but went as roustabouts on the steamboats, shipping on the St. James, Sunrise, Louise, Lafourche and America. The St. James, Sunrise and America had been detained at the wharf over a week." What's the matter with doing the same thing in this city?....The combine is storing its towboats at Pittsburg so as to be ready for a rise and leave on short notice. This is a good sign....The little Bob Dudley is the only boat in the Evansville and Paducah trade....It was windy on the river yesterday....The rain laid the dust on the levee....The Maj. McKenzie and dredges are scooping mud out of the canal....Jesse J., Jr., son of Capt. Jesse J. Nichols, died of typhoid fever in Cairo Monday. The remains were taken to Cincinnati....The John K. Speed is due to arrive at New Orleans to-day....Capt. John Garrahty has returned from a pleasant visit to Memphis....Miss Carrie Hunter, daughter of Robert W. Hunter, formerly in charge of the waterworks at Duquesne, has been granted a license to act as pilot, and has taken charge of her father's boat on the Pocomoke river, Maryland. She is one of the few women pilots in this country. The best-known woman pilot on the Ohio river is Mrs. Gordon Green, wife of Capt. Green, of the Greenwood....Engineer J. Youngblood, of the City of Camden, received a telegram from New Orleans yesterday, announcing the serious illness of his father, Capt. Willis Youngblood, United States Boiler Inspector. Mr. Jesse Youngblood left for his father's bedside last night....The new and handsome towboat G. W. Thomas, built by Capt. Ed. Howard for the People's Coal Company, will be ready for service in a week or ten days. She is one of the best-built and most perfectly equipped towboats ever built....All the big Evansville packets are laid up.

RIVER TELEGRAMS

Pittsburg, Nov. 12.—[Special.]—To-day's rains were quite general, and to rivermen they were very important. From reports from up-stream points sufficient rain fell, it is believed, to cause a few inches' rise here. Old rivermen say that this rain is the forerunner of more, and that the rise will surely come soon after the 15th of the month. All boats are being put in readiness to go out as soon as there is sufficient water. There is enough coal in the harbor and within easy distance of Pittsburg to allow the coal companies to send out one of the largest shipments in the history of the river. A rise will mean much to Pittsburg, as in a few weeks after the coal is shipped much money is put in circulation here. The stage of water at Davis Island dam is 1.9 feet and stationary.

Wheeling, Nov. 12.—River 1.2 feet and rising. Weather cloudy and cold.

Cincinnati, Nov. 12.—[Special.]—The name of the person who chartered the steamer Cando is Capt. Paris Brown, of Moscow, O., who is said to be acting for other persons. The charter was raised on those who established a trade between here and Higginsport, and Capt. Shriver, who, up to yesterday, had the Cando, to-night intimated that he will not turn over the boat in this city, as his charter reads that the boat is to be returned when the boat was wanted in the Big Sandy river. His action was unexpected and may cause a fight in the courts. The steamer M. P. Wells was to-day attached through the United States Court for several standing bills. The C. J. Reynolds was to-day chartered by the Government to do snagging work. She left at noon for Brush creek. The Mary Stewart, which was to be chartered, arrived to-day and she is to be returned to her owners. Boats were delayed in arriving by the heavy windstorm of last night. River is expected to be rising slowly at this place to-morrow, due to rains, which did not amount to over one-half an inch. Stage at 6 p. m. was 4.2 feet.

Madison, Ind., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—River 3.7 feet and stationary. The Indiana passed down at 8 a. m. and up at 9:30 to-night. The Big Kanawha passed down at 7 a. m. The Bonanza was due down after midnight. The Hattie Brown up at 2:30 p. m. Weather fair and cool.

Paducah, Ky., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—River 1.9 feet and rising. Weather clear and cool. Hull and Boiler Inspectors Stockham and Green, of Nashville, are in the city. They to-day finished their work of inspecting the J. B. Richardson, H. W. Buttorff, Dick Clyde and Maggie Bell and found them all right. The Charleston left at 5 p. m. for the Tennessee river. The Clyde arrived from the Tennessee river this morning.

Cairo, Nov. 12.—River 3 feet. Weather fair and colder. Arrived: Rees Lee, St. Louis, 2:45 p. m. Departed: Rees Lee, Memphis, 4:15 p. m.; T. H. Davis, St. Louis, 10 a. m.

St. Louis, Nov. 12. — River 3.6 feet and stationary. Arrived: City of Clifton, Tennessee river. Clear and cold.

Farewell Reception To Louisville Voyageurs.

Welcome To Two Charming Baltimore Girls.

One of the handsomest entertainments of the season was given last evening when Misses Lura and Grace Chess gave a farewell dinner in honor of Misses Ethel Humphrey, Mary Boyle and Emily Hussey. It was the first of a series of dinners which the Misses Chess will give during the season, and it brought together a congenial party of twenty-six young people.

The guests were served at small tables, seating four and six, and between the courses there was progression.

In the center of each table was a candy ship resting on green spun candy simulating water. The ships were pink with white sails, on which were the words bon voyage, and were filled with dainty confections and ornamented with flowers. They were lighted by tiny white candles arranged on the mast and sails.

The ices were unique and were molded in the form of dress suit cases, with green candy handles, tied with green candy ribbon. They were marked U. S. A., and contained checks with the name of each guest attached to the handles.

Miss Lura Chess was gowned in light blue chiffon elaborately trimmed in blue sequins, and Miss Grace Chess wore pink panne velvet appliqued in lilies.

Miss Mary Boyle wore white renaissance lace over taffeta, trimmed in blue forget-me-nots; Miss Ethel Humphrey wore a pink and green pompadour silk, trimmed in lace, and Miss Hussey was gowned in white crepe-de chene, trimmed in lace and blue ribbon.

The party included the following:

Misses Ethel and Julia Dixon, two of the most charming girls of Baltimore, were introduced to Louisville society yesterday afternoon at a beautiful reception given by their hostess, Mrs. John P. Starks, of St. James Court. The Misses Dixon are among the most attractive girls who have visited Louisville this season and are being extensively entertained. They will be given a small euchre party this evening by Mrs. Starks, and a luncheon to-morrow by Mrs. Percy Semple.

They, together with Mrs. Starks and the receiving party, which was composed of Mrs. Donald McDonald, Mrs. Marion E. Taylor, Mrs. Percy Semple, Mrs. Henry Guthrie, Mrs. J. A. Forster, Misses Sallie Osborne, Katherine Price, Evelyn Whitney, Katharyn Cox and Eleanor Cannon, of Woodford county, stood in the library to welcome the callers.

This room was beautifully decorated in yellow chrysanthemums; the music-room, across the hall, was in white chrysanthemums, and the dining-room was decorated in American Beauties.

The refreshment table had an oblong-shaped cut-glass bowl filled with roses in the center of the table, and the candelabra supported red candles and shades.

The Starks home, which is one of the most artistic in the city, was simply and tastefully decorated, and besides the cut flowers there were jardinieres of ferns and palms on pedestals in the hall and various rooms.

Among the guests invited to meet the Misses Dixon were the following:

She is a charming acquisition to both the literary and social circles of Louisville, and is among the most attractive matrons in the city.

The house was attractively arranged with cut flowers and growing plants, the drawing-room being decorated with American Beauties, the library with white chrysanthemums, and the dining-room with yellow chrysanthemums. In the center of the refreshment table was an old cathedral cup of brass and silver filled with yellow chrysanthemums, and about it were silver candlesticks filled with yellow candles. The bonbons, confections and cakes were also in yellow.

Mrs. Semple was gowned in violet embroidered silk trimmed in duchesse lace and a touch of silver, and Mrs. Blanc wore white embroidered crepe.

LEFT TO DREAM IT OVER.

WENT WITHOUT DINNER TRYING TO GET TOGETHER.

CHARGE OF JUDGE EVANS.

Many Exceptions By the Counsel For Defense—Retracts One of His Statements.

ANOTHER CASE TO BE CALLED.

The jury in the case of H. H. Mullen, Robert Locke and J. J. O'Neil, charged with a conspiracy to disfranchise negro voters in the West and Green-street precinct in the election of November, 1899, seems hopelessly hung in the Federal Court.

On the convening of court yesterday morning Judge Evans delivered his charge to the jury, and at 11:15 o'clock they took the case. There was no word from the room in which they were deliberating to indicate the progress being made toward the verdict until 5 o'clock, when Marshal James was called for. They had not eaten dinner, and wanted supper. It was a clear case of hungry if not hung, and the "twelve good men and true" were marched to their hotel.

After putting two meals into one, they came back to the Customhouse, and at 8:30 o'clock made their first report to the court. It was to the effect that an agreement could not be reached. Judge Evans determined to let them sleep on the subject and report at 10 o'clock this morning.

Should no verdict be reached, it will be the second trial of the case resulting that way. The list of jurors is as follows: B. T. Chewning, Tampico; N. H. Owen, M. A. Easley, James Cunningham and W. L. Harris, Mt. Washington; Stanford Davis, Sweden; T. J. Phillips, Liberty; Robert M. Veirs, Pitts' Point; Felix Humphrey, Tunnel Hill; Jonathan Rogers, Colesburg; E. L. Eberhard and Thomas Bannon, Louisville.

* * *

The Court's Instructions.

Immediately upon the convening of court Judge Evans began his charge to the jury. The notes, from which his instructions and comment on the evidence were delivered, covered seventeen typewritten pages.

As a starter he defined conspiracy as an agreement or combination between two or more persons to positively or tacitly accomplish an unlawful design, and when any act is done to further such conspiracy. The law was then read prescribing that the colored man shall not be discriminated against in the exercise of his right of franchise by reason of "race, color or previous condition of servitude."

The court said that under the indictment several elements must enter into the proof to establish the charge, enumerating them as follows:

First—It must be proved that a conspiracy existed.

Second—The conspiracy must have been to injure and oppress colored persons in the exercise of their right of franchise.

Third—Said oppression or intimidation must have been on account of their race, color or previous condition of servitude.

Fourth—The persons so oppressed must have been persons entitled to exercise the right of franchise.

Fifth—Some act in the furtherance of said conspiracy must have been done by some one of the parties to it to carry it into effect, and these elements must be proved to the exclusion of a reasonable doubt.

It was the duty of the Sheriff of the county to fix the place of the election, and it was, furthermore, the duty of the judges of the election, when it was found that the election could not be held as designated by the Sheriff, to post notices of where the election would be held. The fact that neither Anderson, the Republican judge, nor Mullen, the Democratic judge, did this, was referred to by the court.

* * *

Clerk a Slow Writer.

He touched on the slowness of the clerk in recording the names of voters and said if he could not have written rapidly it was no fault of his. "Some men are not rapid penmen," said the Judge.

The duties of each of the election officers were then referred to at some length. The court claimed that under the law no voter should be allowed to remain in the voting booth more than three minutes.

What constitutes a "reasonable doubt" was dwelt on at some length. The Judge said it is not an imaginary doubt, but one growing out of the evidence itself. The court then charged that the defendants were presumed to be of good characters, and that they were the sole judges of the weight and credibility of the testimony.

Referring to the evidence given as to conversations with and acts of Crites, who is dead, Judge Evans said the jury should disregard all such evidence unless it had been proved to its satisfaction that there was a conspiracy between Crites and some one or more of the defendants, in which event Crites' acts and conversation might tend to prove conspiracy.

* * *

On Contradictory Testimony.

As to the testimony alleged to have been contradictory the court said that probably no human being could testify exactly alike twice.

Judge Evans, speaking of a conspiracy to disfranchise the negroes, said that men who conspire need not reduce their agreement to writing; that they need not enter into their agreement in the presence of witnesses. Some of the circumstances of the case that might be taken to establish conspiracy were then mentioned by the Judge, who referred to the alleged failure of the officers to notiby the voters where the election would be held, to the alleged concealment of the voting booths, to the alleged effort to exclude Anderson, the colored judge. On the last point he said:

"It was no violation of the United States law to keep Anderson out of the polling place. The question is what was their purpose in so doing? What was their purpose in not notifying the voters where the election would be held? What was the purpose in not setting up the voting booths at the proper time? What was the purpose of permitting Mestermacker or Jenkins, the white men, to come in the back way and vote when Masterson, the colored man, had been excluded? That is no offense against the laws of the United States, but the purpose in so doing may be considered in connection with the charge of conspiracy."

Proceeding along this line the Judge said:

"There was testimony going to show that colored men were asked whether or not they had been in the penitentiary and if they said 'no' they were required to go out and get witnesses to prove the truth of that statement. You are the judges of the evidence as to whether two or more booths could have been placed in the polling place. There was no law of the United States violated in not taking those booths in, but it is a circumstance bearing upon the charge of conspiracy."

The court could recall no proof that the twenty-one white voters at the polling place tried to vote, though there is proof that colored voters tried to do so and failed.

* * *

Exceptions To the Charge.

Judge Evans concluded as follows: "The pleas of not guilty as entered by the defendants are separate. You may find any one of them not guilty, you may find any two of them not guilty or you may find them all guilty or not guilty."

Attorneys Gordon and Sherley, of counsel for the defense, excepted to the charge, and especially to the comment of the court. He dismissed the objection to his comment on the evidence in this way: "If the court commented upon the testimony on the one side more than that of the other it must be remembered that very much more testimony was introduced on the one side than on the other." An immediate exception to this was made and later the jury was recalled and the remark withdrawn. The court stated that he simply had reference to the number of witnesses introduced.

Among the other exceptions were the following:

The court's failure to tell the jury that they were not trying the men for offenses against the State law.

That the jury could consider evidence as to negroes other than those named in the indictment.

That the court should take care to separate the law from the facts, and to leave the latter in unequivocal terms to the judgment of the jury, which is its ultimate and peculiar province. The evidence, if stated at all, should be stated accurately, as well that which makes in favor of the party as that which makes against him; deductions and theories not warranted by the evidence should be studiously avoided, as they can hardly fail to mislead the jury and work injustice. Judge Gordon here cited the case of Starr vs. U. S., 153 U. S., 845.

Because the court, in commenting on the inculpatory testimony as to the acts of the defendants, recounted in his charge all of the facts testified to tending to show the guilt of the accused, and gave undue prominence to such facts, without summing up all the testimony as well for as against the defendants in reference to the facts, and gave such facts for the Government in such a way as to have the effect of an argument by the court against the defendants and was not a proper full summing up of the facts in the case.

Because after thus summing up the facts for the Government, the court again proceeded to recount certain inculpatory testimony and asked of the jury why each several circumstance and facts thus occurred.

The cases against L. Karem and C. H. Watson, charged with the same offense as Mullen, Locke and O'Neil, but in the Sixteenth precinct of the Fifth ward, will be called this morning, after the other jury is disposed of.

LEAKY GAS PIPE

CAUSES FIRE IN JEFFERSONVILLE BUSINESS BLOCK.

Peter Angue, Once Prosperous Merchant, Dies In Penury and Distress.

A leaking gas pipe caused a fire in the building at the corner of Spring and Maple streets, Jeffersonville, owned by Capt. James T. Duffy, resulting in a loss of $1,000 on the building and $5,000 loss to the various tenants, chief of them being Lindley & Carr, occupants of the ground floor as dealers in hardware. Their loss is about $4,000. Other sufferers were Mayfield & Brock, lawyers; P. H. McCormack & Co., contractors, and the Masonic Lodge.

During the fire Fire Chief Frederick Knapp narrowly escaped being killed. A ladder on which he was standing slipped and he plunged downward from an upper story. Jack Ballard and John Best caught him and broke the force of the fall.

Most of the loss is due to water.

Died In Distress.

Peter Angne, at one time one of the most prosperous furniture dealers in Jeffersonville, died unexpectedly yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock amid squalid surroundings in the rear of his store, corner of Wall and Maple streets, Jeffersonville. Uraemic poisoning was the cause. Angne had for two weeks been hoping to die. In his last hours he was attended by his fifteen-year-old son, Charles Angne. Drink was the cause of Angne's downfall.

Kraft, who has the contract for removing dead animals from the city, for which he pays $60 a year, complains that a dead animal man of Clark county is continually infringing on his vested rights by coming here and hauling away any carcasses of horses, cattle or hogs that he can lay his hands on. Mr. Kraft is of the opinion that the city authorities should protect him in his contract. GOOD LIFE

Ended By Death of Dr. Barton W. Stone.

WAS A NOTED ALIENIST.

LONG SUPERINTENDENT OF WESTERN INSANE ASYLUM.

HAD PRIVATE SANITARIUM.

Dr. Barton W. Stone, superintendent and proprietor of the Beechhurst Sanitarium, died last night at 8 o'clock after a few weeks' illness. Dr. Stone, about four weeks ago, was seized with an attack of rheumatism which greatly affected the diaphragm. He suffered intensely, but up to last Saturday no alarm was felt by his attending physicians.

Symptoms of pneumonia then appeared and greatly aroused the anxiety of his physicians, Dr. J. M. Holloway, Dr. Ernest Rau, Dr. J. B. Marvin and Dr. S. W. Holloway. Heart weakness also developed, which became rapidly intensified, and steady failure followed until the end came.

Dr. Stone was unmarried and was born in Fulton, Mo., in 1844. He was the son of Judge John M. Stone, of Fulton, and grandson of the Rev. Dr. Barton W. Stone, of Georgetown, Ky., and a co-worker with the celebrated Alexander Campbell. The Rev. Dr. Stone's followers in those stormy denominational days were known as Stoneites.

Dr. Stone was graduated second in his class, when nineteen years of age, at Westminster College, Fulton. Shortly afterward he came to Louisville and studied medicine under Dr. J. M. Holloway, having graduated at the Kentucky School of Medicine in 1867. He at once entered upon the active practice of his profession in Louisville.

Dr. Stone was appointed assistant physician in the Western Kentucky Asylum, Hopkinsville, in 1869, under Dr. James Rodman and remained in that position until 1889, when he was appointed superintendent by Gov. Simon Bolivar Buckner and was re-appointed by Gov. John Young Brown.

He resigned January 31, 1896, and went abroad for the purpose of studying asylum methods in Europe with a view of opening a private institution for the treatment of nervous diseases.

His expectations of establishing a sanitarium were realized in the fall of 1896, when he associated himself with Dr. S. S. Crockett in the Morningside Sanitarium, near Nashville. He afterward became the sole proprietor, but moved to Louisville in June, 1899, when he opened Beechhurst Sanitarium, and great success has attended the institution.

Dr. Stone was one of the best known alienists in the United States, and was respected and loved by a host of friends, including the great number who had been blessed by his ministrations. He was a man of earnest, practical piety, and had been for years a loyal member and elder of the Highland Presbyterian church. His charity was large and quiet and rarely known except when its beneficiaries disclosed it. Dr. Stone was well known in Masonry.

Dr. Stone had a sister, Mrs. P. W. Johnson; a niece, Miss Kittie Johnson, and three nephews, Grant Johnson, William Johnson and James Johnson, who have been associated with him in the management of the sanitarium. Dr. Ernest Rau will now be in charge of the institution.

The funeral arrangements will be made to-day.

In 1877 there appeared a small book written by the Rev. Philip Slaughter, D. D., called "St. Mark's Parish." It was a limited edition, sold by subscription. "St. Mark's Parish" was a history of the settlement and early growth of Culpeper county, Va. It gave the genealogy of many families, whose members are now scattered over the States and proud to claim descent from those ancient worthies. The little volume has been carefully preserved by some of these descendants, and to-day a copy is valued anywhere between $40 and $70. After his book was distributed, Dr. Slaughter received a number of letters from the subscribers giving additional information of the families. Ia was his intention to issue an enlarged edition, but he did not, although, like his father, he lived to a great age. Raleigh Travers Green, editor of the Culpeper Exponent, comes of a family which has never left Culpeper, and in his line of descent there has been a vestryman of St. Mark's Parish continuously since the church was established, in 1730. His father, Judge James W. Green, married Miss Anne McDonald, sister to the McDonalds of Louisville. He has inherited the talents of both his parents, and is a graceful and forcible writer. He was, therefore, well fitted to prepare a new and enlarged edition of the "St. Mark's Parish." He has been careful to print the original book as Part I. Part II. is additional data and quite as interesting and valuable as Part I. There is a list of early marriage licenses and also a summary of old wills among the attractive features of Part II.

A large number of friends and relatives had assembled when the bridal party arrived. There were no bridesmaids, the only attendants, besides the ushers, being Miss Grace Balmforth Watts, sister of the bride, who acted as maid of honor. The couple left for New York at 4:30 p. m. They will be absent for two weeks, stopping at Cincinnati and Canton, O., Philadelphia and New York, returning by way of Niagara Falls, after which they will be at home to their friends at 5 St. Charles Place.

PROF. DINSMORE TO LECTURE MONDAY.

Will Talk On a Popular Scientific Subject, "The Wonderful Structure of Man."

Prof. Thomas J. Dinsmore, Jr., will give the third entertainment of the Louisville Lyceum series at Music Hall next Monday evening, November 18. It will be a lecture of a popular scientific nature, his subject being, 'A Wonderful Structure (The Man of To-day).' The lecture has won approbation wherever it has been given. The Hon. Henry Houck, Deputy State Superintendent of Pennsylvania Schools, has the following to say of the entertainment when given at Towanda:

"Prof. Dinsmore's lecture on 'A Wonderful Structure' is one of the finest scientific lectures I ever heard. The Institute was wonderfully pleased, not only with his evening lecture, but his afternoon address was a great hit. Great scientific facts, brilliantly illustrated with chemical experiments, and presented in such clear and intelligible terms that all might understand them, formed the chief charm of Dr. Thomas H. Dinsmore's lecture in the Institute course last night. His delivery was splendid, and the chemical experiments performed made his arguments unassailable."

COTTON MARKETS.

New York, Nov. 12.—The cotton market opened steady, with prices 1@4 points lower, an indifferent response to weak Liverpool cables and to selling orders from abroad. In explaining the heaviness there Liverpool houses stated that hedges were being taken off c. i. f. cotton and sentiment was bearish under the big movement here. The market here soon showed a disposition to work higher. Bad weather reports from the greater portion of the belt, rumors that the interior movement from now on would be much smaller and claims that Southern spot markets were picking up new strength caused the shorts to abandon aggressive tactics and to assume the defensive. Buying orders came in from the South and Wall street and room bulls supported the market with confidence. Before midday prices were slowly started back to nearly last night's bid under profit-taking and light selling on the reaction theory, based on exceptionally large port receipts. But in the afternoon the market again turned firm on more bad weather reports from the central belt and for a forecast for much colder weather in the western belt. January, the leading option, advanced to 7.50c and late months reached a high level, with the market displaying strength. The semi-weekly interior town figures were bullish, official reports from the South were firmer than expected and the export movement overran all ideas. Wall street and the South bought cotton here on the second advance, as did Liverpool interests in the West. Trading was fairly active, with a goodly number of investment orders noticed. In the last half hour the market settled back a few points under profit-taking. The close was steady, with prices net 3@7 points higher.

Receipts at the ports to-day were 70,519 bales, against 76,465 (actual) last week and 49,382 (actual) last year; for the week 325,000 bales, against 354,404 (actual) last week and 277,197 (actual) last year; to-day's receipts at New Orleans 30,388 bales, against 14,891 last year, and at Houston 18,988 against 39,680 last year.

Spot cotton opened quiet; middling uplands 7⅞c; do gulf 8⅛c. Closed quiet and 1-16c higher; middling uplands 7 15-16c; do gulf 8 3-16c; sales 335 bales.

MONTH.	Opening.	Closing.	Highest.	Lowest.
November	....	7.47	....	....
December	7.39	7.50	7.52	7.39
January	7.37	7.47	7.51	7.37
February	7.37	7.44	7.44	7.37
March	7.35	7.41	7.45	7.34
April	7.35	7.42	7.42	7.35
May	7.32	7.41	7.44	7.32
June	....	7.41	....	....
July	7.34	7.41	7.41	7.34

New Orleans, Nov. 12.—There was a fairly good movement in spot cotton to-day under the influence of the further advance in contract values, and buyers showed more inclination to trade upon the basis of factors' upset level of values. The sales accordingly footed up totals of 3,700 bales of spots and 1,500 bales to arrive. Quotations unchanged; ordinary 5 13-16c; good ordinary 6 5-16c; low middling 6¾c; middling 7¼c; good middling 7½c; middling fair 7 15-16c; receipts 21,976 bales; stock 223,674. Only a moderate amount of trading was indulged in to-day in the contract market. The first call figures showed a decline of 2@3 points, after which the market advanced 7@8 points, in sympathy with the metropolis, and fell back 2@3 points under slight pressure by the shorts. During the latter part of the day the market showed some animation. New York became quite a free buyer in the local field and the support thereby afforded, coupled with the fact that Houston is again billed for comparatively light receipts, served to send prices once more on the up grade, the advance covering a range of 6@7 points before a halt was called by the covering in of certain, if small, profits on the long side. Toward the end of the day the market eased off again and closed finally steady at net gains as compared to yesterday's range of 4@6 points on the several positions.

Liverpool, Nov. 12.—Spot cotton quiet; prices 1-16d lower; American middling fair 4 17-32d; good middling 4 11-32d; middling 4¼d; low middling 4 5-32d; good ordinary 4 1-32d; ordinary 3 25-32d. Boston Wool.

Boston, Nov. 12.—The demand for wool this week was entirely satisfactory to dealers and quite a large business was done. The effect of the free buying the previous week tended to stiffen prices, but no advance of any material consequence is noted, but dealers are talking a firmer market and say the outlook for market is encouraging. The market for Territory wools is firm and unchanged. General quotations are yet about the same. Fine Territory grades are quoted on the scoured basis of 45c, with fine medium at 40@43c and staple lots at 45@47c. Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces are firm, with available offerings of close grades limited, Ohio fine delaine selling at 28c, with XX Ohio 26c. FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MONETARY.

Tuesday Evening, Nov. 12.—Business continued active, with a strong demand for money reported by most banks. Some few rediscounts are coming in from country banks, but the bulk of the borrowing is by firms and business men of this city. Large sums have been borrowed by certain corporations in order to keep up with their expanding business. Rates are firm at 6@7 per cent., with some demand loans at 5. New York exchange was in better inquiry and firm at par.

The Clearing-house report to-day was as follows:

Day's clearing	$1,595,361
Balance	138,333

A stronger feeling is manifesting itself in the market for local securities, and it is daily growing broader both for bonds and stocks. The St. Louis street railway securities continue the feature, their prices advancing almost every day. United Railways preferred experienced the greatest rise, selling at 88½@88⅝ in St. Louis. Transit did not advance so much, but was very strong and closed with a bid of 31 for 200 shares unanswered. Sales of Transit reached 700 shares. The bonds were also in good demand. Local securities were also higher, 109 being bid for Gas in the afternoon, but with sales of only two shares reported. A lot of 15 shares of Louisville Railway common sold at 107, but a broker who afterward had a bid of 107½ could not find any stock on the market. The preferred was stronger and would bring 116. Following were the sales:

$6,000 United Railways 4s	*91¾
$5,000 United Railways 4s	*92
$6,000 L. and N. collateral 4s	99½
$7,000 Milwaukee Electric Railway 5s	*112
$3,000 Louisville Railway 5s	*119
$6,000 Southern Railway 5s	120
50 shares St. Louis Transit common	30¾
300 shares St. Louis Transit common	31
700 shares St. Louis Transit common	31¼
100 shares United Railways preferred	88¼
100 shares United Railways preferred	88½
200 shares United Railways preferred	88¾
150 shares United Railways preferred	89
50 shares Rochester Railway preferred	90¾
15 shares Louisville Railway common	107
2 shares Louisville Gas	109

*And interest.

Street railway securities seem to be coming into new investment and speculative favor. The activity in the St. Louis securities is being shared by a number of other shares. Columbus Railway common, for instance, has risen from 44 to 46@47 and is in strong demand, though the preferred was offered to-day at 101½. Rochester Street Railway preferred has risen in the last two weeks from 88 to 90½ and with 91½ asked by some brokers. The demand for Milwaukee has cleaned up all that was held here for speculative purposes. Under the circumstances it is not surprising that the Louisville Railway shares are now being inquired for. They sell higher than the others, but the margin of safety is so great that many bankers say they look on them with as much confidence as bonds.

The buying of St. Louis street railway securities here has been on a heavy scale and the city must now be loaded with them, yet the demand for both bonds and stocks seems to be growing. Louisville has always had great faith in the St. Louis Transit Company on account of the possibilities of the Exposition and the rapid growth of St. Louis. Another reason is that the home securities have been so well absorbed hardly any are available for trading. Louisville Railway shares used to be very active, but they are now locked up in strong boxes, which to some extent accounts for the favor shown the St. Louis shares.

Nothing has been heard of the New Orleans City Railway deal for some time, but the road is making a fine showing in the way of earnings. The comparative statement for the October gross earnings is as follows:

	1899.	1900.	1901.

For the first six days of November the gain over the same period of last year has been $4,645.

The L. and N. report of earnings for the first week of November is as good as usual. The total was $617,345, against $549,600 for the corresponding week of last year, a gain of $67,745. Since July the road has earned $10,586,972, against $9,562,710, a gain of $1,024,262. Other reports of earnings were as follows:

Texas Pacific, first week of November, increase $294.

Chicago Great Western, first week of November, increase $27,800.

St. Louis and San Francisco, for September, surplus increase $395,000.

St. Paul, first week of November, increase $76,000.

Baltimore and Ohio system, including Baltimore and Ohio, gross increase for October, $337,000.

The market was irregular all day, but liquidation was evident at higher figures, which was effective throughout the list. A slight flurry in money to 5 per cent. and the belief that Northern Pacific terms of settlement would be out to-morrow were the explaining reasons for the weakness. It is a natural reaction from the bull market of last week.

New York.—Some good buying of Erie first preferred in anticipation of an advance in dividend rate in January from 3 to 4 per cent. —(Almstedt Bros.

The stock market opened irregular, with marked strength in Amalgamated Copper, but renewed profit-taking, particularly in Union Pacific, was noticeable. The strength of the tractions was the feature of the market and the usual rumors of consolidation plans helped by shorts covering were in evidence. Industrials were fairly well distributed. The Steels were steady. Car Foundry was firm on good reports of business. The market, while showing considerable strength in spots, showed weakness now and then.—(Hunt & Hutchings.

The market was stopped in its advance by the same interests that have been putting it up on account of the money market and too much company. Late in the day the bears raided, causing some sharp declines. We think it is only a temporary reaction and would buy them on these recessions.—(John W. & D. S. Green.

The persistent liquidation which has been going on in St. Paul and Union Pacific, coupled with the absence of any news of a definite bullish character, resulted in a reactionary tendency in to-day's market. At times considerable strength was displayed, more especially in the local tractions and the anthracite coalers, but as commission business fell off and the operations of the pools seemed mostly on the selling side the professional element espoused the short side of the market. During the first half of the session there was a rumor that an announcement in regard to the Northern Pacific settlement would be made to-day and this temporarily brought about an upward movement in St. Paul and Union Pacific. The advance, however, was not maintained, a reaction following in consequence of increased liquidation. During the afternoon session the tendency to liquidate became more pronounced and Keene brokers seemed to have orders to establish much lower prices, if possible. Call money remained steady at about 4 per cent. and so far no engagements to ship gold this week have been made.—(S. C. Henning.

New York.—In view of the fact that the volume of trading to-day was considerably less than yesterday, and large profit-taking was in evidence nearly the entire session, the market as a whole stood the test remarkably well. The feature in the advance of the day was decidedly the traction stocks. Metropolitan and Brooklyn Rapid Transit advanced sharply on what was considered excellent buying. The shorts no doubt contributed somewhat to the rise in these stocks, but there was also considerable investment buying. Notwithstanding report, the railroads which might have been expected to suffer from the decreased corn yield were not affected at all. This certainly goes to prove that confidence in the earning power of American railways still remains unabated, and it is generally believed by investors and speculators alike that the general traffic movement of merchandise which these roads will continue to enjoy will offset any loss that may accrue from damage to corn. The various railroad systems of the country reporting their earnings for the first week in November and for the month of October continue to show enormous increases and estimates, which undoubtedly accounts for strong undertone to the general securities market. Demand sterling is very near the gold exporting point to London, and there existed to-day some slight apprehension that export of gold to Paris would go on Thursday's steamer. If any gold should be shipped we do not think it would be a very large amount. As to gold shipments, however, under any circumstances there is no need for alarm, and so far as monetary conditions are concerned we do not look for any materially higher rates for the present, and there is nothing in sight to create any disturbance of v[illegible] prosperous condition of the country, [illegible] especially of railroads, is sufficient to warrant the belief that stocks are going still higher. Market closed heavy on an advance in call money to 4½ per cent.—(W. L. Lyons & Co.

It was exactly six months ago that the stock market reached the top point, just before the collapse of the Northern Pacific corner, while in the corresponding week last year there occurred a sharp rise and great activity. In the national election of 1900 there was reason for higher prices, but this year the victory for honest government chiefly concerned municipal affairs. The gain of $5 a share in city gas and traction stocks was thus easily explained, but the rise of $1.60 in the average of the sixty most active railway stocks was due to other causes, of which the persistently satisfactory statements of earnings were most conspicuous. For some time it has been obvious that intrinsic values have been above market quotations, and the failure of money markets to harden in the face of interior demands for crop moving and foreign engagements of gold finally developed confidence among the public. It has been a remarkably stubborn market, notwithstanding the numerous adverse occurrences beginning six months ago, and as the horizon becomes clearer there is a natural tendency upward. Instead of the railways suffering from the short corn crop, the demand for cars exceeds the supply, and all other untoward influences prove equally impotent.—(New York Tribune.

Considerable interest attaches to a circular on copper issued by James Lewis & Sons, of Liverpool. It says in part:

"Copper is in a very exceptional position. While Europe is being reduced to a state ranging almost to 'famine,' large stocks, chiefly of unrefined copper, are believed to be held by the Amalgamated Copper Company in the United States, although it is reported to have sold 15,000 tons recently to home consumers, who are stated to be bare of stocks. For export the Amalgamated Company shows no willingness to accept any reduction in the prices it has maintained for a long time, and if they continue equally firm there is little doubt that European consumers will ere long be obliged to pay these prices, as supplies from other sources are not sufficient for their requirements, and they practically hold no stocks. Frequent reports are current that the Amalgamated Company proposes to cut prices at an early date, though this is denied by the officials of the company. Why they should do so is difficult to understand, as a fall in values would not increase consumption, and they would be the chief sufferers by such a fall. On the other hand, a reduction of 5 to 10 per cent. in their production soon would bring it down to the level of consumption, especially if the example were followed by the larger European producers.

The Detroit United Railway Company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1 per cent., payable December 2. Books close November 30 and reopen December 3.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

New York Stock Exchange.

New York, Nov. 12.—Money on call firm at 3¾@5 per cent.; last loan at 4½; ruling rate 4; prime mercantile paper 4½@5. Sterling exchange firm, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.87¾ for demand and at $4.84½ for 60 days; posted rates $4.84½@4.85 and $4.88; commercial bills $4.83¼@4.83¾. Bar silver 57⅛c. Mexican dollars 45⅛c. Government bonds steady. State bonds inactive. Railroad bonds irregular.

There was rather less buying demand and rather more irregularity in the stock market from the outset to-day. The hesitation in the advance grew and turned to sharp reactions in the late dealings. Selling to take profits was joined to extensive short sales put out by the bear party on the argument that the rise in prices, after enduring for so great a length of time, must have made the market vulnerable to attack, but there still were persistent points of strength in the market, and although the extreme advances in the strong stocks were notably curtailed many of them have considerable net gains to show for to-day. The local tractions were conspicuous. Examples: In Metropolitan the advance reached 3⅞ at one time and in Brooklyn Transit 2⅜, while the net gains are 2¼ for Metropolitan Street Railway and 1⅜ for Brooklyn. The anthracite and soft coal carriers selling below par also showed continued strength, as did the iron and steel industrials. The disposition to take attractive profits after the considerable advance in price which has occurred was emphasized by the expectation that several millions of gold will go out this week on Thursday to Paris and on Saturday probably to London, as the rate of sterling exchange to-day advanced to a point which makes gold exports to London direct profitable. The strength of sterling here was in spite of easier money rates both in London and in Berlin and a relaxation of the continental pressure upon London for gold. The necessity of a large movement of gold from New York at this time of the year calls renewed attention to the extent of the American borrowings in Europe early in the year, with the expectation that our foreign trade balance would continue so favorable that these loans could be repaid at a profit out of the abundance of the foreign exchange bills in New York. The fact that this expectation has not been realized and that exchange bills are scarce, owing to the falling off in our export trade, arouses some natural surmise whether the high prices of stocks reached earlier in the year did not also represent undue expectations. It is to be recollected that the projects which stimulate our stock inflation, and even to some extent the actual manipulation of the market, were furthered by the resources of these foreign borrowings. In the present movement more than one stock has reached a record price and all stocks are undeniably high priced. On the other hand, the extraordinary railroad earnings and trade activity are natural incentives to speculation. To-day's returns of gross earnings for the first week in November show such increases over last year as 51 per cent. for Rio Grande Western, 22 per cent. for Chicago Great Western, 31 per cent. for Canadian Pacific, 17 per cent. for Wabash, 15 per cent. for Chicago and Eastern Illinois and 9 per cent. for St. Paul. The Government estimate on the corn crop, although it offered no very unexpected information, renewed the depressing influence of the heavy shortage in the crop, and the corn-carrying railroads in the West and Southwest were therefore most acutely affected by the profit-taking. The cut in the price of sugar especially affected that stock. The market closed weak.

There was another large day's business in bonds, but the price movement was irregular. Total sales, par values, $5,290,000. U. S. bonds were all unchanged on the last call.

A London cablegram says: "The stock market to-day was quiet. American shares pausing for the consummation of the Northern Pacific deal. They hung around parity and closed heavy on the dullness in New York, but finally rallied on the curb, the features being Erie preferred and Canadian stocks. New York bought the latter freely on the fine traffic returns. Paris strongly supported Rio Tintos, but the reported selling by Senator Clark on the rise and rumors of anti-trust legislation by President Roosevelt checked the advance. Gold to the amount of £50,000 has gone out to Denmark, £50,000 to South America and £20,000 to Malta. The sum of £17,000 has been engaged in Australia. The price of bars is 77s 10⅝d. Money is scarce and the bank is reported as a borrower on consols."

London, Nov. 12.—Money was in good demand to-day, owing to the preparations for the settlement and as a result of the Treasury bills allotment. The firmness of continental exchanges weakened discounts. Prices on the Stock Exchange were irregular and business was inactive. Gilt-edged securities opened lower and afterward improved. Home rails were lower. Americans opened firm, following New York, but later irregularity developed. The feature was the rise in Union Pacifics. The close was steady. Grand Trunks were weak. Kaffirs had a hardening tendency on a rumor that the Boers are in favor of surrender, regardless of their leaders. There was little increase in buying. Paris, Nov. 12.—Prices on the Bourse to-day opened steady, but there were few transactions. The close was firm. Argentines were eagerly demanded and finished with a sharp rise. Italians and Brazilians were firm. Tramways and Thomson-Houston declined, but recovered largely at the close. Russian industrials were irregular. Rio Tintos were firm in response to New York. Kaffirs advanced on peace rumors, but later became calm. The private rate of discount is unchanged at 2 15-16 per cent. Three per cent. rentes 100f 80c for the account.

Berlin, Nov. 12.—Business on the Boerse was quiet and prices were quiet on account of the absence of stimulus. Northern Pacifics were firmer on New York advices. Canadian Pacifics were dull. Argentines were substantially higher on London advices. Locals were heavy.

LEAF TOBACCO.

Tuesday Evening, Nov. 12.—All the offerings were of dark tobacco to-day and they were small. Rice & Turner sold a hogshead of 28-inch new leaf at $7.40, which was regarded as a good price, and their other sales were satisfactory. Others reported the market easier.

The offerings were 83 hogsheads of dark tobacco, of which 34 were original inspections and 49 reviews. First sale to-morrow at the Kentucky Warehouse.

Cincinnati Market.

Cincinnati, Nov. 12.—(Special.)—The leaf tobacco market was almost devoid of colory grades to-day, the greater portion of the break embracing low and inferior red sorts. Offerings amounted to 106 hhds for the day, two warehouses not selling. A strong market ruled, however, common red goods being a shade higher. The few packages of color sold very well under spirited competition, fair medium smokers selling up to $10.25. Prominent shippers in the market to-day stated that the new crop is curing very brownish and that the little color in it will be poor in quality. Prices on the 106 hhds ranged as follows: 10 scraps at $1.55 to 3.95; 15 at $4.95 to 5.90; 36 at $6 to 7.95; 33 at $8 to 9.95; 11 at $10.25 to 11.50; 1 at $12. Estimated offerings for Wednesday 500 hhds.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

(Reported by Gaines, Thomas & Co., Live Stock Commission Merchants, Central Stock Yards.)

Louisville, Nov. 12.—Cattle—Receipts light; Tuesday, as is usually the custom, is a quiet day in this market. The supply of cattle numbered 38 head and 13 calves. The market ruled active and all sold early, steady prices prevailing. The demand for butchers, feeders and stockers of good quality rules firm, while the common grades rule easy at firm prices. We look for good market remainder of the week.

GENERAL MARKETS.

Chicago 'Change.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Heavy liquidation in a market depressingly heavy with bearish influences brought a general slump in grains to-day, December wheat closing 1⅛@1¼c lower, December corn 1½@1⅝c down and December oats ¼@⅜c depressed. Provisions closed 2½@5c down.

In the absence of any definite support the trade of the wheat pit resolved itself into a steady decline. Both Liverpool and Paris cables were lower and this started the trade with a decline of ¼@⅜c to ⅜@½c for December at 72⅝@72½c. News from Argentina told of too heavy rains and on short covering and a light commission-house demand early the indications were that the business would have an upward trend. Almost immediately, however, a stream of wheat began coming out and prices sagged rapidly. Primary receipts were more than double those of the same day a year ago. Clearances were small and Bradstreet's reported the world's visible increase at 3,000,000 bushels. Chicago stocks were considerably increased and the stream from the Northwest was unabated. Then the commission houses stopped buying and turned sellers and the only support came from the pit itself. A quantity was absorbed to stop the decline, but this came out again later and December sold down to 71⅝c, closing weak and 1⅛@1¼c lower at 71⅝c. Local receipts were 180 cars—26 of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 1,050 cars, making a total for the three points of 1,230, against 1,131 last week and only 705 a year ago. Primary receipts were 1,444,000 bushels, compared with 707,000 last year. Seaboard clearances in wheat and flour equaled 457,000 bushels. The seaboard reported 30 loads taken for export.

Corn was heavy, the influence of the Government report on the crop condition being blamed for much of the weakness. This report, which showed a condition of 16.4 bushels to the acre (over 82,000,000 bushels had been expected), was no more bearish in itself than had been forecasted. This influence, however, with weaker cables, brought a decline for December of ⅛@¼c at the opening. There was a moderate early support, both local and by commission houses, and prices advanced ⅛c. Trade was dull and on an attempt to unload several long lines prices sagged. The decline in wheat added another straw to weaken the market and December closed at its bottom price weak and 1¼@1⅜c lower at 58½@58⅝c. Receipts were 150 cars.

Oats showed considerable independence of other grains, though the heavy liquidation had some influence. Trade was good, the cash situation was strong and there was some professional buying. December opened ⅛@¼c lower on fair offerings, reacted slightly on demand, but gradually weakened to 38⅝c on the pressure in the other pits. Covering brought back the loss, but at the close December was easy and ¼@⅜c lower at 38⅞c. Receipts were 239 cars.

Provisions were dull and ruled easier. There was a heavy run of hogs, with lower prices, but this influence was modified by their light weight. There was a small local demand both by packers and shorts. January pork closed 5c down at $14.95, January lard 2½@5c lower at $8.55@8.57½ and January ribs 2½c down at $7.67½@7.70.

Estimated receipts for to-morrow: Wheat 70 cars; corn 65; oats 135; hogs 38,000 head.

POPLAR MOUNTAIN OIL AND GAS CO.

The attractiveness of an investment depends upon the security and chances of profit it offers. An investment that can offer security, and, at the same time, an opportunity for unusually large profits, must certainly form a very attractive combination. Such would be an investment in the shares of the Poplar Mountain Oil and Gas Company. The management of the affairs of this company being in the hands of Cincinnati and Louisville capital, it is doubtful whether anything has been offered to the public for subscription which gives so much promise from so small an outlay.

"A Bull Campaign" Has Again Been Started.

We believe the greatest rise in stocks since May 9 will be made between now and Christmas. Don't delay, but make your purchase immediately.

The money question is now safe beyond peradventure. Atchison will earn nearly $3,000,000 more than for its preceding year. October will prove to be the greatest month for gross and net earnings ever recorded by the American roads; the Northern Pacific settlement guarantees absolute maintenance of rates; will place over $12,000,000 additional assets in the Union Pacific treasury. The coming three months will witness a closer affiliation among the various American roads than conceived of heretofore. The bull cliques, anticipatory of coming events, are heavily long of stocks.

TO BUY STOCKS NOW IS TO PARTICIPATE IN LARGE PROFIT MAKING UPON THE MONEY INVESTED; TO BUY THEM LATER IS TO SECURE THEM AT MUCH HIGHER PRICES AND CONTRIBUTE TO THE PROFITS OF PRESENT PURCHASERS. THE MARKET IS QUICKENING AND BROADENING.

Gigantic speculative activity is ahead. We will buy and carry for you 20 shares of any of the standard speculatives upon a marginal deposit of $100; larger amounts in proportion.

Write or call at any of our offices for a complimentary copy of our 600-page cloth-bound illustrated "GUIDE TO INVESTOR" and daily market letters. If you will write us we will be pleased to enumerate the stocks we consider the best purchases at the present time. Orders solicited for stocks, bonds, grain and cotton.

OFFICE FORCE

MAY REMAIN INTACT AFTER CAPT. SIBERT LEAVES.

One of Assistant Engineers Will Doubtless Be Placed In Charge—A Bit of Hero-Making.

Capt. William L. Sibert, in charge of the United States Engineer's office here until he is relieved by Major Ernest H. Ruffner, of Cincinnati, has not been notified yet when the formal transfer will be satisfactory to the Queen City official. He is hopeful that, inasmuch as the local station is announced to be under the jurisdiction of Cincinnati only temporarily, the office force will be continued in its present personnel, which is as follows:

Chief Clerk—James F. Nutty.
Clerks—James N. Martin and W. R. Shaw.
Draughtsman—Oscar Shanks.
Copyist—Mrs. M. L. Overall.
Messenger—Patrick Hanley.

It is expected that one of the two assistant engineers, Granville W. Shaw and John L. Casey, will be put in charge of the office to report to Major Ruffner. This will be the first time since 1886 that Louisville has been without a United States Engineer. The original head of the station was Col. Merrill, who, for many years prior, had been at Cincinnati. Col. Stickney served from 1886 to 1890; Capt. Maguire in 1891; Col. Lydecker from 1891 to 1893; Lieut. Chittenden six months in 1893; Col. Hanbery from December, 1893 to March, 1894; Capt. Warren, 1894 to 1898; Capt. Zinn, 1898 to 1899; Capt. Sibert since 1899.

During Capt. Sibert's tenure of office the work on the other side of the river in front of Louisville has been completed. He leaves the station with the work rather light. This, of course, is due to the completion of the work referred to and the absence of any river and harbor bill. Capt. Sibert will not take his family—wife and six children, five sons and a daughter—to Pittsburg until he has found a suitable home.

The Pittsburg papers have gotten hold of Capt. Sibert's very creditable war record in the Philippines and are "playing him up" in big head lines and long columns of matter. One of the journals has written him for a picture and a friend has suggested that in view of the startling information revealed in the articles it would be well for the Captain to pose with an old-fashioned sabre in one hand, a bolo in the other and a pistol between his teeth.

CREDENTIALS TO DELEGATES TO U. D. C. CONVENTION.

Reports Show That Big Euchre Cleared $115 For the A. S. Johnston Chapter.

A business and social meeting of the Albert Sidney Johnston Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Judith Marshall and Mrs. Charlotte Helm, of 430 West St. Catherine street. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Basil Duke, and the secretary, Mrs. Andrew Broaddus, Mrs. Norborne Gray presided and Mrs. W. E. Grant kept the minutes.

A report of the large euchre which the daughters gave at Music Hall was made and about $115 was cleared from the entertainment. It was shown that $135 was taken in.

Col. J. W. Bowles was present and asked the cooperation of the chapter towards their entertainment which the Sons of Veterans will give November 19 at Music Hall for the benefit of the old Confederates.

After the business was over refreshments were served the members and the meeting became an animated reception.

GRAND JURY INDICTMENTS.

Suits were entered yesterday by W. T. Newman, Jr., as receiver of the Scottish Security Company, against the following alleged stockholders to recover the amount stated to be due on the stock which it is said they subscribed for:

Julia Parker Couper, executrix of W. C. Couper, $2,000; John P. Starks, $2,000; D. S. Gutherie, $2,000; David H. Wilson, $2,000; Edward Corder, $2,000.

The petitions state that the company has been adjudged to be insolvent by the Fulton Superior Court of Georgia; that the debts far exceed the amount of capital stock subscribed, $10,000, and that there are practically no assets with which to pay the debts except the unpaid stock subscription. It is further stated that the Georgia court has directed the receiver to sue the stockholders to bring in assets so as to pay pro rata the company's debts.

Soon after the filing of these suits, Mitchell Thompson, a certificate holder in the company and who claims to have paid $240 on his certificates, entered suit for the appointment of an ancillary receiver in Jefferson county.

It is stated that the indebtedness is about $42,000 and assets not over $3,000. C. A. Mahn was appointed receiver in Ohio county, W. Va., but W. T. Newman, Jr., has been given the principal receivership by order of the West Virginia court.

Defers Argument In Stock Yards Case

The injunction suit of the Central Stock Yards Company against the L. and N. came up before Judge Miller yesterday on a motion for a permanent injunction, but argument was postponed until to-morrow.

The position now taken by the L. and N., it is said, is that the restraining order, recently issued by Judge Field, only related to the cars mentioned therein and the road consequently refuses to deliver any other cars to the Southern for delivery at the Central Stock Yards station—in a word, that there must be a court order for every car or lot of cars.

General Manager R. C. Watkins, of the Central Stock Yards Company, said yesterday:

"It seems that the Bourbon Stockyards people are attempting to convey the impression that only a limited amount of live stock business comes to Louisville, and that two yards cannot exist on this business. They do not take into consideration that Louisville should be one of the greatest live stock markets in the Southwest and is by geographical location entitled to third place in the live stock markets of the United States.

"The active soliciting of two large live stock yards would naturally bring about this state of affairs and I take it that both could do a flourishing business and a business which would be much more satisfactory and profitable to the present patrons as well as those who would come to Louisville in the future."

Wants Absolute Divorce.

Johann Schmid entered suit for divorce yesterday from Susana Schmid. He alleges that he came to Jefferson county January 8, 1885, from Mettschlatt, Canton Thurgau, Switzerland, where he married the defendant. They lived together for two months, when they separated and were divorced from bed and board. Schmid now seeks an absolute divorce.

—John Davis sued Cora Davis for divorce on the alleged ground of five years' continuous separation. They were married December 29, 1881.

Defendant's Wife Is Ill.

The cases of J. L. Wilson and A. Benjamin, charged respectively with stealing a lot of silk from J. M. Robinson, Norton & Co., and receiving them, knowing the same to be stolen, were continued yesterday for the third time in the Criminal division. They were set for trial on January 17. The grounds of the continuance were the sickness of Benjamin's wife and the crowded condition of the docket.

Grand Jury Indictments.

The grand jury presented the following indictments yesterday and adjourned until this morning at 10 o'clock:

Malicious Cutting—Rachael Thomas, charged with cutting Rosa Johnson.

Malicious Shooting Without Wounding—Thomas Short, charged with shooting at Charles Catterson; Geneva Hill, charged with shooting at Major Mundy.

Court Paragraphs.

—Judge Miller granted a divorce to Charles Nolan from Annie Nolan.

—The will of Herman Jansen was probated and his widow, Helena Jansen, is the sole devisee and executrix.

—John B. Pirtle sued Fannie Field for $411, alleged to be due as rent for the property at 728 West Market street.

—Henry Steffey was given four years in the penitentiary on the charge of breaking into the house of J. K. Smith.

—The trial of John Gazzollo, charged with operating a game of craps on West Jefferson street, was continued until February 17.

—Eliza Jane Weyler entered suit against the Louisville Railway Company for $10,000 damages for injuries received in falling from a car at Fourth avenue and Broadway on August 28.

—Felix Mattingly was employed by Stratton & Terstegge in their machine shop at Fifteenth and Lytle streets. On March 29 his right arm was caught in the belt, crushing it and necessitating amputation. Yesterday Mattingly, by his father, David Mattingly, sued the firm for $25,000 damages.

—A verdict was returned in the Common Pleas division in favor of the L. and N. in the suit of Mary L. Hamm against the railroad for $5,000 damages for injuries received in leaving a train at St. Matthews. She claimed that the injuries were caused by the brakeman's calling the wrong station and the starting of the train before she alighted.

Court of Appeals Decisions.

Forcible Detainer—Appeal—Execution of Bond After Expiration of Three Days—Evidence.—Slaughter vs. Crouch.—(Not to be reported.) Filed November 7, 1901. Appeal from Owen Circuit Court. Opinion of the court by Judge Burnam, reversing.

First—Under Civil Code Practice, Sec. 463, providing that a party aggrieved by the finding of a jury in the trial of a forcible detainer may file a traverse thereof and execute bond with sufficient security to be approved by the Judge or Justice before whom the case was tried within three days next after the finding of the jury, where the only surety who signed the bond within five days did so upon a condition consented to by the County Judge which was never complied with, and the sureties who signed after that time did so without any application having been made to the Circuit Judge to permit additional signatures, there was no valid bond and a motion to dismiss the appeal should have been granted.

Second—As the only issue was whether the relation of landlord and tenant existed the testimony should have been limited to that point, the question of title being immaterial.

Lindsay & Potts, J. L. W. Slaughter for appellants; J. W. Cammack, Gaunt & Greene for appellees.

Carriers—Long and Short Haul—Recommendation of Railroad Commission Essential to Indictment—Constitutional Law—Due Process of Law.—Illinois Central Railroad Company vs. Commonwealth.—(To be reported.) Filed October 25, 1901. Appeal from Hardin Circuit Court. Opinion of the court by Judge Hobson, reversing, Chief Justice Paynter and Judges Guffy and White dissenting.

First—Under Ky. St., Sec. 820, providing for the punishment of any common carrier who shall charge more for transporting passengers or property for a shorter than for a longer distance and providing that upon complaint made to the railroad commission that any carrier has violated the statute it shall be the duty of the commission to investigate the charge and if the commission deems it proper to exonerate the carrier an order to that effect shall be made, but if the commission fails to exonerate the carrier from the operation of the statute an order to that effect shall be made, and it shall be the duty of the commission to furnish a statement of the facts with a copy of its order to the grand jury "in order that" the carrier may be indicted—no indictment can be returned by the grand jury for a violation of the statute until the railroad commission has refused to exonerate the carrier.

Second—The statute as thus construed does not violate Const., Sec. 218, prohibiting any common carrier from charging more for transporting passengers or property for a shorter than for a longer distance and providing that the railroad commission may prescribe the extent to which a common carrier may be relieved from the operation of the section, as the question as to what penalty shall be imposed and when is left absolutely to the discretion of the Legislature.

Third—As the question when or under what circumstances it would be right for a carrier to charge more for a shorter than for a longer haul was not at common law of judicial cognizance the State has the right in the exercise of its police power to commit the decision of that question to the railroad commission, the constitutional right of due process of law not extending to matters which at common law were not of judicial cognizance.

Pirtle & Trabue, W. H. Marriott, J. M. Dixon for appellant; R. J. Breckinridge, L. A. Faurest, W. S. Chelf for appellee.

Carriers—Pleading—Evidence — Instructions to Jury—Excessive Verdict.—Louisville, Henderson and St. Louis Railroad Company vs. Bowlds.—(Not to be reported.) Filed November 8, 1901. Appeal from Daviess Circuit Court. Opinion of the court by Judge White, affirming.

First—Where plaintiff alleged in her petition that defendant "by the gross negligence and carelessness of its officers and agents in charge of the train on which plaintiff was a passenger" inflicted serious injuries upon her, and then stated the facts as to how the injury occurred, it appearing that plaintiff was standing in the aisle, when the train suddenly stopped at her station, causing her to be thrown to the floor, evidence that the brakeman when he announced the station directed plaintiff to follow him, whereby she was induced to leave her seat, was admissible.

Second—Though the term "contributory negligence" was not used in the instructions, that defense was fully presented by an instruction telling the jury that plaintiff could not recover if she was guilty of negligence.

Third—A conversation plaintiff had with the conductor on entering the car was competent to show that defendant's servants knew of plaintiff's crippled condition.

Fourth—A verdict of $2,500 for an injury rendering plaintiff a permanent cripple was not excessive.

Wathen & Morrison, Helm, Bruce & Helm for appellant; Sweeney, Ellis & Sweeney, Ellis & Slack for appellee.

Vendor and Purchaser—Breach of Warranty—Taking of Part of Land for Street—Measure of Damages.—James vs. Louisville Public Warehouse Company.—(Not to be reported.) Filed November 7, 1901. Appeal from Jefferson Circuit Court, Common Pleas division. Opinion of the court by Judge O'Rear, reversing.

First—For breach of warranty of title to a city lot on account of the taking by the city of a part of the lot to widen a street under a right thereto acquired prior to the purchase, the measure of damages is not merely the value of the strip taken, but the diminution in value of the entire lot by the taking and by the grading of the street in a reasonable manner, disregarding all enhancement in value by the widening of the street, and also damages resulting from the negligent manner of constructing the street.

Second—It was error to admit in evidence the judgment in a suit between plaintiff and the city, in which it was decided that the city must pay the cost of grading the street through plaintiff's lot.

William Furlong, John Roberts for appellant; Helm, Bruce & Helm for appellee.

Surveys—Liability of County Surveyor for Failing to Furnish Plot and Certificate—Manner of Pleading Judgment.—Potter vs. Lewis.—(Not to be reported.) Filed November 7, 1901. Appeal from Letcher Circuit Court. Opinion of the court by Judge Hobson, affirming.

First—Plaintiff is not entitled to recover damages of defendant as County Surveyor for failing to furnish him a plot and certificate of survey of land, there being neither an allegation that the order of the County Court authorizing him to enter and survey the land was duly made, nor an allegation of the jurisdictional fact that the land was vacant and unappropriated or that plaintiff paid the price fixed by the County Court.

Second—Under the Civil Code of Practice, in pleading a judgment, there must be either an allegation that the order was duly made or an allegation of the jurisdictional facts.

J. B. Fitzpatrick for appellant.

Husband and Wife—Secret Trust for Wife in Fraud of Creditors—Resulting Trust—Parties in Equal Fault.—O'Neal vs. Fenwick.—(Not to be reported.) Filed November 7, 1901. Appeal from Marion Circuit Court. Opinion of the court by Judge Hobson, reversing.

First—In a bankruptcy proceeding the father of the bankrupt was required to pay the assignee $1,100, being the amount received by him of the proceeds of land sold by the bankrupt in which the bankrupt's wife claimed an equity, and which amount the father had invested in other land for the benefit of his son's wife, taking the title to himself. By their answers filed in that proceeding the bankrupt and his wife alleged $1,100 to be the amount received by the father out of the proceeds of the land sold by the bankrupt, and asserted claim thereto for the wife, which was denied. After the death of the bankrupt and his wife, the wife's heir seeks to enforce against the father a trust in the land purchased by him, claiming that $2,310 of the proceeds of the land in which the wife claimed an equity had been invested by him therein. Held—That the answers filed by the bankrupt and his wife in the bankruptcy proceeding are the best evidence of the amount received by defendant from the proceeds of the bankrupt's land and invested by him in the land in controversy, and the court will not enforce a latent trust inconsistent therewith.

Second—As the wife had no enforceable equity in the land sold by the husband and the father invested the proceeds thereof in the land in controversy for the purpose of defeating the husband's creditors, taking the title in his own name with the acquiescence of the wife, the Chancellor will leave the parties where they placed themselves, especially as a different judgment would have been rendered in the bankruptcy proceeding if the facts as they are now alleged had then been disclosed.

H. P. Cooper for appellant; J. P. Thompson for appellee.

TO CONSIDER A PERMANENT LIVE STOCK SHOW.

Meeting Called By Live Stock Breeders For November 20 In Louisville.

Mr. T. L. Hornsby, president of the Kentucky Live Stock Breeders' Association, issued a call yesterday for a special meeting of the association to be held on November 20, at 514 Third avenue, to discuss the question of holding another live stock show and sale in Louisville next year; also the matter of State legislation in the interest of a permanent State fair. Every stockholder is earnestly requested to be present and bring as many breeders as possible, and thus aid in promoting the interests of the association, which has for its object the advancement of live stock breeding in the State.

The show and sale of live stock at the recent Interstate Fair demonstrated the value and usefulness of the Kentucky Live Stock Breeders' Association. Breeders say that for quality and quantity there has never been such a collection south of the Ohio river, and few better anywhere in the United States. When it is remembered the difficulties under which the first show and sale were held, their success was remarkable.

The railroads have made a special rate of one and a third fare for the round trip from all points in Kentucky.

GETS FIFTEEN YEARS

HUGH VITTITO FOR THE MURDER OF WALTER SHEPHERD.

Prisoner Said He Shot Because Shepherd Threatened His Life.

The trial of Hugh Vittito for the killing of Walter Shepherd July 31 in a shanty near the sawmill of Livers & Evans, Pleasure Ridge Park, resulted in the jury giving a verdict of fifteen years in the penitentiary.

The jury consisted of J. M. Smith, John F. Baker, C. L. Hoke, S. Napier, F. P. Baron, Jr., D. F. Reidhar, Charles Ireland, F. P. Briscoe, F. B. Smith, W. H. Ragland, Charles E. Currie and Thomas Crutcher.

Vittito and Shepherd were, respectively, seventeen and twenty years of age, and employed at Livers & Evans' sawmill. The afternoon before the killing they had some trouble and Vittito testified that Shepherd had beaten him. The following morning about 5:30 o'clock Vittito went into a shanty near the mill.

Charles Quick and William Ormes were in the shanty and testified that Shepherd was sitting on a chest in the middle of the room and that Shepherd said to Vittito:

"The negroes are going to have you arrested for shooting at them."

They said that Vittito then cursed Shepherd and without warning struck him over the head with a loaded stick. Shepherd jumped up and before he could reach Vittito the latter struck him again, but Shepherd warded off the blow.

Shepherd finally got hold of Vittito and taking the stick from him, threw it to one side.

Quick and Ormes said that then Vittito fired a shot and that they ran out of the room.

Henry Saffrons, who has a tavern near the mill; Charles Paine and George Wigginton testified that on the night before the killing they heard Vittito threaten to kill Shepherd. An affidavit was admitted for the defense as the equivalent of John White's deposition, that he heard Vittito say on that occasion that he would kill Shepherd "if he did me so again," referring to the alleged difficulty in the afternoon.

Vittito's account of the killing differed materially from the statements of Quick and Ormes in that he said that he did not strike Shepherd until the latter advanced threateningly on him and did not shoot until Shepherd had him down on the floor and was beating him.

Mr. Charles Carroll, of Henry county, assisted Commonwealth's Attorney S. S. Blitz in the prosecuting.

In the cross-examination of Saffron, Mr. Turner Wilson, who, with Mr. J. P. Edwards, defended Vittito, was fined $5 for reflecting on the witness' character.

Vittito took the stand in his own behalf. His first essential point was the difficulty of the afternoon before the killing. His testimony was that Shepherd had beaten and kicked him. He stated that he had said that he would kill Shepherd "if he did me so again."

And Mr. Blitz made a strong point out of the defense's failure to include in White's affidavit anything as to the actual difficulty, although he, with Quick and Ormes, were the only eyewitnesses.

Coroner McCullough testified that Shepherd was shot four times—once in the abdomen.

LOUISVILLE DID HER PART NOBLY.

Sent More People To Pan-American Exposition Than Any Other Southern City.

Louisville is awarded the honor among the Southern cities of having sent the largest number of people to the Buffalo Exposition.

Passenger statistics have been compiled by the Big Four railway which show that this city led St. Louis, New Orleans, Memphis, Atlanta, Nashville, Birmingham and Mobile in the number of passengers by about 70 per cent. The total number of people from this city who visited the Buffalo Exposition has not been made known, but Mr. S. J. Gates, of the passenger department here, was notified yesterday of the excellent showing made by Louisville.

Of this business, both from Louisville and the South, the Big Four secured 70 per cent., and 80 per cent. from Southern competitive points. This excellent showing is a compliment to Mr. Gates, who has charge of this and the Southern territory, which he handled alone.

Get Married and Go To Housekeeping.

That's our advice, and it's good advice. A man isn't worth killing until he has a wife and a home. And it doesn't have to be an elaborately appointed house on Third avenue, either. Start housekeeping in proportion to your means. Be sensible and practical about it.

Young couples can get their first lesson in economy by buying their outfits at this store. We know exactly what we are talking about. We know our prices cannot be matched in this city. This may sound like boasting, but that does not alter the facts in the case. We are ready to justify everything we say if you will come and look at the goods. We court the fullest comparison of prices and qualities. Comparisons are particularly healthy for this store.

If you don't have confidence in your own judgment we will help you to decide what to buy. What we know about Carpets, Rugs, Curtains, etc., as the result of 25 years' experience, is at your service without cost.
